Mayor Kelly Takes Action in 'Bat Slaying'

FEUD OVER U. S. TAXES ON FOOD SPLITS CAPITAL

Morgenthau Assails Experts' Plan.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A feud broke out today between congress and the treasury over proposed federal taxes on coffee, tea, cocoa, and sugar. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. denounced as "a tax on the poor man's table" the foodstuff levies suggested last week by experts for the house ways and means committee.

The congressional experts retorted that taxes of 5 cents a pound on coffee and cocoa, 10 cents a pound on tea, and 1 cent a pound on sugar, along with additional excise levies, would be less severe on the low income group than the treasury's program for new surtaxes which would divert to the federal treasury 16½ per cent of wages beginning at $2,000 a year.

3½ Billions More Is Goal.

The objective of both groups is to raise approximately 3½ billion dollars in new taxes to increase the annual national revenue to 13 billions a year. This would pay approximately two-thirds of the stupendous costs of the arms program and aid to Britain, with the other one-third to be raised by borrowing.

Morgenthau told his press conference that enactment of the foodstuff taxes as proposed by Colin F. Stam, chief of staff of tax experts on the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, would be the last thing he would do in raising money for the armaments program.

"It goes against everything this administration has stood for," Morgenthau asserted. Refusing to say that he spoke officially for President Roosevelt, the treasury secretary said he believed that he represented administration sentiment 99 per cent.

Lowered Exemptions Urged.

The ways and means committee meanwhile heard proposals for the most drastic income tax program yet conceived to make the low wage earner tax conscious. Two witnesses urged lowering of income tax exemptions to the point where the single man receiving only $10 a week and the married man receiving only $20 a week would be among those assessed for the cost of the arms program.

Decreases in the present exemptions of $2,000 for the married man and $800 for the single man were urged before the committee.

M. L. Seidman, chairman of the taxation committee of the New York Board of Trade, proposed an exemption of only $500 for single persons and $1,000 for married persons. He also recommended slashing the present exemption of $400 for each dependent to $250.

Proposes 8¼ Per Cent Levy.

Application of Seidman's proposal would create a new group of income taxpayers receiving between $500 and $2,000 a year. He proposed a levy of 8¼ per cent on their incomes, which is half the rate of 16½ per cent recommended by the treasury to start on incomes over $2,000. He estimated that 25 billions of wages could be reached in this manner and approximately 2 billions in new taxes could be raised.

W. J. Schieffelin Jr., representing the New York Chamber of Commerce, also recommended decreased exemptions, declaring: "make every one openly pay his share."

Under the Seidman plan, the office boy or messenger receiving $10 a week would pay a small income tax. The wage earner struggling to support a wife on $20 a week also would pay several dollars.

Salary.	Tax.	Salary.	Tax.
$520	$ 1.65	$1,040	$ 3.30
600	8.25	1,200	16.50
700	1[illegible].50	1,500	[illegible]1.25
800	24.75	2,000	82.50

By virtue of the present exemptions wage earners in the above groups are now exempt from income taxes.

SHUTS CLEANING PLANT; STRIKES AT HUMPHREYS

Spurs War Against Racket Plot.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Mayor Kelly last night closed the Klever-Shampay cleaning plant, operated by Murray Humphreys, an ex-convict said by police to be the chief aid to Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti in ruling the old Capone gang. The mayor acted upon a written request by State's Attorney Courtney and an opinion by the city health department.

Murray Humphreys.

The plant, which employs 150 workers, is valued at $250,000 and is at 4631-41 Cottage Grove avenue. Courtney said the plant has an income of $600,000 a year. He charged that it was headquarters for the Nitti gang's attempt to racketeer the city's cleaning and dyeing industry.

Bat Slaying Spurs Move.

The decision to close the big plant came as the challenge of the mayor and the prosecutor to the bat murderers who slew Anton Gorczak, a driver for a cleaning establishment which was a business rival of the Humphreys concern.

Gorczak was the third victim of bat slayers in a recent campaign of terrorism.

Gorczak, a union driver picking up garments, was beaten to death Wednesday in a tailor shop at 1745 West 63d street by goons who struck him a dozen times on the head and back with bats, not stopping until they had crushed his skull. He was employed by the Republic Cleaners, a Cicero concern which had launched a campaign to take customers from the Humphreys company.

Police Action Ordered.

The other bat victims were Marinus Hvid, a garage owner who had difficulties with a garage owners' association and a union, and Lloyd Rourke, a truck owner who had interfered with unionization plans of a gangster dominated labor council.

"Carry the war to the gangsters," Police Commissioner Allman ordered his six supervising captains at a meeting in his office yesterday. "Don't let the Nitti-Humphreys-Stanton gangsters make another nickel in this city."

A few minutes later Mayor Kelly and Courtney met. The plan of action against Humphreys was agreed upon. City police took charge of that campaign. Courtney said he would take

BUSINESS LEADERS DEMAND OUSTER OF SECRETARY PERKINS

Washington, D. C., April 28 [Special].—Delegates to the 29th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States roared approval today when a speaker demanded that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins be forced to resign. The convention rose in a body and cheered a statement by Roy C. Ingersoll, president of the Ingersoll Steel and Disc division of the Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, that Madame Perkins should leave the cabinet.

"We are wondering," Ingersoll said, "how long it will be until public opinion becomes so aroused that it will demand the resignation of a secretary of labor who condones sitdown strikes; who has prevented deportation of alien Harry Bridges, who thru his activities has cost hundreds of millions of dollars to our shipping and west coast business; who has refused to assign cases to the national defense mediation board when such action might have saved millions of man hours when each hour means so much."

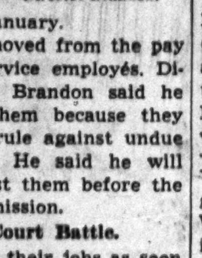
Oust 100 State Aids; Political Acts Charged

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28. — One hundred employés of the department of public welfare—most of them downstate Democratic precinct captains serving as prison guards—were suspended today in the largest day's severance since Gov. Dwight Green and his Republican administration took office last January.



Director Brandon.

All of those removed from the pay roll were civil service employés. Director Rodney H. Brandon said he was suspending them because they had violated the rule against undue political activity. He said he will file charges against them before the Civil Service commission.

Threatens Court Battle.

Several resigned their jobs as soon as they were notified of their suspensions, Brandon added, and others are expected to do so before the commission gets around to considering their cases.

An exception was Hayden Walker, who has been business manager of the Jacksonville State hospital. Walker, for many years a power in Morgan county Democratic politics, told Brandon he would fight the charges—to the Supreme court, if necessary.

Sixty-three of the suspended persons were prison guards. The other 37 held various positions in the welfare department.

Active in 1940 Campaign.

"Many of the men are Democratic precinct committeemen at the present time," Brandon said. "We have found their names in the official list of committeemen. Others on the list occupy other official positions in Democratic organizations and have been active politically as recently as the 1940 fall election. We expect that very few of these cases will get to trial before the Civil Service commission."

Repeated instances of political activity by state employés have been uncovered by the legislative committee investigating civil service. This group will hold another session on Wednesday. It must report its findings and any recommendations for changes in the law by May 15.

A number of important bills are on the legislative agenda for action this week, beginning tomorrow.

The Chicago park district's $10,500,000 pegged levy bill for 1941, 1942, and 1943 is on call before the house municipalities committee tomorrow. Robert J. Dunham, president of the district, arrived here late today to appear in its behalf. At about the same hour the McGrath handbook licensing bill for Chicago is scheduled to be considered by the committee on license and miscellany.

Tomorrow evening Chairman Hugh Luckey [R., Potomac] will call together his house apportionment committee to study reapportionment of the state's congressional districts, which would be increased from 25 to 26 under his bill. A vote on the measure may be taken.

FRANCE BEGINS TAKING CENSUS OF CHILDREN LOST IN WAR EXODUS

VICHY, France, April 28 (AP).—France began taking a tragic census today of the hundreds of children who were separated from their parents in the exodus which accompanied her defeat by Germany last June.

Many of these children do not even know their names.

Some are in central refugee homes, while others were picked up along the roads and adopted by foster parents, who must give them up if the real parents can be found.

For the younger children who never knew their names or cannot remember them, the census will be mainly photographic. The pictures will be circulated in an effort to bring families back together.

Refugees from Belgium and the Netherlands found some French children along the roads or cowering alone in basement shelters. Many of these families have returned to the Low Countries, taking the children with them.

Authorize Rail Fare Cuts for Army and Navy Men

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission authorized railroads today to carry members of the nation's armed forces at a rate of 1¼ cents a mile instead of the regular 2 cent rate. Beginning May 1 service men may take advantage of the rate.

Strike Ties Up Distribution of London's Meat

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—The ministry of labor took swift action tonight toward settling a strike that deprived the greater London area of meat supplies during the day. It ordered representatives of strikers and employers to meet tomorrow to seek a solution of the dispute.

Distribution of meat was brought to a standstill when thousands of porters attached to about 30 wholesale meat distributing centers walked out in what was said to be an unofficial strike.

Protest Loss of 61 Jobs.

The strikers stopped work as a protest against the dismissal of the manager and about 60 members of a staff depot recently closed as a result of an enemy bombardment.

The men contended that employers had agreed with the union that, if circumstances compelled the closing of any depot, "the staff was to be absorbed at other depots, regardless of the distance from their homes."

No Meat for Butchers.

A north London butcher said that butchers had been unable to obtain meat today.

Disappointment was the lot of housewives who stood in line before the shops of green grocers in the hope of getting a share of 26,000 cases of oranges recently arrived from Spain and allotted to London. Despite care that was taken to insure reasonable distribution among various London districts, supplies quickly disappeared and "there were not enough to go around."

An exhibit of 300 news photographs take by Chicago Tribune cameramen in the regular course of their duty went on exhibit yesterday in Blackstone hall of the Art institute. The exhibit, which will continue for there weeks, covers every field of news photography. More than 8,000 persons viewed the exhibit when it was on display at Tribune Tower four months ago. Since the first of the year it has been shown in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Manitowoc, Wis. The Art institute is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, and from noon to 5 p. m. on Sunday.

London Bares Roosevelt Plan for a 'Big Talk'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—"Inside Information," a column in the Daily Sketch today said that the "German foreign office is awaiting [President] Roosevelt's coming speech with anxiety."

"We are told it will be made about May 12," the column continued. "It virtually will be a declaration of war on Germany and Italy. It will, however, leave to Germany the onus of making the first warlike act against the United States.

Predicts Convoy System.

"The 'patrol' system which the United States is instituting will within a few days after Roosevelt's speech become a 'convoy' system. The patrols are only the thin end of the wedge."

The Daily Sketch column has been regarded as well informed and having close diplomatic connections.

A "Sensational Speech!"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A White House source tonight said that President Roosevelt plans to make a "very important" speech about the middle of May, but that the exact time and place has not been fixed. It will not be a White House fireside chat. The source intimated that the speech will be "something sensational."

Information concerning the President's plan had been withheld and was made public only after attention was called to the London dispatch to THE TRIBUNE [printed above.]

Mr. Roosevelt is scheduled to make two other talks. He will give a four minute talk Wednesday night on new war savings bonds. Next Sunday evening he will speak at Staunton, Va., birthplace of Woodrow Wilson. The White House source said that the speech "around the middle of May" will be much more important than the two earlier ones.

JOHN J. ROONEY, MUNICIPAL COURT DEAN, DIES AT 69

Judge John J. Rooney, dean of the Municipal court in length of service, and once its acting chief justice, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 4940 East End avenue. He had been off the bench since last October because of illness.

Judge J. J. Rooney.

Judge Rooney was 69 years old. He served 27 years in the city court. He was first elected in 1910. Defeated for reëlection in 1916, he ran again in 1918 and was returned to the bench. He was defeated for reëlection a second time in 1924, but was elected again in 1926, and reëlected in 1932 and 1938. He headed the Municipal court in 1918 and 1919.

He was born in Chicago and educated in the public schools and Northwestern university law school. He was admitted to the bar in 1894.

During his long tenure Judge Rooney sat in every branch of the Municipal court, including new branches opened in later years.

The judge leaves his widow, the former Miss Mary Marlow. There are no children. Funeral services, to be announced today, will be held at St. Ambrose Catholic church. The body will be in the chapel at 1222 East 47th street.

KEYNES, BRITISH ECONOMIST, WILL PAY U. S. A VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—John Maynard Keynes, noted economist, financier, and adviser to the British treasury, will visit Washington, D. C., on behalf of Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood, it was announced tonight.

Keynes, a close friend of President Roosevelt, will confer with American treasury officials and the British supply council on problems arising from the lease-lend act and other matters involving American aid to Britain. He will contact Sir Frederick Phillips, British treasury representative who already is collaborating with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau. He also will see Sir Edward Peacock, Bank of England director, who is in the United States negotiating for the sale of British investments there.

Altho nothing specific was disclosed as to the object to Keynes' mission, British financial writers predicted that "important results" will be forthcoming.

DIXIE OWNERS TO REOPEN PITS; RAISE WAGES $1

Agree to Negotiate Union Contract.

Washington, D. C., April 28 [Special].—The southern soft coal operators have agreed to increase wages $1 a day and to reopen the mines tomorrow, Stephen Early, White House secretary, announced tonight.

The southern operators voluntarily have accepted President Roosevelt's proposal, announced on April 21, to negotiate a new contract while the miners are at work. The terms of the contract are to be retroactive.

Since the northern operators previously had agreed to increase wages $1 a day, the major point in dispute between the United Mine Workers and the southern operators is the 40 cents a day differential between the north and south.

What the Miners Receive.

Northern operators had been paying $6 a day. Thus the increase fixed the wage at $7. Southern miners had been receiving $5.60 a day. Thus the $1 a day increase granted them fixes their pay at $6.60. This wage differential of 40 cents will be the subject of renewed negotiations between the southern operators and the union.

The wage differential in the south is the chief stumbling block for negotiations for a new contract. Southern operators contend that discriminatory freight rates compel them to adhere to the wage differential or lose 3½ to 4½ million dollars yearly on their coal shipments.

Acceptance by the southern operators bring to an end the strike which started April 2 and will return 400,000 miners to their tasks. The compromise arrangement was made possible by the intervention of President Roosevelt, who conferred on the coal situation all day. Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce, acting for the President, conferred with the southern operators and persuaded them to recede from their previous position against resumption of negotiations.

Lewis Expected to Accept Plan.

William H. Davis, acting chairman of the national defense mediation board, telephoned to the White House it was his understanding that the operators' agreement was acceptable and agreeable to John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers.

Kathryn Lewis, daughter and secretary of Lewis, said that her father would make no statement tonight. The miners' policy committee will meet tomorrow morning and is expected to ratify the agreement between northern and southern operators.

Notification of the agreement of the southern operators came in the following telegram to President Roosevelt and to Secretary Jones from L. Ebersole Gaines, chairman of the southern coal operators wage conference:

"The undersigned representing the 12 southern districts which had not yet negotiated a wage agreement accept your proposal without equivocation. We are ready to resume work immediately.

Increase for Piece Work, Too.

"You are advised further that our conference has by resolution agreed to give a wage increase of $1 a day on the basic day rate and make a relative increase for all piece work."

President Roosevelt replied to Gaines thanking him for the operators' offer and expressing the hope that the mines would reopen as early as practicable.

At the time the President's proposal was advanced the northern operators and the union had reached an agreement for a wage increase, but the southern operators and miners were deadlocked.

Arms Program Periled.

Late in the day a senate committee had decided to try its hand in bringing about a settlement. After a closed meeting of the special committee to investigate defense progress Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] said the members had discussed the possibility of submitting a "peace formula," but this effort was shelved by the agreement tonight.

With steel production slumping, some railroads curtailing service, and many industrial plants running out of fuel, it was apparent that a crisis was near.

WHEELER URGES THE PRESIDENT: LEAD TO PEACE!

Senator Hurls Challenge on Undeclared War.

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., April 28.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, speaking tonight under auspices of the America First committee, asked President Roosevelt if he intends to violate the constitution of the United States and his oath of office by waging an undeclared war in behalf of Britain.

Police Captain Ralph Fossler estimated that at least 3,500 persons managed to hear the speech, which was delivered in the Shrine temple, designed to seat 1,800. An overflow room in the basement was opened and more than 500 listened to a loud speaker set up there. Another thousand took advantage of loud speaker facilities in the streets. Despite a threatening letter which warned Wheeler not to speak in Rockford, the Montana Democrat was accorded nothing but cheers.

In a series of questions and a direct, personal appeal to the President, Wheeler made an impassioned plea for Mr. Roosevelt to renew his campaign promises and lead the country to peace. He said the country is not at war and need not be if the people make strong enough their demands for peace.

"Bridge of Ships."

"What do you mean, Mr. President," the speaker asked, "by a bridge of ships across the Atlantic? What do you mean by the statement that American vessels would patrol the seven seas? Mr. President, do you intend to use convoys, knowing full well, as you have said, that convoys mean shooting and shooting means war?"

Recent newspaper dispatches from Washington, said Wheeler, indicate that a plan to save Britain is floating around Washington. He asked the President to explain whether it includes patrols and convoys and the dispatch of American troops to Africa and Asia.

"Mr. President," Wheeler asked, "what aid must we give to Britain? What aid can enable Great Britain to win this war? We are, and we have been, stripping our defenses to furnish England with material for the conduct of war. Mr. President, how much American war supplies that we have either sold or given England has fallen into the hands of the Nazis?

He Defends Lindbergh.

"After Col. Lindbergh, a great and courageous American, told the American people that England could not win this war, you, Mr. President, called him a quitter. Mr. President, the American people have seen England quit northern Europe with Poland, Belgium, France, and Holland as allies. The American people have seen England quit Greece, with the valiant Jugo-Slavs and the sturdy Greeks as allies. And, Mr. President, the American people want to know if you have quit your promises to them not to lead this nation into war."

Wheeler said that the American people are becoming extremely weary of wishful thinking and name calling, and the attempts to frighten the nation into war. He added that such a war would mean utter destruction of democracy and urged the audience to band together and demand peace.

They're "Anti-New Deal."

"The people of the United States are not pro-Nazi," Wheeler said, continuing his direct appeal to the President. "They are not procommunist, they are not pro-Fascist. They are, however, becoming anti-New Deal. This is because of your attitude and because of the attitude of your cabinet members upon the war or peace issue."

Wheeler said that while a few commentators, columnists, and a few newspapers and motion picture producers might urge war, they do not represent the great majority of the people of the nation. He recalled to the President that he had been elected on promises to avoid war.

"The American people want you to follow the wishes of 83 to 95 per cent of the nation," Wheeler said. "They demand that you repudiate the promises that your ambassador, Mr. William C. Bullitt, made to Poland and to other European countries, namely, that we would enter the European conflict before it was over.

"Mr. President, if you want unity you can have unity. You can have the support of 90 per cent of the people. But, Mr. President, from 83 to 95 per cent of the people will never follow you if you allow yourself with the New York banking fraternity to lead this country into war."

Small Incomes Hit

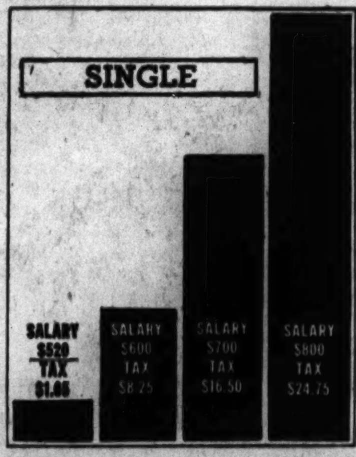
Comparison of tax which would be levied on married wage earners with no dependents under plan submitted to congress yesterday. A levy of 8¼ per cent would be made after allowance of $1,000 exemption.



This is how the rate would apply to single wage earners. The same levy would be made, but exemption would be cut to $500.

FEUD FLARES UP IN CAPITAL OVER TAXES ON FOODS

Morgenthau Rips Plan of Congress Experts.

tee, "and we have not yet scratched the surface of its full revenue producing possibilities. This tax should first be made to produce its maximum revenue before a sales tax is resorted to. England saw this long ago, with the result that the income tax has been its mainstay in peace-time and in war for over a century.

Compares British Situation.

"The revenue possibilities of the tax are perhaps best emphasized by the fact that our present basic rate is only 4 per cent, whereas England's now is 50 per cent. In addition, our exemptions are so much greater than theirs that we entirely exclude from the tax more than three-quarters of the national income and more than 95 per cent of our population.

"Incomes under $5,000 are today relatively untouched, and those up to $25,000 can be taxed more heavily than they are now without the likelihood of drying up the source of future revenue.

"If we are to rely upon the income tax as the major revenue producer, I think it must be obvious that we shall have to dig down into the smaller incomes ever so much more deeply than we have heretofore attempted.

Admits It's a Political Pill.

"Lowering exemptions is said to be a bitter pill to swallow politically and the line of least resistance is in additional hidden excise taxes. But why should we squirm from lowering exemptions if a sales taxes, or its equivalent, is the alternative? The sales tax hits the low income group hardest of all."

Schieffelin's recommendations did not specify the extent to which exemptions should be lowered. His group proposed, however, to raise the normal 4 per cent tax rate to 6 per cent. The alternative, he declared, is a federal tax on retail sales or a "defense tax" collected at the source on all gross incomes paid out to individuals—a wage tax.

Both witnesses called for stringent economy in government expenditures not connected with the arms program.

John V. Lawrence, general manager of the American Trucking associations, protested against the proposed new gasoline tax of one cent a gallon, bringing the total federal impost to 2½ cents a gallon. The additional tax will so curtail the use of trucks as to defeat its own purpose by taxing gasoline used in operating these vehicles to the point of diminishing returns, he contended.

EXPECT MINTON TO GET SEAT OF JUDGE TREANOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Official sources today disclosed that lame duck former Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana is expected to be nominated by President Roosevelt for the vacancy on the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago caused by the death of Judge Walter E. Treanor yesterday.

Sherman Minton.

Minton was promised the next vacancy on the 7th federal Circuit court after the people of Indiana voted last November to retire him from public life. Meanwhile he is on the government pay roll at $10,000 a year, ostensibly as one of President Roosevelt's "passionately anonymous" assistants, actually as a White House lobbyist.

Heir Apparent to Judgeship.

Before the death of Judge Treanor, Minton was heir apparent of the judgeship to be added to the Chicago Circuit court by a bill introduced by Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], which has passed the senate and is pending before the house judiciary committee.

Another lame duck ex-senator, James M. [Strong Box] Slattery of Illinois, may get the Circuit court judgeship to be created by the Hatch bill, altho geographical considerations may work against him.

Slattery is the intended beneficiary of a bill introduced in February by Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] to permit the appointment of another judge to the Federal District court at Chicago.

Slattery's appointment to the Circuit court is expected to be resisted by Wisconsin, which has but one representative on that tribunal—Presiding Judge Evan A. Evans.

Illinois already has two representatives on the court—J. Earl Major and Otto Kerner. Indiana had two before the death of Judge Treanor and will have two if Minton is appointed. The other Indiana judge is Will M. Sparks.

Considered for High Court.

Minton received serious consideration for the Supreme court when President Roosevelt appointed Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama, former Ku Klux Klansman, to that tribunal.

"Senatorial courtesy," which catapulted Black to the Supreme court without an investigation of his Ku Klux background, would assure confirmation of Minton's appointment to the Chicago Circuit court.

Appointment of Slattery, however, probably would result in a senate investigation of his transactions in the stock of the Commonwealth Edison company, the rates of which were subject to his authority as chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission.

CHIEF OF LEGION URGES BRITISH AID DESPITE RISK

Aid to Britain even at the risk of war was urged last night by Milo J. Warner, national commander of the American Legion, speaking in Temple hall, 338 South Marshfield avenue, before 1,000 members of the Commonwealth Edison and Police posts of the Legion.

Milo J. Warner.

"Aid to Britain must be delivered now," Warner said. "To our government we can leave the means of making deliveries. But there is little of common sense in producing guns for Great Britain if those materials are to be left waiting on our docks or left at the bottom of the ocean as a monument to our mistaken efforts.

"We have reached the place where as a united nation we must dare to follow thru and make our aid effective, even tho it may mean war. Some things are worse than war. As a nation we must be willing to fight for our liberties, and not to flinch from that fight, before it is too late."

CITIZENS, DECIDE ON ALLEGIANCE! MISS GISH URGES

This is a time for American citizens to decide whether they love some other country better than the United States, or whether their interests lie entirely in Europe, Miss Lillian Gish, state and screen actress, told 50 members of the Chicago post, No. 170, of the American Legion at luncheon yesterday in the Tavern club, 333 North Michigan avenue. She spoke under the sponsorship of the America First committee.

"If a citizen loves some other country better than he loves America, my advice would be to go to that country and offer his or her help," she said. "But if he loves this great land most let him do something to keep us out of ruinous war."

Youngest Son of Dean Inge Killed Fighting with RAF

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—The death of Pilot Officer the Rev. W. S. Inge, youngest son of the former dean of St. Paul's, Dr. W. R. Inge, was announced today. He was 25 years old. An air ministry source said the Rev. Mr. Inge, who entered the RAF as a pilot, was killed "on active service."

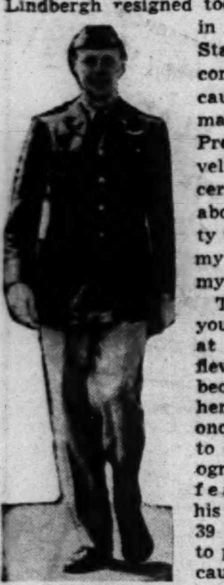
LINDY RESIGNS AS COLONEL IN THE AIR CORPS

Action Follows Criticism by President Roosevelt.

'No Comment'

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP). —The White House had no comment today on Charles A. Lindbergh's resignation as a colonel in the air corps reserve. Army officials also declined comment.

New York, April 28 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh resigned today as colonel in the United States army air corps reserve because his commander in chief—President Roosevelt—had implied certain things about "my loyalty to my country, my motives, and my character."



Col. Lindbergh. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Thus, the thin young man who at 25 historically flew the Atlantic, became a world hero, and rose at once from captain to colonel in recognition of his feat, beseeched his government at 39 to return him to private life because he had "no honorable alternative."

In a letter to President Roosevelt, Lindbergh took exception to "implications" he said the President uttered concerning him at last Friday's press conference.

In this conference the chief executive criticized the flyer and others who say the axis powers would defeat Great Britain. The President compared them to appeasers of revolutionary and civil war days who insisted that defeat was imminent and that peace should be sued for promptly.

The President thus "clearly implied," Lindbergh wrote, "that I am no longer of use to this country as a reserve officer."

Text of Letter.

The text of Lindbergh's letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. President:

"Your remarks at White House press conference on April 25 involving my reserve commission in the United States army air corps, have, of course, disturbed me greatly. I had hoped that I might exercise my right as an American citizen, to place my viewpoint before the people of my country in time of peace without giving up the privilege of serving my country as an air corps officer in the event of war.

"But since you, in your capacity as President of the United States and commander in chief of the army, have clearly implied that I am no longer of use to this country as a reserve officer, and in view of other implications that you, my President and my superior officer, have made concerning my loyalty to my country, my character, and my motives, I can see no honorable alternative to tendering my resignation as colonel in the United States army air corps reserve. I am, therefore, forwarding my resignation to the secretary of war.

Has "Utmost Regret."

"I take this action with the utmost regret, for my relationship with the air corps is one of the things that has meant most to me in life. I place it second only to my right as a citizen to speak freely to my fellow countrymen, and to discuss with them the issues of war and peace which confront our nation in this crisis.

"I will continue to serve my country to the best of my ability as a private citizen.

"Respectfully,
"Charles A. Lindbergh."

Lindbergh in recent months has been a leading isolationist speaker. Last Wednesday night he said at a New York rally that Britain had only one "last desperate plan remaining" —to persuade American entry into the war and to have this country share the "fiasco" with England both militarily and financially.

The flyer was commissioned as a second lieutenant in 1925 and later was promoted to a colonelcy.

ANTI-WAR GROUPS AROUSED OVER LINDBERGH CASE

They Defend Him and Assail Roosevelt.

New York, April 28 [Special].—Opponents of the campaign to embroil the United States in the European war rallied to the support of Charles A. Lindbergh tonight and assailed President Roosevelt for "forcing out of the service the greatest flyer of our time." Lindbergh today resigned his colonelcy in the army air corps reserve as the only "honorable alternative" as a result of attacks made on him by President Roosevelt.

Amos R. Pinchot, prominent New York lawyer, asserted that he considered the President's remarks to be "a mistake that will have profound consequences."

Calls It "Ironical."

"It is ironical," Pinchot continued, "that the President, after announcing his belief in free speech, should try to silence a great citizen who is the leading figure in the campaign to keep this country out of war.

"It is equally ironical that Mr. Roosevelt should have forced out of the service the greatest flyer of our time who so earnestly begged him in 1938 to create an air force that would be second to none."

The College Men for Defense First, which has a membership of over 1,000 graduates and undergraduates of 100 colleges and universities thruout the country, sent a telegram of support to Lindbergh and a message of criticism to the President.

The Note to Roosevelt.

The message to Mr. Roosevelt decried the fact that he had deprived the United States of the services of a "world authority on aviation at so crucial a time."

Neither of the foremost organizations that seek to embroil the United States in the war—the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies and the newly formed Fight for Freedom committee—had any comment to make on Lindbergh's resignation.

Fritz Kreisler Remains Unconscious 60 Hours

New York, April 28 (AP).—Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, remained unconscious tonight in Roosevelt hospital almost 60 hours after he was injured by a truck on Madison avenue. A bulletin issued at 9:15 p. m. [Chicago time] said: "Condition remains the same. Still shows some improvement." Dr. Madison Brown said the 66 year old musician was "still unconscious and in a serious condition." His skull was fractured.

BRITISH ENVOY HITS LINDBERGH FOR PEACE TALK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Sir Gerald Campbell, one of the two British ministers serving under Lord Halifax, ambassador to the United States, tonight ridiculed Charles A. Lindbergh for his speech in New York last Wednesday against American participation in the war. Campbell addressed the annual dinner of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Attempting to offset Lindbergh's warning that the United States is on the verge of war in a British influenced effort to enlist us in a hopeless cause, Campbell attacked Lindbergh for "a sneer or a smear leveled at England."

Assails Negotiated Peace.

In reply to Lindbergh's assertion that a negotiated peace now would favor England Campbell said: "When Great Britain is actually enjoined to surrender, to stop fighting, to make peace—a negotiated, false, inconclusive peace—then I feel that I am entitled to express an opinion and make a protest, for it is surely our business to decide whether we are going to abandon the victims of German aggression in Europe whom we are pledged to free.

"If we abandon what has been called the 'first line of your defense,' you may just as well cancel the word 'international' and give up all idea of holding meetings abroad for many decades to come. You must also give up the idea of trusting us—your best customers.

"Crest of Wave."

"By the turn of the year, with your help in the provision of equipment, we intend to be in a far better position than we are now, coming up toward the crest of the wave as our enemy starts to go down."

In reply to Lindbergh's warning that the British are hoping for another American expeditionary force Campbell said he wanted to recall that Prime Minister Winston Churchill has said that "England does not want men sent there from here." Campbell said that the British expeditionary forces sent to France, Norway, and Greece may have been military blunders, but that Britain was honor bound to send them.

"Military blunders, perhaps," he added, "but so was the charge of the light brigade at Balaclava, and we all learned at school how proud the British army and the British people were of the light brigade.

"We may be despicable, decadent specimens of white trash, but at least we are white and not yellow."

Reference to France.

The speaker asserted that the size of the British expeditionary force sent to France was fixed by the French general staff rather than by the British.

Sir Gerald recalled that the New York speech by Lindbergh was on St. George's day and said that "fortunately there was no one to tell St. George that he must not fight because he might be beaten."

MINISTER TELLS AUSTRALIA JAPS PLAN NO DRIVE

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 28 (AP).—The Japanese minister to Australia, Tatsuo Kawai, said today that his government has no intention of "moving down" on Australia by military force. Instead, he said, the Japanese want to expand trade relations with Australia. Kawai said Acting Prime Minister Arthur Fadden of Australia recently predicted a southward move by Japan would be timed with European developments, and declared the prediction had not been fulfilled. "If these accusations are unfounded in fact, it would be far better to meet the halfway friendship Japan is offering," he said.

Venezuela Elects Medina President for 1941-'46 Term

CARACAS, April 28 (AP).—The Venezuelan congress today elected Gen. Isaias Medina Angarita as president of the republic for 1941-'46, succeeding Eleazar Lopez Contreras. Other candidates were Diogenes Escalante, ambassador to Washington, D. C., and Romulo Gallegos, novelist.

LAMONT URGES U. S. EMBARGO TO CRIPPLE JAPS' WAR EFFORTS

Detroit, Mich., April 28 [Special].—Thomas W. Lamont of the international banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., today advocated "all aid" to Great Britain and China. The Morgan partner, whose firm was fiscal agent for Britain in the last war, addressed a luncheon meeting of the Economic club of Detroit.

Lamont held that such aid was the best means of defending "our Atlantic interests" and preserving "our far eastern defense."

He suggested that armed conflict with Japan could be avoided by extension of embargos on scrap iron, oil, etc., which he said would serve to immobilize the Nipponese war machine.

Lamont recalled that units of the American fleet have been cruising in the west Pacific area and visiting Australia and New Zealand. "Some strategists," he said, "seem to believe that the quickest way to avoid future trouble would be to send a big fleet to the far east and even go so far as to sink the Japanese navy once and for all; being perfectly confident that this could be done."

He said, however, "the American people would hesitate to take this course" and believed an embargo would be the proper way to deal with Japan.

HITLER EXPECTS TO RECOVER LOST COLONIAL LANDS

Prepares for Future Administration.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 28.—Germany is preparing for the future administration of the colonies she expects to recover. This was disclosed at the foreign office today in a statement reaffirming Germany's claim to colonial possessions in Africa.

Gen. Von Epp.

"Germany has never said that she intended to give up her demands for colonies," foreign press correspondents were told.

The choice of Germany's future colonial minister probably will fall upon Gen. Franz Xaver Ritter von Epp, 73 years old.

Germany has been making systematic preparations for assuming the responsibilities of colonial administration. The institute for tropical diseases at Hamburg long has been studying colonial health control.

The "colonial school" at Witzenhausen, near Cassell, undertakes to train youthful aspirants of both sexes in mastering problems of tropical home building and farming.

The newest preparatory step is the formation of a corps of "tropical nurses." These women must have perfect health.

BRITONS DEMAND PARLIAMENT DIG INTO GREEK WAR

M. P.'s and Press Urge 'Full Dress' Debate.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 29, Tuesday.—The British withdrawal from Greece intensified demands in parliament and in the press today for a full dress debate on the progress of the war.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill's broadcast to the empire and the United States on Sunday night failed to stifle the desire of members of parliament for details of the events leading up to the Greek campaign and the conduct of operations.

Similar complaints over the meagerness of news are contained in editorials in this morning's London dailies. All concede that Britain was honor bound to go to the aid of the Greeks but some suggest that military considerations only should prevail in future campaigns.

Ask Who Planned Drive.

Apart from seeking information on the number of empire troops operating in Greece and the losses suffered by each side, members of parliament, according to the Daily Mail, want to know on whose advice the Greek campaign was undertaken and in what circumstances the Australian and New Zealand governments were consulted.

While the Evening News of last night described the British withdrawal from Greece as a "new British humiliation," most of this morning's editorials concentrate on the underlying causes that induced Britain to send an insufficient force to combat the Germans.

The Daily Express, describing the Greek evacuation as "probably the most difficult operation of the kind our army so far has attempted," outlines this country's immediate needs as more tanks and anti-tank weapons, more ships, and more food."

War Output Stirs Worry.

The Daily Herald, which reports that even now the output of British war industries is only 80 per cent of what it could be, insists that "there is uneasiness here" about the rate at which Britain is equipping itself. It welcomes the proposed parliamentary debate on the conduct of the war and declares that "it is upon organization of the war industry that the government should direct the searchlight."

BRITISH BOMBERS RAID NAZI SHIPS OFF DUTCH COAST

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—British bombers left a German destroyer "spouting a great volume of smoke" after an attack off the Dutch coast this morning in which the RAF lost four planes. The destroyer was one of two escorting a convoy of supply ships.

Two vessels of 2,000 and 1,500 tons also were hit and are believed to have been sunk, the air ministry said. Off the French coast a 1,250 ton patrol ship was bombed amidship.

Other attacks included the bombing of a factory and rail yards at Meppel, the Dutch naval base docks at Den Helder, an airdrome at De Kooy in the Netherlands, and docks at Ijmuiden.

In yesterday's assault on Cologne, the air ministry said RAF bombers making the round trip to the city deep in Germany's Rhineland dumped bombs squarely on a factory.

Daylight Raid on Emden.

Today one of Britain's new Stirling heavy bombers—a craft capable of carrying tremendous loads of explosives—flew to Emden, on Germany's North sea coast, and made what was called a "daring and successful attack."

Descending from the clouds in broad daylight to plant its bombs from a low altitude, the powerful four motor craft then spattered machine gun bullets over the city from a height of 1,500 feet.

After blasting Portsmouth, naval base on the south coast, last night in a sharp attack that inflicted heavy casualties, the Germans came back today and raided a southeast coast town and machine gunned a train in northeast Scotland, but no casualties or damage were reported.

Twin Attack to Southwest.

A SOUTHWEST COAST TOWN, England, April 29, Tuesday (AP).—A German air attack described by some observers as one of the heaviest ever in this area blasted this town for several hours early today. Starting late at night, the raiders were over the town almost constantly despite a violent antiaircraft barrage. First indications were that casualties were relatively light, considering the severity of the attack.

Other bombers were reported over another southwest coast town and over the south coast.

[Plymouth and Bristol are towns in the southwest of England which have been subjected to many German attacks.]

Many Leave City at Night.

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 28 (AP).—Many homeless persons began leaving this bomb blasted southern port today to find a place to sleep, but authorities declared the exodus was only a temporary movement and that those with jobs would be back tomorrow for work.

Sunday night's raid swept away many working class residential sections, so that part of the population sought temporary shelter in the country districts where they could use schoolhouses and other buildings, or sleep in cars and trucks along the roadside. Whole families took part in the evacuation, lugging food, bedding, and household pets with them.

GERMANS BOMB FLEEING ARMY IN PELOPONNESUS

Major Action at an End in Greece, Berlin Says.

BERLIN, April 28 (AP).—German bombers blasted British and Greek troops racing across the Peloponnesus for possible escape by sea today. However, German observers declared that major military action in Greece was ended and that Adolf Hitler's army was poised for new tasks in a larger sphere.

These new tasks were not specified. A military spokesman said action in the Mediterranean theater would continue. Conquest of Greece was regarded here as just a phase of a larger plan now unfolding.

But Stuka dive bombers attacked allied lines retiring over the rugged terrain in the Peloponnesus and ships plying in the area between the mainland and the Island of Crete, where the Greek government has set up new quarters. Some observers suggested Crete would be the next objective of the German army.

Parachutists Are Used.

German parachutists dropped on the Isthmus of Corinth, the narrow land bridge leading from the Athens region westward to the Peloponnesus, and captured 900 British soldiers.

British shipping losses off Greece were said to total 287,000 tons, or 25,000 tons more than were lost in the Dunkirk debacle a year ago.

[Lloyd's has listed 448,904 tons of shipping lost in the Dunkirk withdrawal, of which 280,556 were British and the remainder were under allied flags.]

Those tallies were chalked up by German bombers in the last 11 days and another 400,000 tons of shipping was claimed to have been damaged.

Week-end British shipping losses were set at 13 ships totaling more than 53,000 tons, including a British cruiser.

Authorized circles did not attempt to estimate at this time British troop casualties in the Balkan campaign.

German Naval Units in Action.

Axis troops are threatening the Suez in far flung lines across North Africa from Tripoli to the Egyptian border; German troops occupy the Greek islands of Samothrace and Lemnos off Turkey's Dardanelles, and a fresh revelation is that German naval forces have entered into action in the eastern Mediterranean.

No indication of the type of ships or how they managed to get into the Mediterranean was given.

[Turkish reports said several German vessels recently slipped thru the Dardanelles from the Black sea to the Mediterranean without submitting to usual transit regulations. This caused some to believe these ships possibly carried troops and war materials concealed below decks.]

GERMANS ASSAIL AID BRITAIN PLEA BY ROCKEFELLER

New York, April 28 (AP).—The plea of John D. Rockefeller Jr. for close coöperation between Great Britain and the United States was scored by the German radio tonight as "only typical of the close connection existing between British and American plutocratic interests." Rockefeller's views were revealed yesterday in a letter to a New York publisher.

The German radio in an English language broadcast heard by Columbia Broadcasting system said:

"To the Rockefellers, just as to the British oil and industrial royalists, this war means first of all a profitable business adventure, financed out of the pockets of the small American wage earners and taxpayers."

VICHY CHARGES DE GAULLE ARMY INVADES COLONY

Reports 'Free French' in Somaliland.

VICHY, France, April 28 (AP).—Backed by British mechanized units, "free French" forces were concentrated inside the southern frontier of French Somaliland tonight in an attempt to persuade that East African colony to join the "free French" fighting with Britain against the axis.

["Free French" headquarters in London said it had no knowledge of an attack by its forces on French Somaliland. It declared that the report of the attack "should be accepted with very grave reserve," and suggested that the colony's garrison supported the "Free French" movement.]

Don't Desert, Vichy Orders.

The French government's announcement of the massing of troops said instructions had been given to the governor of French Somaliland to prevent its desertion of the German conquered mother country. The 8,492 square mile colony is on the gulf of Aden, wedged between British Somaliland and British conquered Eritrea.

It was not indicated whether there were sufficient French forces to resist any possible march of the "free French" and British from Daouanleh, Addis Ababa—Djibouti railroad station where they were concentrated.

However, the government said a plane of the followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, "free French" leader, had dropped pamphlets urging garrisons of French outposts to go over to the British side with their arms and supplies.

Signed by General.

The proclamation was signed by Gen. Le Gentilhomme, former allied commander in French and British Somaliland, whose headquarters now is at the British protectorate of Aden, across the gulf of that name.

"Free Frenchmen" also disembarked at Zeila, British Somaliland port about 15 miles southeast of Djibouti.

By their conquests in Ethiopia, the British now control the Addis Ababa railroad down to the 48 mile trackage that crosses French Somaliland to Djibouti.

BRITAIN'S EFFORTS TO FEED NAZI RAIDED DISTRICTS ARE TOLD

All of Great Britain has been divided into 18 food areas to prevent privation among victims of recent terrific air raids, according to information received and made public yesterday by Charles F. Glore, Illinois chairman of the British War Relief society. He is directing the $1,000,000 campaign for civilian aid.

The information, said Glore, was culled from a mass of war relief details made available to him and other war relief leaders.

"Either Lord Woolton, the British minister of food, has been unwilling to reveal the seriousness of the problem, or else this is a phase of the war which has escaped notice in the midst of the more poignant drama of bombings, blackouts, and death," said Glore.

According to Glore, the 18 food districts will be served by 144 mobile units. Each will be made up of eight motor trucks and eight motorcycles for emergency duty.

Five of the trucks are kitchens; two food stores, and one a water carrier. Three of the kitchen trucks are light in weight and suitable for rapid movement from one spot to another. Each can supply food for 200 persons at a time.

Section Hand Found Dead in Ditch on Country Road

Leandro Valadez, 49 years old, of West Lake street, Melrose Park, last night was found dead in a ditch on Wolf road at Franklin avenue, one-half mile west of Franklin Park. Deputies Francis Dalton and Edgar Ward of the Morton Grove county highway police said death was caused by a skull fracture and that Valadez, a North Western railroad section hand, probably was murdered. However, they said he might have been struck by a hit-run motorist.

CALLS REMOVAL OF AUSTRALIAN UNITS A SUCCESS

SYDNEY, Australia, April 28 (AP).—The withdrawal of certain Australian troops from Greece has been successful so far, Army Minister Percy C. Spencer said today, but he indicated considerable losses in heavy material were expected. Spencer said Lieut. Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commanding the Australians there, had been ordered to remove men ahead of tanks and other equipment.

Following a meeting of the war cabinet, Acting Prime Minister A. W. Fadden declared a "most real" unity with Britain in war effort and said that efforts had been made to send from Australia an incorrect view of her war mood.

Firm steps are being taken to suppress ill-considered, ill-timed, and ill-informed statements, he added.

GERMAN VESSEL LEAVES BRAZIL TO RUN BLOCKADE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, April 28 (AP).—The 3,290 ton German freighter Lech left her dock here tonight in an apparent effort to dash thru the British blockade with a cargo of fuel oil, cottonseed, hides, iron, mica, coffee, and other merchandise. The Lech was the first German ship to succeed in reaching Brazil thru the blockade. Capt. Friedrich Brinkmann earlier had asked permission to sail within 48 hours for Bergen, Norway.

GREECE TO CARRY ON WAR IN ISLES, PREMIER VOWS

Predicts Nation Will Win Fight for Liberty.

CANEA, Crete, April 28 (AP).—Premier Emmanuel Tsouderos of Greece today declared that Greece's fight must be continued unflinchingly "in our little islands."

"Destiny," he declared, "has chosen two islands as the last but worthy ramparts of the free peoples of Europe, the great island of Britain and this great island of the Hellenes."

[Crete, off the southern coast of Greece, now is the seat of government. King George II. of Greece and his government fled there before the Nazi occupation of Athens in order to carry on Greek resistance.]

"A Battle of Liberty."

"With constancy, courage and determination the peoples of these islands are fighting today a supreme battle of liberty," Tsouderos said.

"A black flood coming from a country which has deified violence has swept over Europe. Humanity has known in the past similar barbaric invasions but the civilization of free men has always prevailed.

"What now remains for us to do? The fight must be continued in our little islands without flinching.

"The king and his government are here among you for the supreme task of the defense of Crete and the honor of Greece.

"Sacrifices do not count . . . I am certain that we shall soon be back in Athens and that Greece will not only be free but the greater because of her struggles."

Italians Take Corfu.

ROME, April 28 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported two new successes in the mopping up phases of the Greek campaign, the occupation of the Greek island of Corfu in the Adriatic and occupation of Preveza, Greek naval base on Greece's west coast.

AXIS DRIVE INTO EGYPT HALTED, BRITISH CLAIM

Armored Forces Fight Enemy at Sollum.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 28 (AP).—Advance units of a British armored division were reported in contact with axis forces near Sollum, Egypt, tonight as the North African front resumed the center of the stage in the Mediterranean war theater.

German-Italian units, British headquarters said, made little or no progress with the spearhead they have established six miles inside the Egyptian frontier. Axis forces were declared to have been in possession of Sollum only since Saturday. [Axis reports have claimed the post for days.]

Dessye Falls in Ethiopia.

British airmen, in an attack on Benina, about 10 miles east of axis held Bengazi, were said to have destroyed a German troop transport plane and damaged others as soldiers were embarking.

In East Africa axis forces suffered another setback with the fall of Dessye, Italian-Ethiopian stronghold.

British troops entered Dessye on Sunday after a few hours of tough fighting at Kombolchia pass, 14 miles south of the plateau city.

[This supported London reports that the town was taken by forces operating from the British-held capital, Addis Ababa, altho Dessye had been attacked from all sides.]

Pass Strongly Fortified.

The pass was declared to have been fortified strongly and fiercely defended. Britons said the Fascists broke under repeated attacks and yielded the summit just as Italian reinforcements were sighted.

The British were said to have charged down the road and turned the reinforcements' forward march into a precipitate retreat.

With Dessye captured, there remained in Ethiopia only two major centers of Italian resistance, Gondar, 250 miles northwest of Addis Ababa and 190 miles northwest of Dessye, and Jimma, 160 miles southwest of Addis Ababa.

Bomb Tobruk Region.

ROME, April 28 (AP).—Renewed British attempts to break thru axis lines around the Libyan port of Tobruk were broken up, the high command reported today, and Italian and German dive bombers attacked British motor vehicles and camps around the city.

BRITISH WORRIED BY REPORT NAZIS MOVE INTO SYRIA

Many 'Tourists' Arrive, London Hears.

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—British military circles turned anxious attention today to unconfirmed reports of a heavy German "tourist infiltration" in French mandated Syria.

Concern centered on two possibilities—that Syria eventually might be a jumping off place for an attempted "blitzkrieg" across Palestine toward the Suez or that a Syrian foothold might serve as a pincer threat against Turkey.

Number of Troops Shrinks.

The attitude of the Vichy government presumably would be an important factor in determining the German course. However, latest reports indicate French troops in Syria, numbering 200,000 men before the collapse of the mother country, have shrunken to a tenth of that number.

Informed Britons said they believed the task of meeting any possible action involving Syria would rest largely upon the British fleet to prevent transport of German troops, and upon imperial forces landed recently in Iraq to "open communications" and guard the vital Mosul oil fields and pipelines.

Stop Messages to Spain.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Correspondents of a number of Spanish newspapers have received instructions from Madrid to send no more messages, "Inside Information," a well informed column in the Daily Sketch, said today.

The newspapers concerned are mostly conservative Catholic which in the past have been as "pro-British as Spanish censorship permitted." Falangist [Fascist] newspapers are ordered to send cables only once a week.

Recalling that the same thing happened to Italian correspondents here just before Italy entered the war, the columnist said that "certain diplomatic interpreters put the worst construction on this action dictated from Spain. They suggest it implies that Spain expects entry of German troops and is preparing the press accordingly."

"Inside Information" also said that "Turkey is appealing to Britain to prevent, if possible, further incursions of Nazi forces into Greek islands." Ankara, it added, has been informed that the Germans plan to attack Crete, which is occupied by the British. The Greek government is located on Crete.

ORDER 250 ITALIANS IN ADDIS ABABA SENT TO DETENTION CAMP

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 28 (AP).—Turbaned Ethiopians massed in the main square of this capital city tonight and cheered as an Amharic radio announcer read the names of the first 250 Italians to be expelled from the city.

The names included those of well known party leaders and members of the secret police. They are expected to go to internment camps next Monday and to be followed by others at the rate of 1,000 weekly. Upon the return of Emperor Haile Selassie to the capital, all Italians remaining will be required to live in special safety zones.

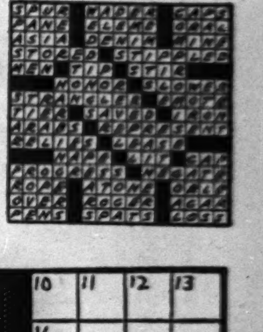
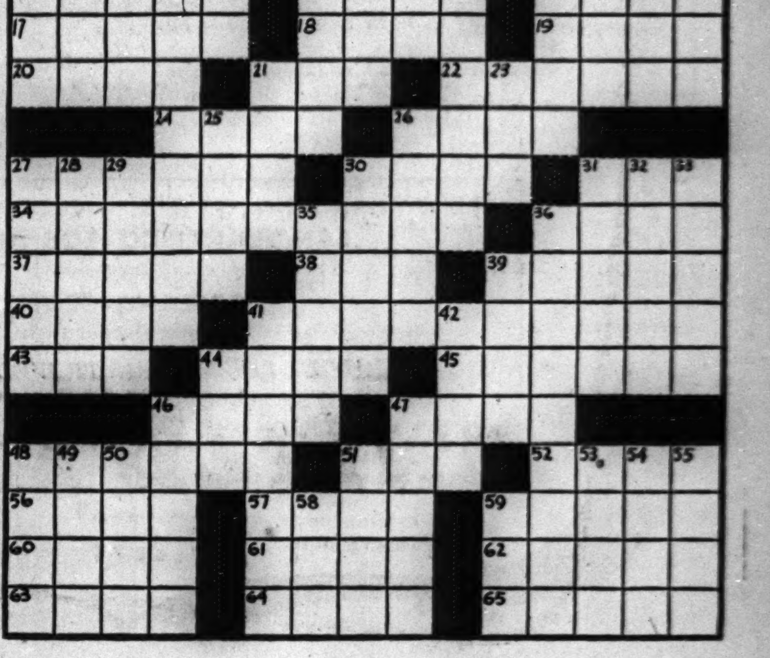
PUZZLE OF MONDAY, APRIL 28, SOLVED.





HAROLD TEEN—THE RAILROAD LOSES A FARE

WEDGE FOR 4 MAN WAR CABINET IS SEEN IN BRITAIN

Dominion Premiers Would Act with Churchill.

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—Political observers tonight forsaw the possibility of the opening wedge being driven this week in a move to streamline Great Britain's war cabinet.

For several weeks there have been widely whispered hints that the present eight man war cabinet, with five of its members holding departmental positions, has proved too unwieldy, and the matter is scheduled to be aired in the house of commons this week.

Informed sources believe that if the rumored four man cabinet is formed, its membership probably will be Prime Minister Churchill, Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa; Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, and Robert G. Menzies, prime minister of Australia.

May Sidetrack Action.

These same sources, however, consider it more than likely that Churchill will sidetrack any direct action on the question of changing the war cabinet's personnel and that Britain will carry on with the present board which in reality is a one man cabinet—Churchill—who one close observer has said believes that his own "tolerant dictatorship" is the best method of getting things done.

"Now, a hint by Winston Churchill is instantly put into action," this observer said. "If a tight, four man body comes, there would be a slowing up of the process—and Britain is counting on speed to win."

Suspects a "Grim Struggle."

Attlee, Anderson, and Greenwood are without departmental jobs.

A new voice was heard today in the discussion of the general subject of the war cabinet when Dr. E. W. Watt, retiring president of the Congregational Union of Scotland, asserted that "one suspects that behind the scenes there is a grim, silent struggle going on between the old and the new and that to preserve a façade of unity, nothing is said about it.

"If that's so," he concluded, "it's time the churches do something about it."

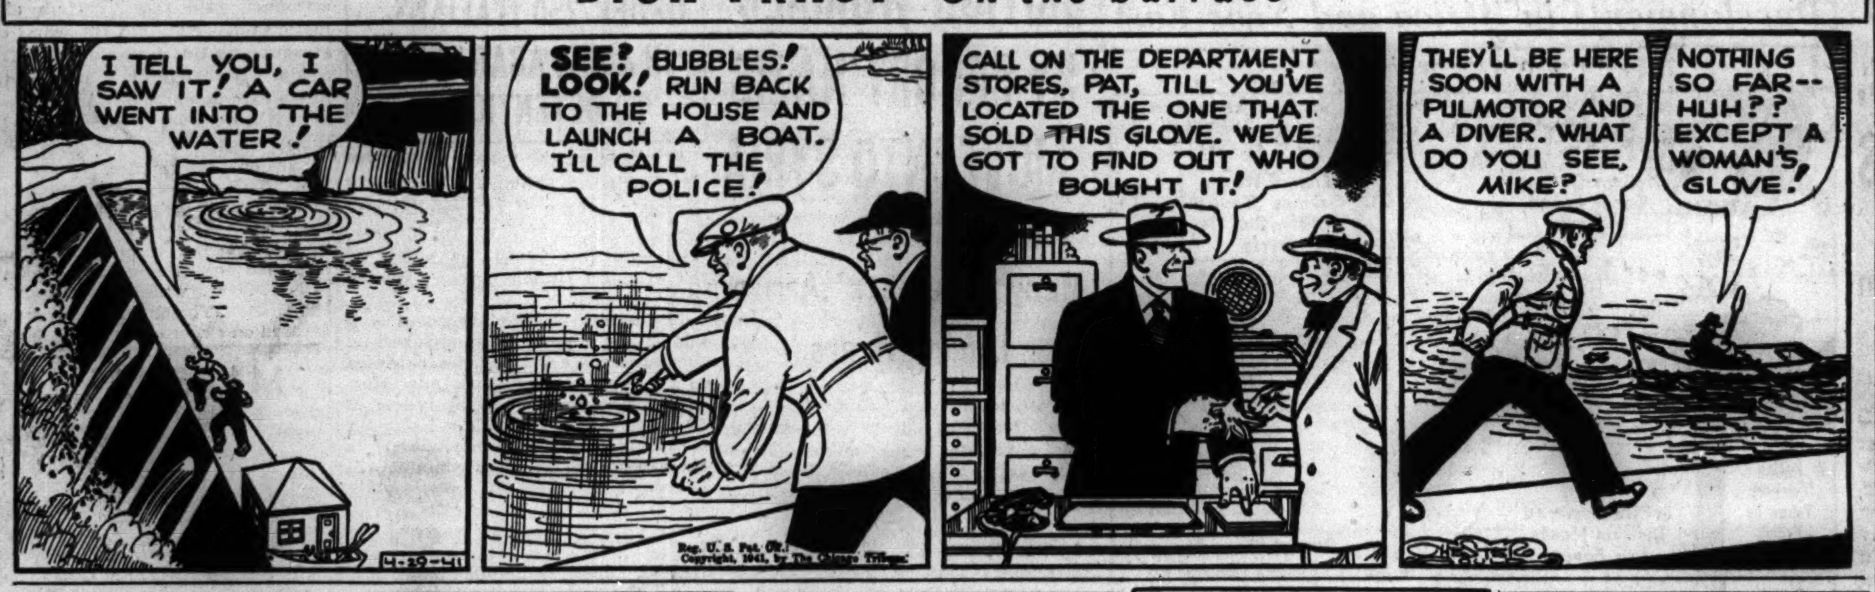
DICK TRACY—On the Surface



HIS BOAT PLAYS GAME OF WATER TAG WITH PILOT

He Dodges Twice, Then It Goes Ashore.

In any list of the world's most vicious speedboats 39-J-169 would rank high. She threw her owner into Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon, apparently out of sheer pique, then tried her best to run over him. Failing in this she sulked for a while, ran around in circles until she got dizzy, and finally smashed full speed into a pier, seemingly in a desperate effort to climb ashore and bite the hundreds of spectators who were watching her.

Richard Streeter.

They Part Company.

39-J-169 is the property of Richard Streeter, 29 years old, a mattress salesman. The two of them were out together for the first time this season, cutting didoes off Lake Shore drive opposite the Lake Shore club, when 39-J jilted Streeter and began circling. Twice she roared at him at 40 miles an hour and twice he submerged as she shot overhead. Then he swam out of range and kept his 230 pounds afloat until a rescue party arrived from Navy pier and took him ashore.

Meanwhile the drive was lined with parked cars and interested onlookers watching 39-J cut figure eights and other fancy maneuvers and at last run into the pier.

There was no chance to get a rope aboard or approach the craft because of her speed and her erratic course, the latter caused by a line which fouled her rudder.

Big Wave Starts Trouble.

Streeter, reached later in his home at 421 Melrose street, said 39-J seemed untractable as he tried to make a turn, and that when he straightened her out she ran head-on into a large wave.

"I fell out," he confessed.

Streeter said the boat was his fourth. He slipped on the deck of his last year's craft, falling thru a windshield and cutting his arm. He admitted he is thru with boating and that 39-J-169 is now for sale. Cheap.

INDIAN POLICE FIRE INTO MILLING HINDU AND MOSLEM RIOTERS

BOMBAY, India, April 28 (AP).—Police fired into milling Hindu and Moslem rioters in the center of Cawnpore today, wounding 10.

At least six stabbing victims were taken to hospitals with knife wounds. In an effort to ease the tense situation, the district magistrate banned gatherings of more than five persons and clamped down a curfew between 7 p. m. and 5:30 a. m.

MRS. TEGTMEYER LOSES PLEA IN SUPREME COURT

Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, 53 years old, who spent five years in the county jail for refusing to reveal the whereabouts of $20,000 in assets of the estate of her father-in-law, Henry Tegtmeyer, who died in 1923, will go back to jail once more unless she decides to talk. The United States Supreme court yesterday refused to review her case.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer was sentenced to jail for contempt of court in January, 1934, by Judge Hugo M. Friend. She was freed in 1939 on bond pending an appeal and was ordered returned to jail last March by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in Circuit court. Judge Dunne approved the original master's report fixing $20,610 as the amount she owes heirs of the estate. Execution of the sentence was stayed, however, until the Supreme court decision was known.

RODEO COWGIRL HELD IN KILLING OF CATTLEMAN

Tells of Scuffle at His Apartment.

Houston, Tex., April 28 (AP).—Lucyle Richards, a dark eyed, pretty cowgirl, was charged with murder today in the shooting of Frank Y. Dew, 48 year old ranchman and rodeo official. Mrs. Grace Collins, a divorcée, was in Dew's apartment at the time of the shooting.

Lucyle Richards. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Miss Richards, 31 year old aviatrix and trick rider whose feats have thrilled rodeo audiences over the United States, gave this account of the affair in a statement to Detective Captain George Peyton:

She called Dew twice and he asked her not to visit him, saying he was busy on a cattle deal.

She put a pistol in her purse and drove to his apartment.

Finds Door Locked.

"I went to the kitchen door, which generally was unlocked. Frank had the night latch on. He came into the hall pulling the door closed.

"We got into an argument. He kept trying to get me to go back to my apartment.

"I asked him if he had some one else in there and he said, 'That is none of your business.'

"Then he shoved me.

"I tripped and when I got back on my feet and got my balance I heard a noise like an explosion. Then Frank slapped me, knocking me down the stairs. I jerked the door open and ran toward the garage.

"While I was running I realized I had my gun in my hand and I dropped it in the vicinity of the apartment. Then I got in my car and drove to my apartment."

Officers could not find the weapon.

Other Woman's Story.

Mrs. Collins told Capt. Peyton she was in the kitchen when Dew came in, said he expected trouble, and would return within a few minutes.

Later she heard a shot, she said, and found Dew lying against the apartment door.

Dew had been married but was divorced several years ago.

SALESMAN FOUND GUILTY OF RAPING TWO YOUNG GIRLS

Wesley E. Bennett, a steel salesman, 57 years old, was found guilty of statutory rape last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Julius Miner. His punishment was fixed at three years in the penitentiary. Two girls, 13 and 11 years old, testified that Bennett gave them money and mistreated them in the apartment of Mrs. Henrietta Hatcher, colored, 370 East 58th street. Bennett, who lives at 4935 North Mozart street, admitted taking the girls for auto rides, but said illness made him incapable of committing the acts charged. His statement was corroborated by Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone. Mrs. Hatcher has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

2 SONS OF BELGIAN PREMIER KILLED IN TRAIN BLAZE

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—Six students of Ampleforth college, including two sons of Belgian Premier Hubert Pierlot, were reported killed today when they leaped from a blazing coach of the London-Newcastle express which caught fire near Claypole, Lincolnshire.

Seven others were injured among the 64 boys carried by the coach. A third son of Pierlot, 13 year old Gerard, was taken to a hospital.

The train was stopped after the fire was discovered and the crew controled the flames after they had spread to two other cars. The London and Northeastern rail line was blocked for 3½ hours.

DUCE TO JAIL ALL WHO FALL SHORT IN WAR EFFORT

ROME, April 28 (AP).—The Fascist government tonight decreed death, life imprisonment and lesser prison terms for certain cases of failure by contractors, workers, and soldiers to fulfill obligations to the state. The measure affects a wide range of industrialists and their employés.

The decree, issued by Premier Benito Mussolini, orders death for aggravated cases of fraud affecting military operations, prison sentences ranging up to life for contractors who fall down on military supply jobs, long prison terms for soldiers who fail to show up at departure of their troop units, and death by shooting in the breast for soldiers guilty of aggravated second offenses.

Mussolini decreed 5 to 15 years in prison for "any one who, failing to carry out obligations resulting from contract or monopoly, causes a shortage, wholly or in part, of things or works meant to meet the needs of the armed forces."

A mere delay in production of military needs would bring a sentence of 3 to 10 years.

In the case of fraud in the furnishing of military supplies the minimum penalty is 15 years, while a maximum penalty of life imprisonment can be applied if serious harm results to the welfare of the troops.

War tribunals were given jurisdiction to try the industrial and fraud cases.

Strikes already have been prohibited by Italy.

U. S. PLANES LACK RUGGED QUALITY, BRITONS DECLARE

Combat Bares Flaws, Say War Pilots.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

British flyers in the United States to take delivery of American warplanes say they have one serious criticism of planes built here—the ships are not rugged enough and do not stand up well in combat. The men who made these charges here yesterday all are combat flyers, the least experienced of whom has had 13 months' active service against the German air force.

Their charges, however, were answered immediately by American engineers and manufacturers, who asserted war records have shown American planes to be exceptionally well suited for combat service. The American spokesmen said an opinion differing widely from that of the British airmen has been stated by royal air force officials in charge of purchasing here.

Ruggedness First Essential.

The British airmen said the lessons of war flying indicate that ruggedness is the first essential of a bomber, long range patrol, or reconnaissance plane. They said these types of war planes can sacrifice speed, maneuverability, and even range [the ability to fly long distances] for inherent structural strength.

"I've been flying Lockheed Hudson bombers for more than a year," one of the pilots said. "They are beautiful ships—a pilot's dream—but they do not have the strength that the pilots who fly them would like.

"For anything except war flying they are superb, but when hit by shrapnel or antiaircraft fire the metal skin of the wings or fuselage is torn and curled. Big pieces often are gouged away by explosions. Then a tremendous vibration begins because the whole structure is weakened and the airstream gets to work on the torn edges. Sometimes even if nothing vital is hit this vibration forces a ship down—breaks oil, fuel, or electrical lines. Sometimes these bombers get home and sometimes they don't after such hits."

Construction Methods Cited.

The British airmen explained that the Lockheed plane is built with light internal structure covered by metal plates forming the "skin" of wings and hull. These plates carry a large proportion of the loads imposed by flight.

In particular, the Britons said, the Lockheed has a "monocoque" type of construction in the fuselage. This means there are no cross-bracing members and no heavy beams running the length of the fuselage. It is formed instead by joining a series of circular formers with the metal plates of the outside skin. The British said that when this outer skin is punctured or shot away the strength of the entire machine is critically affected.

Bert W. Holloway, a spokesman for the Lockheed Aircraft corporation at Burbank, Cal., said his company has received the most favorable of reports on the strength of the Hudson from British sources. He said files of the Royal Air Force are full of accounts of how Hudsons have limped home when shot up to such an extent that crews expected them to fall apart in the air.

"The keynote of all flyer comment on Hudson during last two years has been the ship's ability to stand up under fire and return safely home," Holloway said.

Orders Bolster Statements.

His statements are bolstered by the large quantity of orders placed by the British purchasing commission not only for the Hudson bombers—of which more than 500 are said to have been delivered—but also more recently for the slightly larger but identically built Lockheed Ventura bomber now in production for England.

Holloway said Lockheeds have become known in England as "flying sieves," because they stood up so well after being knocked about by shellfire. He produced photographs from British air force sources showing ships that came home after being hit many times and considerably damaged.

The British airmen here, however, said they liked the Vickers Wellington bomber better because it is of entirely different construction than the Lockheeds. The Wellington is made on the "geodetic principle," which utilizes curved metal strips crisscrossed according to a mathematical formula until they form a lattice work.

Forms Hull and Wings.

This lattice work forms the hull and the wings without any internal bracing. The air-loads are evenly distributed thruout the entire structure and the British airmen said the destruction of even large portions of this does not weaken the rest materially.

Asked about the reputation of American single seater fighters—particularly the Curtiss P-40s and Brewsters—the British airmen said these ships are considered to be underpowered and underarmed.

Engineers from both the Brewster and Curtiss companies say their latest planes are more heavily armed, are armored, and have motors producing higher horsepower than the early types now in service in England. These engineers said the latest American planes are equal, if not superior, to any fighting ships produced in the world.

Love Story Told

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. Leona Giordano as she appeared in court yesterday seeking temporary alimony.

When Mrs. Leona Giordano, 30 years old, appeared before Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday seeking temporary alimony from Anthony Giordano, 45, a novelty salesman, her husband's lawyers, Sidney Korshak and Edward S. King, called to the stand Giordano's nephew, Erco Lono, 28, of Brooklyn. Then while Mrs. Giordano wept and frequently shouted "Liar!" Lono calmly told of carrying on a love affair with Mrs. Giordano.

"It began at Coney Island. She told me to put my arm about her," said Lono. "I didn't want to but she said, 'You made of wood?' So I did. Another time I kissed her." They committed various indiscretions in New York and Chicago too, Lono testified, and that she had telephoned him last week in New York, warning him not to testify. "I came here, tho, and had to tell. My conscience is bothering me."

Mrs. Giordano denied any misconduct and said she had told Lono on the telephone not "to tell those lies." Judge Desort took the case under advisement and said he will issue a ruling after he receives a social service department report on the Giordano children, Patricia, 7, and Ralph, 6, now with Giordano. Mrs. Giordano lives at 936 North Wells street.

MAYOR CLOSES CLEANING PLANT OF HUMPHREYS

Acts in City's War Against Bat Slayers.

Letter Tells of Rivalry.

"On April 23 Anton Gorczak was beaten by two unidentified assailants," Courtney said in his letter to the mayor. "He died as a result of his injuries. Investigation by the police and my office disclosed that Gorczak, an employé of the Republic Cleaners, recently had taken business away from another cleaner, Klever-Shampay Karpet Kleaners, Inc."

The prosecutor said the Klever-Shampay business is transacted under the corporate name of Three Best Cleaners, Inc., and that this company never has obtained a permit to operate in the city.

"It's officials," Courtney's letter continued, "are:

"Samuel J. Ginsburg, also known as Sam Gaines, president, and owner of 19 shares.

"Emanuel Ginsburg, vice president, and owner of 10 shares.

"Mary Brendle, wife of Murray Humphreys, owner of 29 shares, and holder of the office of secretary of the corporation.

"Morris Gordon, director and associate of Humphreys, nominal owner of two shares, one of which was given to him by Mary Brendle and the other by Sam Ginsburg, at the request of Humphreys, so that Humphreys would have two directors and the Ginsburgs two directors.

Humphreys' Indictment Recalled.

"The 29 shares of stock held in the name of Mary Brendle and one of the shares held in the name of Gordon are owned by Humphreys, who served time in the federal penitentiary for violation of income tax laws. Humphreys recently was indicted with Nitti and others on charges growing out of an unlawful attempt to take over and control the bartenders' union in Chicago.

"Sam Ginsburg, also known as Gaines, was indicted in 1933, along with Humphreys and others, in connection with a conspiracy to dominate the cleaning and dyeing racket. Gaines never was brought to trial, being a fugitive from justice during the course of a four month trial. Humphreys, likewise, at the time, was a fugitive from justice.

"The ordinances of Chicago require that before a person can operate a cleaning and dyeing establishment he must receive a certificate of fitness, certifying among other things that he is of good moral character, which is a requirement by the city because of the extraordinary hazard connected with the operation of this class of business.

"Certainly Humphreys and his associates are not of good moral character, and we respectfully recommend that you use the powers vested in you by law to prevent the operation of this business in violation of law."

Health Requirements Cited.

Mayor Kelly also received a letter from Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, which said the Humphreys concern had not complied with city health requirements. The mayor made public the Courtney and Bundesen letters with the comment that police had closed the plant.

Courtney and his aids have been questioning scores of patrons and competitors of the Humphreys concern. Courtney said his inquiry and an examination of the Klever-Shampay company's books showed that Humphreys' wife drew a salary of $8,700 a year as secretary altho not working at the job.

The Ginsburgs drew slightly more, the prosecutor learned. Many checks examined by Assistant State's Attorneys Francis McCurrie and William Crawford showed that twice last October Emanuel Ginsburg cashed checks on the company's account in the amount of $7,000.

Concern Formed by Merger.

The company resulted from the merger of a number of south side cleaning and dyeing plants, the prosecutor said. Gordon operates a towel supply business dominated by Humphreys.

Courtney's inquiry showed that Al Capone had entered the cleaning and dyeing business and turned some of his interests over to Humphreys when he went to Alcatraz for income tax evasion.

The prosecutors recalled that shortly after Capone went to prison, Humphreys tried to take over the milk wagon drivers' union, then was named as the recipient of $50,000 ransom paid to free Robert Fitchie, president of the union, from kidnapers.

Some years ago Humphreys bought a home at 7710 Bennett avenue, where he is known as Ray Harris and where his baby recently was born. The home is a brick bungalow surrounded by an iron fence with a gate operated by an electric eye. Another eye operates the garage doors.

In the rear of the garage is a telephone connecting with the home, and anyone except Humphreys who tries to enter must be announced over this telephone.

Humphreys' troubles of recent date began last month, when Ben Alberts, a former cleaning and dyeing union official, was employed by new owners of the Republic company. Alberts, who was indicted with Humphreys and Ginsburg in 1932, was said to have ordered the drive to take customers away from the Humphreys company.

Yesterday Miss Sophie Vanagas, 1300 South 49th court, Cicero, bookkeeper for the Republic company, testified that Gorczak told her a few days before his death: "I'm going to stop taking work from Rubins." Rubins is the owner of the shop in which Gorczak was clubbed to death. Miss Vanagas said it was regarded as unhealthy in the industry to take business away from the Klever-Shampay company, and that Rubins had been one of their customers.

Humphreys was questioned last week about the slaying and denied knowing anything about it. He was freed on a writ of habeas corpus soon after being taken into custody.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

OBJECTS TO NEWS OF ICKES' ORDER TO OUST EDITOR

Alaska Publisher Calls Story 'Incorrect.'

Mrs. Helen Troy Bender of Juneau, Alaska, publisher of the Alaska Daily Empire, yesterday declared "incorrect" a story date lined April 12 from Juneau which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE the following day. The story stated that Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, once demanded that the editor of the Empire be fired for writing a critical editorial. The Empire, one of two newspapers in the territorial capital, is said to receive the lion's share of governmental printing orders.

Mrs. Bender's father, John W. Troy, was governor of Alaska by appointment of President Roosevelt at the time of the alleged press censorship incident in 1934. Ickes had just imposed a toll of $9.25 a ton on freight trucked over the Richardson highway from Valdez to Fairbanks in competition with the Alaska railroad, also controled by Ickes.

Highway Toll Assailed.

John E. Pegues, who was editor of the Empire from 1921 to 1935, wrote an editorial assailing the highway toll as a dictatorial measure of doubtful legality. He informed a Tribune reporter, recently in Alaska, that Ickes wrote to Gov. Troy demanding that he dismiss his editor. This information was confirmed by Mrs. Bender in a conversation with The Tribune reporter.

However, Mrs. Bender has sent a telegram to the newspaper reading:

"Tribune story of April 12 date line regarding Secretary Ickes incorrect. Reporter's source of information unreliable and his reference to me without justification. I specifically told him when he telephoned me that his information was not founded on fact."

Printing Contracts Mentioned.

Pegues had warned the reporter that Mrs. Bender could not be expected to coöperate in publicizing the incident because of Ickes' ability to influence printing contracts. Former Governor Troy, seriously ill for several years, had been taken to a hospital the day before and it was impossible for the reporter to interview him.

Asked by the reporter to comment on Ickes' demand that Pegues be fired, Mrs. Bender seemed nervous and reluctant to speak, but said: "You can easily imagine what I thought when I heard Ickes say in his radio debate with Frank Gannett that there is no freedom of the press. Perhaps he meant there would be none if he had his way." This was printed in The Tribune story of April 13.

Not included in the story was Mrs. Bender's answer to the reporter's request for the Ickes letter.

"I'm pretty sure it's in the official files of the governor's office," she said. "I'll call his secretary and tell her what you want."

The reporter went to the governor's office. Acting Governor Bob Bartlett reported after five minutes that the letter could not be found.

"Gov. Troy, Helen, and I had a conference when Ickes' letter was received," Pegues had told the reporter. "We decided that the best answer would be that my contract gave me editorial freedom and that's what the governor's letter to Ickes said."

WIDOW NAMES POSSIBLE FOES OF SLAIN EDITOR

Mrs. Dorothy Arena supplied Lieut. Charles Egan of the state's attorney's police yesterday with a list of possible enemies who might have been responsible for the murder of her husband, John F. Arena, editor of the Italian language newspaper, La Tribuna.

Arena was shot to death on April 15 as he left his automobile at Kenmore avenue and Irving Park road. Lieut. Egan said he would investigate to determine whether any of those named by the widow might have been implicated in Arena's death.

JURY SELECTED TO TRY HUSBAND IN LOVE SLAYING

A jury of four women and eight men was chosen yesterday to try Walter Appelt on a charge of murdering Joseph R. Lorenz, the man he suspected of stealing his wife's love. Testimony will be presented today before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Criminal court. Appelt, who is 32 years old and is an insurance salesman, is accused of shooting Lorenz to death March 10 on the sidewalk near Lorenz's apartment at 4521 Malden street. Lorenz, who was 46, was a chemical engineer. Appelt's wife, Waneta, is 28.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS NLRB IN 2 OF ITS RULINGS

Makes Six Glass Plants One Bargaining Unit.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The United States Supreme court, in a 5 to 3 decision, held today that the National Labor Relations board may impose collective bargaining representatives upon employés against their wishes, notwithstanding the right of workers under the Wagner act to select their own representatives.

In another labor board case the Supreme court divided, 5 to 2, in ruling that an employer may be forced to hire and give back pay to applicants for work who have been denied employment because of union membership.

All five New Deal members of the court concurred in an opinion by Justice Stanley F. Reed which affirmed an order of the labor relations board lumping the employés of all six plants of the flat glass division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company in a single bargaining unit.

C. I. O. Union Made Bargainer.

The board's order designated the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, a CIO union, as the bargaining representative of all six plants, altho 1,500 out of the 1,800 employés of the Crystal City, Mo., plant were members of an independent local union and did not choose to be represented by the CIO organization.

All three pre-New Deal members of the court—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Justice Owen J. Roberts, and Justice Harlan F. Stone—concurred in a dissenting opinion by Justice Stone holding that the order should be set aside because the labor board refused to give the local union an "appropriate hearing," or to receive evidence offered by the local union and the company.

First Direct Ruling.

The decision in the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company case was the first in which the court ruled directly on the question of imposing unwanted bargaining representatives upon employés. When the labor board lumped all the Pacific coast waterfront employés into a single bargaining unit and certified a CIO union as its representative, against the wishes of the workers in many localities where an AFL union had majorities, the Supreme court held that orders of the board designating appropriate bargaining units are not subject to direct court review.

The board's ruling was subject to challenge in the Pittsburgh Plate Glass case because of a subsequent unfair labor practice complaint which was predicated upon it. The company was found guilty of an unfair labor practice in refusing to bargain with the CIO federation as the representative of the Crystal City employés, who had chosen the Crystal City Glass Workers' union as their representative.

The labor board's order was too radical for one of its members, William M. Leiserson, who declared in a dissenting opinion that the decision was based upon an assumption that the Crystal City employés were incapable of making a proper choice of bargaining representatives.

Employés' Wishes Not Controling.

Justice Reed's opinion intimated that the wishes of the employés need not be the controling factor in the determination of collective bargaining representatives, notwithstanding the right of workers under the Wagner act to organize and bargain collectively thru "representatives of their own choosing."

The opinion stated that, "naturally, the wishes of employés are a factor in a board conclusion upon a bargaining unit." But it added that the wishes of employés "are to be weighted with the similarity of working duties and conditions, the character of the various plants and the anticipated effectiveness of the unit in maintaining industrial peace thru collective bargaining."

The attitude of the New Deal majority toward "maintaining industrial peace" was illuminated further on by the statement that, "an independent union at Crystal City, the board was justified in finding, would . . . enable the employer to use the plant there for continuous operation in case of stoppage o' labor at the other plants."

As to the refusal of the board to admit evidence regarding the wishes of the employés at the Crystal City plant, the majority opinion said their attitude was known to the board as a result of evidence received in a previous hearing. "Consequently the refusal to admit further evidence of the attitude of the workers is unimportant," the opinion said.

The dissenting opinion assailed the board's refusal to receive the evidence. The board, it said, "concedes that the Crystal City employés strongly preferred to be represented by the union. In refusing to attribute any weight to this fact the board found that their choice was not free, since it considered that the union . . . was company dominated.

"Whether the union and the employés were in fact dominated by the employer, and the nature of the bargaining relationship with the employer, were thus crucial issues in the case to be determined on evidence. And we are confronted with the extraordinary fact that the board has determined those issues without ever having heard any evidence on the subject. . . ."

Stone Delivers Both Dissents.

Justice Stone also delivered the dissenting opinion in the other labor board case, in which the five New Deal justices concurred in an opinion by Justice Felix Frankfurter ordering the Phelps Dodge corporation to employ two members of the International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers at its Cooper Queen mine, Bisbee, Ariz., and pay them wages running back to August, 1935. Chief Justice Hughes concurred in the Stone opinion, while Justice Roberts took no part in the case.

Two members of the union, named Curtis and Daugherty, had ceased to be employés of the company before a strike occurred in 1935. After the strike they sought and were denied employment.

"Reinstatement is the conventional correction for discriminatory discharges," said the Frankfurter opinion. "Experience having demonstrated that discrimination in hiring is twin to discrimination in firing, it would indeed be surprising if congress gave a remedy for the one which it denied for the other."

Powers Only Remedial.

But Justice Stone's opinion said the court had held that the board's authority to take "affirmative action" to "effectuate the policies of the act" is remedial and not punitive.

The dissenting opinion noted that the board's authority under the act to order "reinstatement" with "back pay" is limited to employés and persons whose employment has ceased in connection with a labor dispute. It adds that "an authority to order reinstatement is not an authority to compel the employer to reinstate as his employés those whom he has never employed, and an authority to award 'back pay' to reinstated employés is not an authority to compel payment of wages to applicants for employment whom the employer never was bound to hire.

"Authority for so unprecedented an exercise of power is not lightly to be inferred."

Seek Circus Queen Title

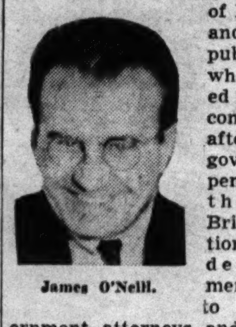
Planning Party

A daring young man on a flying trapeze would come in handy tomorrow night when the 399 performers and employés of the Greater Olympia circus, now in its final week at the Chicago Stadium, hold a party in the Stevens hotel. Because some one has to pick the queen of the ball from among six finalists for the title. Lacking the daring young man, however, the selection will be made by Del Courtney, hotel orchestra leader; Maurice Seymour, photographer, and Terrell Jacobs, wild animal trainer. The queen candidates include an equiestrienne, two acrobats, two aerialists, and a daring young woman from the flying trapeze.

BALKY WITNESS IN BRIDGES CASE QUIZZED BY U.S.

San Francisco, Cal., April 28 [Special].—James O'Neill, a close friend of Harry Bridges and former CIO publicity man, who was arrested Saturday on a contempt charge after ignoring a government subpena, today took the stand in Bridges' deportation hearing and denied statements attributed to him by government attorneys and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.



James O'Neill.

O'Neill was one of the last witnesses scheduled to be called by the government in its second attempt to deport Bridges, alien CIO director of California, to his native Australia. O'Neill emphatically denied he had told FBI men last October, and Prosecutor Albert Del Guercio as recently as Tuesday night, that he had walked into Bridges' private office one day and seen the CIO leader "pasting assessment stamps in a communist party book."

O'Neill is free on $2,500 bail pending his appearance Wednesday before Federal Judge Harold Louderback, on the contempt charge.

Schenck and Moskowitz Appeal Tax Convictions

New York, April 28 (AP).—Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, and Joseph H. Moskowitz, his eastern representative, appealed today their conviction of income tax evasion. A notice of appeal, filed in federal court, was expectedto defer their surrender, set for May 12, to serve prison terms. Schenck is under three years' sentence and Moskowitz, a year and a day.

BREAKS ARM; COMPLICATIONS FATAL. George Minor, 52 years old, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., a locomotive engineer, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital of complications which developed from an arm fracture suffered while at work last January in the Cedar Rapids yards of the Rock Island railroad.

UPHOLDS NEGRO IN HIS RIGHT TO PULLMAN SEAT

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The Supreme court held today that Negroes traveling from one state to another are entitled to railroad accommodations equal to those furnished white persons.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the decision on a test case brought by Representative Arthur W. Mitchell [D., Ill.], the only Negro member of congress. No dissent was announced.

Mitchell contended that he had been forcibly ejected from a Pullman car in Arkansas, while traveling from Chicago to Hot Springs in 1937, and had been compelled to complete the journey "in a Jim Crow car with second class accommodations.

Question of Equal Treatment.

"This," Hughes asserted, "was manifestly a discrimination against him in the course of his interstate journey and admittedly that discrimination was based solely upon the fact that he was a Negro.

"The question whether this was a discrimination forbidden by the interstate commerce act is not a question of segregation but one of equality of treatment."

The chief justice said that because segregation was not involved the court had no occasion to consider the questions discussed by the attorneys general of 10 states in a brief filed with the Supreme court.

No Effect on Jim Crow Law.

The brief contended that the litigation did not involve constitutionality of the Arkansas separate coach law as applied to interstate commerce.

Mitchell's petition for equal rights was dismissed by the interstate commerce commission and by the northern Illinois federal District court. The justice department sided with Mitchell and against the ICC.

Counsel for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, on whose train Mitchell rode, said the practice was to place Negroes having Pullman tickets in a compartment and charging them only seat fare. The compartment had been sold out on this particular day, it was explained.

The demand by Negroes for Pullman facilities was described by the railway attorney as "virtually nonexistent."

MR. CHURCHILL EXPLAINS AND SUGGESTS.

Mr. Churchill's Sunday speech was a recognition of the fact that his government owed an explanation to the empire and to its sympathizers to account for the most recent military reverses in Africa and in Greece. No one can explain failure better than Mr. Churchill and no one can give the bright side of a dark picture more convincingly. He does it without seeming to sidestep the serious aspects or to offer any illusions regarding the future.

The prime minister admitted that the German attack upon the reduced army of the Nile in Libya was in greater force than had been expected, and he said that Gen. Wavell's force had been small even before it was reduced by the expedition sent to the aid of the Greeks. One point made in his remarks should not be lost in considering what he said. He did not intend that it should be.

He said that the British people could lose battles and they could be defeated in campaigns, but that all was lost if they lost honor. A pledge had been given Greece. It was mandatory when Hitler, from his new jumping off places in the Balkans, struck at the Greeks, victorious over the Italians. British soldiers had to go to their assistance even if the enterprise were to be considered dangerous and as offering little hope of success, without help from other quarters.

Churchill here probably referred to Turkey, and may have referred to Russia. These expectations failed for reasons which would become known later. There has been criticism in London, typified by that from Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, that campaigns which invite disaster should not be undertaken. If purely military reasons did not justify giving battle at any particular place, at any time, other reasons should not prevail. Soldiers and materials should not be sacrificed on a point of honor when nothing would come of the maneuver except losses, with no commensurate benefit to the people in whose behalf the attempt was made. Modern wars are not won in battles where all is lost save honor.

Mr. Churchill was speaking probably more to the American people than he was to the people of the British empire. He owed the latter an explanation and a clearing up of doubts. He knew that a special word was needed in Australia and New Zealand, whose troops had taken so conspicuous a part in the fighting in Greece, but he also had his mind on developments in this country. Therefore he emphasized the point that the British went in because they had pledged themselves to support the Greeks in the attempt to defeat Hitler.

That was to suggest to the American people that the American government has pledged itself to the aid of Great Britain in the same cause. Mr. Roosevelt has demanded the defeat of Hitler. Mr. Churchill has used no words more condemnatory of the Nazis than Mr. Roosevelt's words. The inference intended to be drawn from Mr. Churchill's explanation of a forlorn attempt was as plain as a direct statement of his meaning. He said he expected to get more help from the United States and that help must be given in the battle to free the Atlantic from the menace to supplies.

The point of honor which governed Mr. Churchill in Greece is supposed to govern Mr. Roosevelt and Americans who have repeated Mr. Roosevelt's pledges and have agreed with his opinions. Mr. Churchill calls for payment on promises.

That suggestion went to the United States. Another one went to Russia. If Brother Stalin had an interpreter listening in he would learn directly that Herr Hitler would soon plan to increase his food resources by taking the Ukraine. Red Josef may have had his eye on that possibility as well as on several others which are not wholly pleasing. But he also might think that the prime minister was naive in making another attempt to drive a wedge between the jointly deceitful Nazi and soviet brothers in arms.

When all that Mr. Churchill had to say about the British promises of aid to Greece had been said, it still remained to be observed that such promises invariably have led to the destruction of the countries to which they were given. At no time has the promise been accompanied by the ability to perform. If patriotic resistance to war propaganda had been less courageous, American troops might now be lying with the sacrificed Anzacs.

Not until the archives are opened will it be known how many disastrous decisions have been made upon false assumptions and unreliable pledges. In this country we do not know how much responsibility attaches to our own government. We don't know what assurances Poland was given before the war started and shall not know until Mr. Bullitt's diplomatic career has become an open book and until the records of the White House and the state department have been opened for study. Documents found in the Polish archives have been denounced as forgeries, but that is a diplomatic practice. When the disclosures are incriminating, the truth comes out later.

This war is a fabric of perfidy and discredited pledges. It is a tragedy of bad faith and of illusions. Hitler made agreements and pledges which he did not intend to honor; his opponents made promises which they were not able to keep. The two systems, the use of deception as a preparation for attack and of self-deception as a preparation for defense, have put nearly all of continental Europe under the heel and have produced a great tragedy of civilization.

Are we to plunge into it?

COL. LINDBERGH REPLIES TO MR. ROOSEVELT.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has resigned as a colonel in the United States Army Air Corps Reserve. He sent his resignation to the secretary of war and explained why he did so in a letter to Mr. Roosevelt. To Mr. Roosevelt the colonel said he had hoped he might exercise his rights as an American citizen to place his viewpoint before the people of the country in time of peace without giving up the privilege of serving his country as an air corps officer in the event of war.

"But since you, in your capacity as President of the United States and commander-in-chief of the army," Lindbergh wrote, "have clearly implied that I am no longer of use to this country as a reserve officer, and in view of other implications that you, my President and my superior officer, have made concerning my loyalty to my country, my character, and my motives, I can see no honorable alternative to tendering my resignation as colonel in the United States Air Corps Reserve."

Mr. Roosevelt told the reporters last week that Col. Lindbergh had not been called for active service because the army had no place for Vallandighams. Vallandigham was a northern traitor in the Civil war. Mr. Roosevelt's remarks in stigmatizing Col. Lindbergh as a traitor to his country must have been resented by all fair minded people and by everybody who was not unbalanced by passions.

No man of honor could submit to such reflections upon his loyalty and upon his character and, as Col. Lindbergh said, he had no alternative. He was forced to resign, and the air corps having refused to take advantage of the services of America's most intelligent and best informed aviator now loses him, at least for the duration of this precarious peace. It may be that Mr. Roosevelt has made it impossible for Col. Lindbergh to serve his country as he desired, even in time of war.

These are costly consequences to flow from intemperate and unjust remarks. Mr. Roosevelt's habit is to question the character of any citizen, no matter how devoted, who opposes his foreign policy. He endeavors to close debate by calling the opposition silly, uninformed, dishonorable, and treasonable. The country is at peace in theory, if not in fact. The rules of conduct which apply in wartime are not imperative now. It is, rather, imperative that there should be full and free discussion of issues before decisions are made.

Mr. Roosevelt's practices in trying to stop this discussion fall short of continental European practices only in lacking the secret police, the neighborhood spy, and the concentration camp.

Col. Lindbergh has the congressional medal of honor. That is another reply to Mr. Roosevelt.

SICKNESS IN THE DOCTOR'S OFFICE.

The Wagner act declares it to be the policy of the government to encourage "full freedom of association by employés and the designation of representatives of their own choosing for the purpose of negotiating terms and conditions of employment."

The National Labor Relations board was created to administer the law. The employés of the NLRB, feeling that they ought to set the example, promptly organized themselves a union and are proceeding to "negotiate terms and conditions of employment," wherever an occasion to do so arises.

The union of the NLRB employés is taken seriously by some of the members, and one of them brings the word that the board is a tough employer. He says the employés have several grievances against the board. For one thing, the employer has insisted upon his right to give salary advances to one of a given occupational group without giving the same consideration to all in the group. This is said to break down the control of the union over its members, with the result that they look to the board rather than to the union to improve their status.

Union members further complain that in making promotions among its employés the board has not strictly applied seniority rules. Board members are said to regard the union position on both points as unreasonable.

The situation has not yet become serious, but if a settlement of the issues cannot be made as a result of conference between the board and its employés, congressional action may be necessary. Possibly the board and its employés would consent to mediation by some impartial agency, such as the National Manufacturers' association.

THEATRICAL PARADOX.

[Washington Evening Star.]

The inroads of movies, radio, and even bingo, are supposed to have the theater punch drunk, in need of stronger stimulants than the comparatively mild "dish night" of the screen.

Just in time, it seems, comes something new to the drama; the "therapeutic theater" at Beacon Hill, N. Y., for husbands and wives suffering from a slight overdose of matrimony. The manager is a psychiatrist, and on his stage amateur actors and actresses, really husbands and wives, reënact their domestic rumpuses before an audience of professionals—each, however, having a stranger playing the rôle of actual mate, followed by a diagnosis or criticism from the audience.

Of course, no woman is going to cut loose her full fury against a handsome doctor taking the place of her unromantic husband, and merely simulating the dropping of ashes on the floor and the commission of other domestic crimes. Nor is any man worthy of the name going to be too hard on a pretty nurse pinch hitting for his bitter half. The acting is likely to be poor, well below the exacting standards of the Great White Way, but it has one feature that would delight the souls of Broadway producers—the actors not only cost nothing, but actually pay for the privilege.

An Ohio columnist remarks that it's been years since he's seen a button hook—which evidently proves that his wife has never made him wear spats with his morning coat, if any.—Christian Science Monitor.

For some of the starker fiction we have thought that the author might say in his foreword, "Any resemblance of any character herein to a living person is unlikely."—Detroit News.

THE FAMILIAR SCENE.

Art Institute: The bronze lions have been on guard before its portals since 1893, and the place seems changeless to passers-by, but it has been growing thru the years, nevertheless, as a tree grows in silent strength. It has bridged the railroad tracks, burrowed underground, thrust out unseen branches for a theater and a school. A small museum but our own? Well, its floor space may be less than that of the Metropolitan or the Louvre, but if you try to cover it all in one afternoon's walk, you will be fairly well worn down.

The people who come here seem to be at peace with themselves and sharers in the serenity of the place. Their manners, moreover, are the best that any cross-section of Chicago can show. . . . Maybe this thing called Art has got something; anyway, it has the dignity of silence. . . . In the lecture hall Dudley Crafts Watson is holding forth on scenes in Paris. "Go in and hear him," suggests the guard. "Good old Dudley, he's the life of the party."

Wrigley Field: No matter what the sports pages say, a championship is won here every season, for this is the best-groomed and most picturesque baseball park in the land. The reporters and radio announcers in their private coops miss the cream of it, for the neglected box seats on the upper deck give a superb panoramic view. Up there, it's like being at the masthead of a ship, with the sky and the wind as playmates. On a warm Sunday afternoon, when the outfield bleachers, terraced like an Aztec temple, are crowded, the massing of blue and white shirts has the effect of an impressionist painting, and deserves the attention of a color camera. . . . And the Cubs, in their Russian ballet suits? Well, we quit them at the end of the seventh inning in a mood of despair.

METHODIST TEMPLE.

City streets are gray and cold,
Fear and hunger stalk thereon;
Life is hard and sin is old,
Dark as ways of Babylon . . .
Girded with the sun's first gold
You reach up into the dawn.

Night bestows a jeweled crown . . .
Still the hurrying throng goes by;
Heads are bent and eyes look down,
Heeding not the light on high;
Shining out above the town,
Your spire glorifies the sky.

O, ye that sorrow, ye that rue,
Lift up your eyes and hope anew.

The Duke Defends Honest Harold.

Hon. Linemaster: Your noozpaper has just got to quit this "Kickie our Icke" game. Our Sec. of the Int. admits that Lindbergh did show a bit of daring in his jaunt across the pond excursion, but then again that aint to be compared with Harold's wild-game hunting. I understand that one night he went out on an exploit and came home disgusted—he wanted tha deuces plus the red jacks to be wild and the other men on the expedition kiboshed the red jacks.

Your paper also calls him a shyster lawyer but doesn't give him credit for being a brilliant notary public. Then you claim that his bar associates say he was a tin-horn—well that aint so because how can a guy buy a round if he's leaning on the bar with one elbow and scratching his dandruff with his other mit.

It seems our boy friend was always thinking of his practice and the finer points of law. A bartender once told me that the gent was so engrossed in a certain case that when he was asked as to what he liked best for a chaser, he absentmindedly said, "An ambulance."

Another squawk is your insinuating that Harold finds it possible to keep up a showy Maryland estate on $15,000 a yr. Capone kept up a place 6 times as big in Florida and he proved [nearly] that he wasn't making 15 grand.

Why dont you birds check up an see what great things Harold is doing for Alaska? When the natives told him they coodn' use any more electric current from the government he showed em darn quick that they had to have it or else how cood their kids run their electric trains next Xmas, and just look what he's gonna do for those eskimos up in Greenland in tha way of daylight savings. I think only a master mind cood figure out that they should make their night 5 months long instead of 6.

You just got to realize that if a man in public office with brilliant associates like Hopkins and Willkie and Eleanor to confer with, he just cant do anything except that which is best for the common wealth, and from here on in I'm insisting that you give the gent a decent break.

"A Gentleman from the Transcript."

So the Boston Evening Transcript is closing up shop! [April 28.] The state house dome will glitter in the summer sun; clerks out in their shirt sleeves for a noonday stroll will feed the pigeons on the Common; children will ride again on the swan boats under the bridge in the Public Garden; but the old gentleman who proceeds methodically up the diagonal walk to Beacon street will have no thin roll of genteel journalism under his arm. . . . And with the Transcript will go the polite joke about the Back Bay notable, approached at home by four representatives of four Boston newspapers.

"Who is there, Jimpson?" he inquired.

NOXIOUS FUMES AND GASES IN INDUSTRY.

OUR mounting industrial activity cannot escape added instances of poisoning. Such episodes—if they occur—will come from substances used in plant operations. We all have a tendency to become careless and it may be that in the rush of production minor but important precautions will be neglected. The skin must be protected against paints, glazes, and solvents. At the same time noxious gases, vapors, and fumes should not be inhaled.

One of the well known chemicals utilized in manufacturing is carbon disulfide. Physicians have long pointed out that air impregnated with the fumes of this heavy, pungent liquid may cause peculiar reactions. Recent reports from an eastern viscose factory, engaged in the preparation of artificial silk, sets forth that 40 women employed in the reeling room developed symptoms of epidemic hysteria. Those afflicted became greatly excited and indulged in fits of screaming, with muscular contortions. Their antics would continue until collapse ensued, with temporary unconsciousness. A few victims became maniacal.

Here was a puzzling state of affairs. Had a supernatural power "bedeviled" these persons [as some of the workers insisted] or was there a tangible physical cause?

An examination of the suspected quarters was ordered. The chemist who started to collect the samples, and who was accustomed to odors of all sorts, complained that he felt sick. A rather severe seizure, with nausea and vomiting, drove him outside. So ill was he that he was unable to complete the tests. His assistant finally obtained the necessary material, and large quantities of carbon disulfide vapor were found. This fact explained fully the distressing manifestations. It is well recognized that a relatively small percentage in the atmosphere can bring on the discomforts described.

A powerful exhaust fan was installed, with the fresh air intake so situated that none of the discarded products could return to the factory. Even then, on certain days, it was necessary to speed up the ventilating apparatus as winds from one direction had a tendency to drive the gas back into the building.

Another well known compound, carbon tetrachloride [our ordinary fire extinguisher liquid] is likewise popular in industry. It is one of the best de-greasing agents we have. Naphtha, which is equally effective, is highly inflammable and—under special conditions—may be responsible for an explosion. For this reason a foreman may mix naphtha with enough tetrachloride to reduce the fire hazard. But suppose the ventilation is inadequate. Fumes may permeate a room, pollute the atmosphere, and finally reach the lungs of the occupants.

Now and then, without realizing what is wrong, employés will be obliged to fight off a sense of nausea—perhaps vomiting and distress. If the absorption rate is high, there will be no immediate abatement in the effects. They will increase gradually even to the point where the nervous system will become involved.

The only safe plan is to place the de-greasing department in a separate, open structure, quite apart from the main shop. In any event, a strong blow fan will be required to eliminate any possible trace of the chemical.

Only a minimal amount of attention and the exercise of common sense will be needed to decrease industrial hazards practically to zero. If intoxicating vapors are produced, forced drafts to the exterior will safeguard all concerned.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA.

CECIL RHODES AND "UNION NOW."

Gulfport, Miss., April 24.—Union Nowism is an offshoot of New Dealism, with all of New Dealism's intrinsic crackpottery. The "Four Freedoms" and Henry Luce's "The American Century" were coined in the same mint of political lunacy. Cervantes' hero never conceived so wild a vision in his life.

Both New Dealism and Union Nowism have an Oxonian spiritual taproot and are consequently latter-day Loyalist, not American. The New-Dealer-in-Chief had his academic fashioning in this country but in the most English school we have. Mr. Luce, born in China, was a Rhodes scholar. Mr. Streit, another zealous Union Nower, born in Missouri, was also a Rhodes scholar. Oxonianism is of the fiber of all these entertainers of unexampled fantasies.

But the really extraordinary fact about these ex-Rhodes scholars is that they are not Rhodesian at all. Oxonian they are: Rhodesian they are not. Oxford's political vision is that of a world subordinate to Britain, America by no means excepted. Cecil John Rhodes' vision was that of a British-German-American political leadership looking to equality of opportunity among the nations and thru it to permanent peace.

As a London correspondent I interviewed Cecil Rhodes during one of his trips home from South Africa, in 1901, the year before his death. Of political ideologies Mr. Rhodes said not a word. He talked of "crushing" no one nor anything. He talked of manhood, honor, sympathy, civilized behavior as the big things among men. If he believed in British-German-American leadership he did so because he thought it would guide the world not in the direction of any sort of international bullying or bossism but in the direction of understanding, friendship, fairness, and established order among the nations.

And yet Oxonianism and Rhodes scholarships issue today in the Four Freedoms and Union Nowism, both contemplating nothing but indefinite war and final futility. EDWARD PRICE BELL.

PICKING ON GOLDFISH.

Chicago, April 23.—Yesterday my mother went out to the yard to feed her goldfish. She found that some of the large rocks from the nearby rock garden had been thrown into the pool and her pets of almost three years had all been killed or injured.

I nominate for the title of "the meanest person in the world" the moron responsible for that bit of vandalism, and I hope further, that he chokes over his breakfast in the near future.

JOBS AT HOUSEWORK.

Chicago, April 23.—In the April 21 edition there was an editorial saying domestic jobs are going begging..

Just where are these jobs and how does a colored woman of excellent character, a normal school and domestic science graduate, go about getting one? I have had no steady employment since last October when I was taken off WPA. Believe me, if I could get one of these jobs I would give my best, as I have done since I started working, at the age of 12. V. H. M.

OPPOSES APPEASEMENT.

New York, April 24.—As each bomb adds to the horror and destruction of London we in America can see the results of an appeasement policy adopted by the British toward the growing menace of Hitler's Nazis. A happy Germany they thought would be a peaceful Germany, therefore appease.

Shall we, too, follow the appeasers or shall we be courageous and accept risks in order to rid the world of this barbaric force so that we may continue to live as free people and not as an armed camp awaiting attack? CHARLES WOLFERT.

HELPFUL NEWSBOY.

Chicago, April 21.—When we look about us and read and hear of war, hunger, and misery sweeping all over the world, it is refreshing to come in contact with real human kindness.

Last week, about 8:30 in the morning, a Tribune newsboy named Paul, who is about 60 years of age, helped about 200 school children, ranging in ages from 6 to 16, across Addison street at Meade avenue. This point is one of the busiest corners in the city.

NOISY GARBAGE COLLECTION.

Chicago, April 22.—What are other Chicagoans doing about that damnable noise now being created during the middle of the night by city garbage collectors?

At 4:30 a. m. today city collectors were making the usual collection in the alley between Springfield and Hamlin, or in the rear of the 3800 block on Addison. Falling cans, broken glass, loud talking, and that unholy sound a shovel can make at 4:30 a. m., should be stopped. What do others do about it? R. P. B.

SUBSTANTIALLY CORRECT.

Mount Prospect, Ill., April 23.—I have been told that the boys in Canada are only under a three months' draft period and not subject to services overseas unless they wish to volunteer for such service. Also that Canada is being paid cash for goods sent to England, while we are making donations.

A DRAFTEES' MOTHER.

DO INTERVENTIONISTS FEAR A REFERENDUM?

Marquette, Mich., April 22.—If this country be a democracy, why can't the people be heard with respect to war or no war? Of course, all of us would repel an invader. But, going over to make war on foreign soil is something else. If the President really wished to be guided by the majority of the people he could and would devise some feasible plan so that America could speak and speak unmistakably. There's not a shadow of doubt that, overwhelmingly, the people don't want to send their boys abroad at this time. Why then won't those in authority hear? It's an easy matter to call names—to insult the intelligence and patriotism of such men as Col. Lindbergh, Senators Nye and Wheeler and others. But it's quite another to present proof that intervention is the only and right thing. Why not have a referendum? ARTHUR J. RICHARDSON.

WHAT HAVE WE?

TITLE TO PROPERTY.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father-in-law died leaving no will. He left property consisting of five empty lots in Chicago. The taxes on this property have not been paid since his death in 1928.

1. Could I gain a clear title to this property if I pay these back taxes?
2. Would a quitclaim deed from my mother-in-law help?
3. There are four children, including my wife, all under age.
4. Can this property be sold for taxes by the city?
5. If I pay these taxes would I have a claim on this property after the children become of age? B. L.

1. You are not an heir of your father-in-law. You do not state whether your wife has died, and if so, whether she survived her father.
2. If under such a deed you go into possession and pay the taxes for seven years this might give you a limitation title. Otherwise probate would be necessary in order to produce a ready salable title.
3. This would supersede No. 2 since the statute of limitation would not run against the minors.
4. Yes.
5. You could not acquire a clear salable title in this way. We advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney before undertaking any such a project.

COMPLETE PLANS TOMORROW FOR SHARING LILACS

Garden Clubwomen Will Meet at Luncheon.

Garden club presidents and guild chairmen affiliated with the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild will meet at a luncheon tomorrow to complete plans for Chicago's 13th annual Share Your Lilacs campaign. More than 150 women representing 81 garden clubs are expected to attend the luncheon at 12:30 p. m. at the Carson Pirie Scott tearoom.

The Share Your Lilacs campaign is sponsored each year by the guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Lilacs are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the shut-ins of the city's hospitals and institutions. Last year 82,400 bouquets were distributed to 23,000 patients in 147 institutions.

Gathered by 81 Clubs.

The lilacs are gathered thru the voluntary efforts of the members of the 81 suburban garden clubs coöperating with the guild. They are delivered to railroad stations, from which they are transported free to terminal stations in the city. There Tribune trucks pick up the blooms for distribution thruout the city.

Among the speakers at tomorrow's luncheon will be Shailer Mathews, dean emeritus of the divinity school of the University of Chicago; Miss Mary Amberg, resident director of Madonna center; Gen. Manus McCloskey, warden of Cook county hospital, and Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident of the Northwestern university settlement.

The meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Stanley D. Grace, general division chairman for the guild. Also present will be T. V. Purcell, president of the guild, and Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker, president of the Garden Clubs of Illinois.

Report Bumper Crop.

Reports from suburban areas indicate that the present crop of lilac blossoms will be the largest in a number of years. Warm weather and sunshine have rushed the blooms along.

Members of the garden clubs, the presidents, and guild chairmen will be invited to attend a radio broadcast over W-G-N on the evening of May 8. A new program will be given its first hearing at that time.

RESCUE 13 FROM COLOMBIA ARMY PLANE; 1 DROWNS

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 28 (AP).—All but one of the 14 occupants of a trimotored Colombian army transport plane which made a forced landing in the deep jungle six days ago were rescued today by a launch which threaded its way up the Putumayo river to the site of the crash.

Mechanic Luis Blanco, the rescue party reported by radio, drowned when he attempted to swim the river to get help. Six other occupants were injured. Jungle experts said all must have suffered extreme hardships.

The plane left Caucaya [Puerto Leguisamo] last Tuesday on a 500 mile flight to Tarapaca, in the southeast corner of Colombia. Searching planes located the downed machine Friday, but it was impossible to land safely.

Kamerman previously had refused to return the child, for whose care he was paid, and was trying to adopt him.

Judge Frank Bicek.

In making his ruling Judge Bicek said that according to the evidence the Kamermans hadn't tried to adopt the child until the bureau asked for his return, and that they had been willing to permit other persons to adopt him.

The child, 2½ year old Donald Pressburger, was taken from the court by agents of the children's bureau, and placed immediately in a new foster home. The bureau previously had informed Kamerman that it thought another foster home would be preferable for the child.

Kamerman Comments.

Kamerman, reached at his home, was asked about the decision. He said:

"A lot of abuse has been heaped upon us which isn't true. They can do what they want to me. I can take it. But I didn't want it taken out on a 2 year old. I had Donald examined by two psychiatrists who said he was fit for adoption, and I have been planning to adopt him for months.

"I wouldn't have stood in the way of any one wanting to give him a home, simply because I wasn't sure that he would be given to me. But I hunted for the mother to get her consent to the adoption by us. I'm still going into County court with the adoption petition. We're supposed to appear there tomorrow."

Dispute Over Mentality.

Conflicting testimony concerning Donald was heard by Judge Bicek yesterday as a psychiatrist for one side described him as "brighter than average" and bureau officials said examinations by their medical staff showed him to be "mentally retarded."

Dr. Michael Koenig, a psychiatrist testifying for the Kamermans, called Donald above average and said he found no maladjustment between the child and the environment of the Kamerman home. On cross-examination by Attorney Lazarus Krinsley, president of the children's bureau, Dr. Koenig admitted that he is a cousin of Kamerman's wife, Sarabel.

Krinsley said the bureau's pediatrician, Dr. Rudolph Hess; Dr. Maxwell Gitelson, a psychiatrist, and Dr. Samuel J. Beck, psychologist, all of Michael Reese hospital, had examined tests given Donald and found him to be backward and not at present ready for adoption.

Kamerman, a University of Chicago graduate, said the bureau informed him by letter that his home was "culturally and educationally too good for the child." The Kamermans live in a 10 room house at 220 Linden avenue, Wilmette.

The bureau officials asserted the relation between the bureau and Kamerman was that of employer and employé. The Kamermans are paid $40 monthly for caring for Donald.

Donald was sought for adoption recently by Dr. Hans Albert Einstein II., son of the famous mathematician. The bureau also said that the Kamermans were willing to permit another couple to adopt Donald, but that the bureau would not allow it.

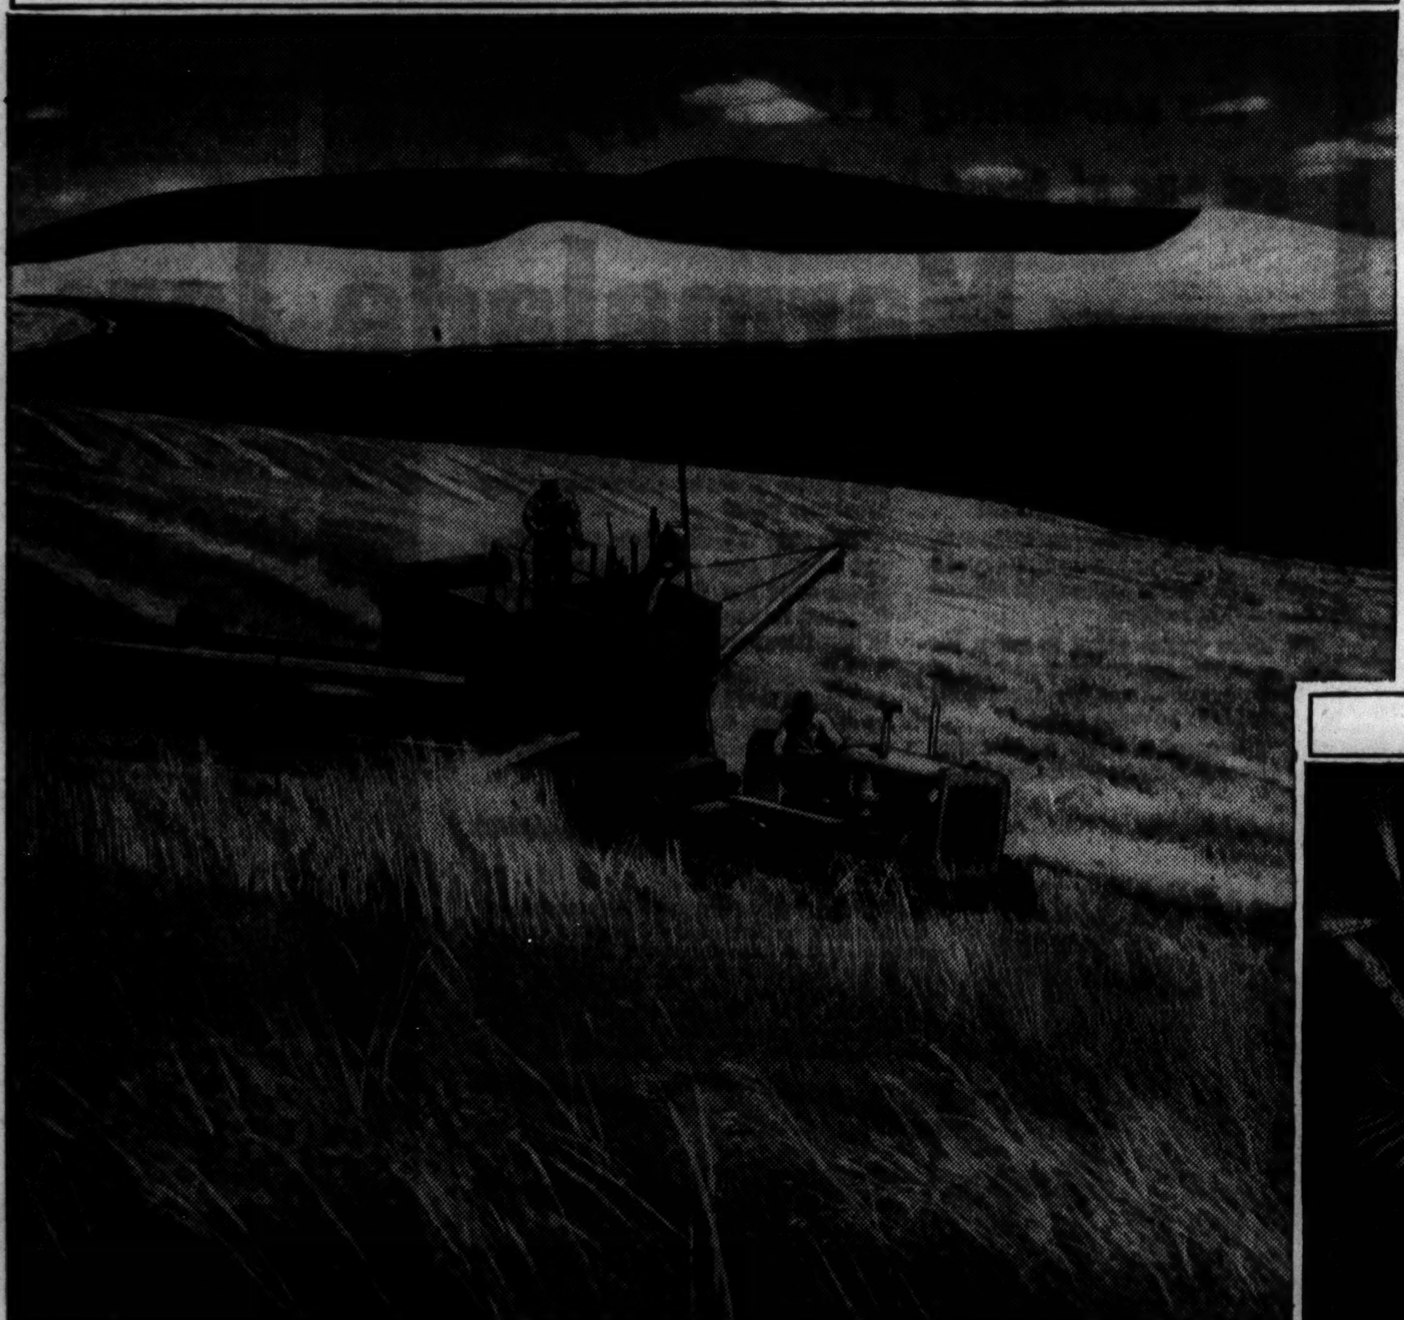
MADE FROM ONE OF THE WORLD'S SOFTEST WHEATS



Copyright, 1941, by Kellogg Company

LOOK WHAT'S HAPPENED TO KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—the natural laxative cereal that a million people eat every day.

NOW IT'S DOUBLY DELICIOUS! It is made of finer quality bran from one of the world's softest wheats. The improved ALL-BRAN is bright as shreds of gold—and so light and crisp! Ask your grocer for it today.

Americans expect a good product to keep on getting better through the years. That's why Kellogg's grain buyers, who buy more grain for ready-to-eat breakfast cereals than any other men in the world, have been seeking a wheat that would add new goodness to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

A few months ago, they found it growing in the sunny valleys of the Pacific Coast states, and in a few midwestern and eastern areas.

It's one of the world's finest and softest wheats — used for especially fine pastry flour.

Put through ALL-BRAN'S cooking and toasting ovens, the bran from this wheat came out bright as shreds of gold—and lighter, crisper, more delicately flavored than any we had used in 20 years of making this famous cereal.

And now the improved and more delicious ALL-BRAN is at your grocer's. If you or other members of your family are troubled with constipation due to lack of proper "bulk" in the diet, try the improved ALL-BRAN. It is just as effective as ever — but doubly delicious. But be sure to eat it regularly; it takes a little time for best results. Make it your steady breakfast cereal, drink plenty of water and see if you don't forget all about constipation due to lack of "bulk."

ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. It is sold by grocers everywhere.

LIGHTER! CRISPER! TRY IT FOR TOMORROW'S BREAKFAST

U. OF I. TRUSTEES ASK $17,955,176 BIENNIAL BUDGET

Seek More than in Last 2 Years; Meeting Secret.

The board of trustees of the University of Illinois, meeting in the Blackstone hotel, voted yesterday to ask the legislature to appropriate $17,955,176 for the biennium beginning July 1, a reduction of $500,000 from the budget previously submitted to the state department of finance.

James M. Cleary, board president, refused admission to the meeting to reporters, stating that the closed meetings were customary.

Higher Than Estimate.

Despite the secret nature of the board's deliberations the following account of the meeting was obtained: The proposed $17,955,176 budget, altho $500,000 below last October's proposal, remains higher than the $17,467,189 budget suggested by the budgetary commission and submitted by Gov. Green to the general assembly. It compares with an appropriation of $17,131,536 for the current biennium.

A proposal of Homer Mat Adams, trustee, that the board stick by its October proposal, was voted down 4 to 3. Park C. Livingston then recommended that the board accept the budgetary commission figure. O. M. Karraker offered an amendment suggesting that the university reduce its original demand by $500,000.

Adams offered another amendment under which the trustees would have reduced their original $18,455,176 request by only $300,000. This amendment was defeated and the Karraker amendment was finally accepted.

How Trustees Voted.

Trustees Livingston and Chester R. Davis, Republicans, were the only board members opposing the Karraker amendment. Approving it were Karraker, Cleary, Adams, Mrs. Helen Matthews Grigsby, and Frank M. Jensen, all Democrats except Mrs. Grigsby. Dr. Karl A. Meyer, a Democrat, left the meeting early, but declared himself in favor of the $500,000 compromise. John R. Fornof, Republican, did not attend.

Cleary said the entire $500,000 reduction would come out of the university's operating budget. Of the $17,955,176 total, $13,428,542 would come from state revenues, $326,634 from federal funds, and $4,200,000 from the university's income from student fees, residence halls and farms.

Prof. Frederick S. Siebert, a member of the journalism school faculty since 1936, was appointed head of the school. At present he is visiting professor in the Medill school of journalism at Northwestern university. Dr. Charles E. Hatch, professor of operative dentistry at Tufts college, was named head of that department in the University of Illinois college of dentistry in Chicago.

SEPARATION SUIT FAILS TO BAR DIVORCE AWARD

Judges of the Superior and Circuit courts have turned down innumerable petitions for divorces in recent years because either the husband or the wife had a suit pending when the other began litigation. Judge Rudolph Desort upset this precedent yesterday when he awarded Charles Baran, village clerk of Crestwood, a divorce from his wife, Mary.

Judge Desort.

The Barans were married October 29, 1938, and separated June 25, 1939. Five months later Mrs. Baran filed suit for separate maintenance, charging cruelty. While this was pending Baran filed for a divorce, charging desertion. In court yesterday, his attorney, Sol R. Friedman, charged that Mrs. Baran had not filed her action in good faith, but to defeat any effort Baran might make to obtain a divorce.

Judge Desort held with Friedman. Baran agreed to pay $8 a week for the support of Mrs. Baran and son, Raymond, 18 months old.

DRUGGAN KEEPS HIS UNCLE SAM WAITING AGAIN

Terry Druggan, prohibition era beer baron, left Uncle Sam waiting again yesterday. Druggan had been summoned to a deposition hearing to determine the state of his finances, because the government thinks it's about time he paid the $612,000 he owes in income taxes and penalties. But Druggan wasn't there when the case was called by Samuel Smith, justice of the peace at Highland Park. Joseph Solon, assistant United States attorney, said it was the seventh time that Druggan had kept Uncle Sam waiting. Solon said he would ask J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, to institute contempt of court proceedings against Druggan.

SCHOOL STRIKERS BACK IN CLASSES AT CROWN POINT

Their strike, in which more than 300 of the school's 463 boys and girls paraded thru the streets waving banners and shouting "We want Owen!" fizzled out after Dr. C. R. Pettibone, board member, warned that if they stayed away they would not be able to return unless they brought their papas and mammas with them.

"Owen" is Vernie Owen, assistant baseball-football-basketball coach at the school for the last five years. On Friday morning, when news reached student ears that the board had refused to renew Owen's contract for the next five years, groups of pupils strolled about the school, calling to fellow students to join the strike.

Day by Day on the Farm
By GAIL COMPTON

Field Work Begins.

April 28, 1941.

OAT seeding has started at the Du Page county farm, the first real field work of the year. A 14 acre field that was in corn last year was disked into a good seed bed and the oats were sown.

The field had a heavy corn stubble on it from last year and had to be disked four times before it was in shape to receive the seed oats. The disks cut the stalks and turned them back into the ground where they will rot to form a good manure.

The oats were sown at the rate of two and a half bushels to the acre. They were seeded with a 12 foot broadcast seeder. After the oats were on the ground the field was disked lightly to cover the seeds, and then the entire field was seeded to alfalfa. This will enable the farm manager to double crop the field and build up the soil at the same time. After the oats crop has been harvested there should be a good stand of hay left that will be good for pasture or ensilage. Columbia oats were used for seed as the farm manager finds they make exceptionally good feed.

A Problem Field.

One field of 22 acres that was to be put into oats has created something of a problem. Because the ground has been so wet, it has been impossible to get into them with heavy machinery, and the weeds have gotten a good start in many places.

The 22 acre patch looks as if it had been seeded to quack grass. The moist soil and the warm weather pushed the quack grass along rapidly until it covered the field. The farm manager now believes he will have the field plowed, altho it was plowed last fall, and will put it to corn.

Under this plan, he can turn the soil over and expose the roots of the quack grass to the sun to kill it off. After plowing, the field will be disked as often as possible to keep the weeds from getting another start. The soil will be turned until the last possible minute and then corn will be sown. This method will probably put an end to the weeds and still allow the field time to produce a good crop.

New Shelter for Cattle.

The new bunch of feeder cattle was moved up to the sheep barn for a while to give them shelter from rain. The sheep, which formerly had the whole barn to themselves, shared their shelter with the cattle. The barn was partitioned off so the animals did not mix. This minimized the chance of any disease spreading or the sheep being harmed by the steers.

The sheep did not mind the arrangement and seemed content. The young cattle, however, were restless, and churned their small lot into a sea of mud. There was too much green pasture in view for them to be content with the barn yard. Altho they were given plenty of hay to eat, they still pushed against the fence in an effort to get to the alfalfa fields nearby. The pastures are in good shape and have dried out now, so the feeders have been turned into them to graze as much as they please.

It's Moving Day for Tenants in East Delaware

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE is an air of disorder in most of the apartments at 222 East Delaware place; rugs up, packing cases about, and "junk" to be given or thrown away. The building is to be made over into smaller apartments, and the present tenants are obliged to move.

Mrs. Frederick M. Schmidt, who has lived in the building for 17 years, is moving next door to a smaller apartment. Her daughter, Mrs. Otto Teegen, has come from New York to help with the problem of disposing of some of the furniture and to help decide about the decorating of her mother's new home. Mrs. Teegen will be here until the end of the week. Mrs. Schmidt will not occupy her new home before the end of next week.

Mrs. J. Stewart Harvey has cast aside apartment hunting worries for the moment and is departing tomorrow with her three children to spend the summer in Santa Fe, N. M. Mr. Harvey will join them from time to time in the house they have taken on Camino. They'll return to Chicago in the fall.

Rudolph E. Vogels Still Undecided Where to Move.

The Rudolph E. Vogels haven't yet decided where they will go from 222. Mrs. Frank B. Mulford moved last week to Walton place. She won't be in her new apartment long, however, for in three weeks she will go to her summer home in Stonington, Conn. Dr. and Mrs. Chester Morris also are moving next door, but to 200 East Delaware instead of to 230, where Mrs. Schmidt will be.

The O'Neill Ryans, the E. Cummings Parkers, the William E. Vogelbacks, Mr. and Mrs. Ferre Watkins, and the Ivo Carlo Meuccis are other tenants facing moving problems. The Ryan family has been in the building for 12 years.

There's nothing more intriguing to womankind than a man's club in which feminine guests are not permitted. The Chicago club is one of the few that has resisted a feminine invasion. Another club is in the making, for which the important question of admitting women still is undecided.

It will be called the Downtown Lunch club, and its members will be alumni of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton. About 3,800 cards have been sent out by the committee to get the reaction of alumni toward the club. Four hundred acceptances will be enough to get the club rolling.

Location Is Found After Search for a Year.

Evans Spalding of Harvard hunted for a year or more to find suitable quarters over a good restaurant that would supply meals. A suite at 166 West Jackson boulevard was selected. It contains a large dining room-lounge, a private dining room, a bar, dressing rooms, showers, an office, and a library. The dues will be more than made up for by the inexpensiveness of the meals. Breakfast and luncheon will be served. Dinner may be had by special arrangement.

It is expected that women may be invited to dinner parties. The proposed club is patterned after the Downtown Lunch Club of Harvard in New York. Working with Mr. Spalding are Cyrus H. Adams of Princeton and Robert Childs of Yale.

As usual, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett and her daughter, Miss Betty Mead, will bring back with them from Tryon, N. C., several new trophies to add to their already large collection won in the hunting field and in the horse show ring. They and Mr. Bennett will return to their Lake Forest home on Friday. Mrs. Bennett and Miss Mead won the family class at a recent show in Tryon, where they have been for the last two months.

Mrs. Frederick L. Spencer and her friend, Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord, timed a visit to Mrs. Spencer's mother, Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, at her Virginia home so that they would be there this week during Garden week. They will stay thru next week, too, returning to Chicago on May 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Walker [Judith Boddie] are being congratulated on the birth of a son last Saturday at the Evanston hospital. The baby, who has a sister, Judith, is a grandson of Mrs. John T. Chambrays Go Dress Parade in Cool Colors

BY REA SEEGER.

A demand for something different in cotton must have been easy to answer, for the cotton or textile wizards have clicked again! Any shopping saunter thru the sections where the exciting new bolts of cotton are heaped around to tempt the early sewing bee will prove it.

The new chambrays are 'way ahead of the list of finds. All the coolest summer colors such as blue, pink, yellow, and mint green have gone dress parade with embroidered patterns. This delightfully soft and smooth cotton reaches a new fashion high for summer clothes in these embroidered designs. Half inch dots and dainty sprays of flowers and leaves are the patterns.

Wine red on sugar pink, white against pale beige or blue, green on wine color, and of course the excellent combinations of the design worked in several shades darker thread than the cotton itself are among the offerings. Embroidered dots are extraordinarily smart. These dotted chambrays are ideal for afternoon dresses with simple cartwheel straw hats. This chambray has the patrician smoothness of fine linen. Every one knows by this time what a smooth performer this superlatively cool and fresh looking cotton is for hot weather clothes.

Striped chambrays are more abundant than last summer. The cool widely spaced white stripes against bluing-water blue, gray, beige, and green can be used most effectively with bands of the stripes running in contrast.

Printed multicolored stripes, printed dots, and the usual two tone effects, with some new street shades such as copper brown, cornflower blue, and dubonnet red, are being promoted for the sophisticated dress suits for summer town wear.

Vaudeville Memoirs.

[From Anne L. Mack.]

As a Palace addict dating back to 1915 when I could get seats at the box office for row A a couple of days before a new bill opened. I don't think Margaret Russo even hit the high spots in her enumeration of stars of the past. Old-timers who were before the footlights in those halcyon days were Lou Dockstader reciting "The Politician"; Weber and Fields in their German accented dialog; Walter Kelly, "The Virginia Judge," in Negro and southern dialect; and Sarah Bernhardt in a scene from one of her stage hits requiring no movement [because of her one leg]. There were those rip roaring comedians, Ole Olson and Chick Johnson, Dr. Rockwell and his banana stalk, Charles Withers in "For Pity's Sake" [later Wither's Opry]; Imhoff Conn and Corinne in "The Pest House"; Harry Holman in "Hard Boiled Hampton"; Joe Cook, "the one man vaudeville," who closed his act with a Rube Goldberg-like invention; Al Herman, "the assassin of grief"; Julius Tannen in his rapid fire monolog, and Sam and Kitty Morton in their famous skit.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

You'll fool me, whoever you are, if you don't like "The Lady From Cheyenne."

Here's really a great little piece of entertainment, and never in all her life has Loretta Young done a neater job than her portrayal of a young school ma'am of the sixties who beards a bunch of big, bad bozos and is responsible for Wyoming's adoption of the suffrage bill.

According to this story [believe it or not as you please] Wyoming, which was the first state to grant women the voting privilege, was, at the time the action takes place, a durn dangerous place for a decent citizen to live in. Cattle rustlers and petty, conscienceless politicians GOT THEIRS, regardless of the rights of others. . . .

When pretty Anne Morgan's schoolhouse is burned to the ground because she has refused to sell her water rights to Boss Jim Cork and has announced that any farmer who wants to use water through her land MAY—Miss Morgan, not even tempered at any time, sees red. She goes right straight to Cheyenne, beards the legislature in its den and, by woman's wit and woman's wile and with the aid of some gals who have summat on some of the assemblymen she succeeds in having the bill passed. The lovely part of it is that nobody voting for it thinks it's going to be passed. Reason for this I'll let the picture show you.

Miss Young never misses a bet. I didn't know she had it in her. A comedienne of the first water, as you shall see. She has nice support in Robert Preston, who fights her at first and later sees the error of his ways. Frank Craven as a smart, resourceful, and public minded newspaper editor, Gladys George as a big hearted blonde who knows where plenty of bodies are buried, and Edward Arnold as Jim Cork.

Direction by Frank Lloyd, whose first picture this is for Universal, was mighty clever and the dialog is pat and alive with humor. Settings, costumes, scenery, photography are all the heart could desire.

Heavens—I didn't mention Willie Best! He's the colored lad who plays a legislature flunkey and whose good advice and other varied services have no small part in Miss Morgan's final triumph. Willie is just swell!

See you tomorrow.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

A lovely chin line is a badge of youth that no woman wants to relinquish. Proper posture, weight control, and special local care provide the best insurance against a double chin.

Holding that chin line to its youthful, firm contour is no easy matter for the woman of 35 or more, especially if she is more inclined to add weight than to shed it as she advances in years and wisdom.

Prevention of a double chin is a lot easier than cure, of course. Watching your weight, disciplining yourself about posture [this is VERY important], and giving the throat and neck line some intelligent, extra local care are the three important factors in preserving a good contour.

If the skin of the neck is very dry you may be sure it will break into fine lines much earlier than it has any right to do. Keep it well lubricated. And, when you cream your face and neck, do a little brisk patting of the area just beneath the chin and along the bone up toward the ears.

In addition to these simple tricks, there is a new preparation on the market that has special appeal for the woman whose chin is threatening to become twins. It's a translucent liquid, applied with the finger tips, that tightens.

It is invisible, and you can apply it in the morning before you make up or at night before you go to bed. Just stroke it on the neck and beneath the chin; it will do its tightening work while you are unconscious of its presence.

Idea of Chicago Painting Given at Arts Club

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

The annual exhibition by professional members at the Arts club was opened to the public yesterday. There was a tea for members on Sunday.

One large gallery and two smaller ones are hung with oils and water colors that give a good idea of painting in our locality. There are also a number of pieces of sculpture and a few miniatures. The work, on the whole, is of the conservative school with the exception of one or two abstractions and one or two ultramodern landscapes.

Cecil Clark Davis shows a large portrait of a young woman in red velvet seen against a blue background. Pitched in a dominant key of bold, vibrant color, it is consistently handled thruout. Near by is Anna Lynch's portrait of Mrs. Walter Dill Scott. Other portraits in the exhibition are those of Rear Admiral Ben Moreell by Buell Mullen, Rudolph Reuter by Oskar Gross, and the late Gov. Henry Horner by Violet Beatrice Wenner.

Paul Trebilcock's painting is a small likeness of his mother at 19, done with rare delicacy and skill. The head rises from the fluted blue collar like a flower and the expression has a sweetness and sincerity that make it a face long to be remembered. Another period portrait is George Melville Smith's "Miss Ginny Grant, 1850," a study of a woman in a green gown, her lace mitted hands folded demurely.

Among the still lifes are Magda Heuermann's interesting arrangement of rose red pomegranate and silver pitcher and salver, Ethel Crouch Brown's lively "Chelsea Pitcher," Averill Courtney Conwell's silvery white and green "Hydrangeas," Frances S. Badger's handsome interpretation of shells and coral [a painting that was a highlight in the recent No Jury show], Lucie Hartrath's peonies, Clay Cartlett's vivid bit of color, "Tropical Blossoms," and Ivan Le Lorraine Albright's "This Ichnolite of Mine," a small, meticulously brushed study of a variety of unrelated objects—violins, a broken clock, a figurine, and other items. [Ichnolite, by the way, means fossil footprint.]

"Landscape in Green" is the title of Charles Killgore's canvas in which the artist has completely simplified a scene of rolling hills, little valley and stream. This quality of undetailed mass piled on mass achieves a feeling of considerable power.

Rudolph Ingerle's "Madonna del Angello" displays some of the finest craftsmanship in the show. This beautifully lighted oil of an Italian porcelain madonna and child placed before a brocaded wall hanging combines a high sense of form and design with that of color and texture.

In the gallery of sculptures are Sylvia Shaw Judson's figure of a small boy in overalls, "American Boy"; Maude Phelps Hutchins' green bronze figure of a young girl on tiptoe, called "Early Hutchins," and Scott Taylor's fanciful winged figure springing from a huge bronze hand, "Genius of the Hand."

The exhibition will continue to May 17.

UNCONVINCING OUTLAW.

At the hotel, Carol and Maitland parted at the head of the stairs, and Carol went into the sitting room of their suite. The lamp wasn't lighted, and she started thru the room in the dark. But halfway to the door she knew she wasn't sleepy and that she couldn't sleep for hours.

She went across to the table, fumbled with a match, struck it, and lighted the lamp.

Then she turned, and hauled up short, a stifled cry escaping her.

"Dave Coyle!" she breathed.

"Pull down the shades," Dave said curtly. He stood there, a dark beard stubble on his face that softened the sharp planes of it. He looked hungry and mad and tired, and he was all of them.

"I will not," Carol said hotly. "Get out of here!"

"Where's Wallace?"

"Get out of here, I said!"

"I heard you. Where's Wallace?"

"If you don't get out of here, I'll scream!"

"Go ahead."

The muscles in Carol's neck grew taut and she opened her mouth to scream. Dave lunged for her and clapped a hand over her face, stifling the scream. Carol fought and kicked, but Dave held her tightly. When she ceased struggling, he said, "I'll let you loose if you shut up. Will you?"

Carol was mad. She shook her head in negation.

Dave said, "I can wait as long as you can."

He pulled her over to a chair, sat down, pulled her down in his lap and held her there. They sat that way for a full minute, Carol tugging at his hand and not succeeding in pulling it from her mouth.

Presently Dave said, "Changed your mind?"

This time Carol nodded, and Dave freed her. She came to her feet, her face crimson, her eyes blazing. "You—— You——"

"Pull down the shades," Dave said coldly.

Carol stamped her foot in anger. She would have screamed, but she had given her word she wouldn't. She glared at Dave for a long moment, and he only stared back at her, his gray eyes steady, a sneer on his face. She began to understand now why people hated him. So did she—almost. But if she was to get rid of him, she might as well do what he said. She went to the big front windows and yanked down the shades, then turned defiantly on Dave.

Carol said passionately, "Haven't you done enough harm already, without doing more!"

Dave regarded her coldly. "The trial has been postponed, hasn't it? What more do you want?"

"I want my father out of jail!" Carol cried.

Dave said blankly, "Jail?"

"They've arrested him!" Carol said hotly. "They found the envelope to my letter that you left in your room! That's all the proof they needed that dad had thrown in with you and was in on the kidnaping!"

Dave rubbed his hand slowly along his jaw, frowning. "What charge?"

"Complicity in murder! They think you killed Sholto for him." She paused. "Did you?"

Carol flushed, but her gaze was steady. "Now you see what you've done? If you'd gone away when I told you to and left us alone, this wouldn't have happened!"

Dave walked over to her and faced her and said coldly, "Sit down."

Carol was afraid of him then, afraid of the look in his eyes. She backed up, and a chair caught her under the knees and she plopped into it.

Dave stood above her, his eyes musing. "Shut up and talk sense. Are they going to set bail?"

"I don't know," Carol said, her voice still indignant. "Senator Maitland says if they do, they'll wait a long while to do it. I told you, they think dad paid you to kidnap and kill Sholto!"

"I heard you, too," Dave said drily. He kept looking at her, but his mind wasn't on her. He was thinking of Sholto out there with Will Usher, and of what Wallace would do, now that McFee was in jail. He thought he knew. He said, "They won't set any bail. And your dad won't get out."

"How do you know?" Carol said. It seemed the truth, now that he had said it.

"I know."

He stood stock still, staring over Carol's head. Then he took a deep breath, and started for the door.

"Where are you going?" Carol said swiftly.

"To jail."

"To rescue dad? But you can't. They'll——"

"No. I'm goin' to jail," Dave said slowly.

For a long moment Carol only stared at him, and then she said weakly, "You mean give yourself up?"

Dave nodded.

"But they'll hang you!"

"What do you care!"

"I—I don't," Carol said, and added weakly, "but it seems so stupid. What will it get you?"

"I'm going to talk to your dad," Dave said drily. "It's the only place he'll listen to me, I reckon, and that's only because he can't help it. When I've made him see he's walked into a frameup that will let him rot in jail, then I'll take him with me."

Carol's lips formed the words,

"Take him with you where? You'll be in jail."

"No, I'll be out."

"But—how will you do that?"

A look of annoyance crossed Dave's face. He said sharply, "Lady, I don't know. I never know what I'm goin' to do until I have to, and then I do it. I've never stayed in jail yet."

"But—but, I don't understand. Do you mean you'll break jail?"

"That's an idea. Yes. I'll break jail," Dave said drily.

He started for the door again. Carol closed her mouth, which had been opened in surprise, and said, "You can't go out there! They'll kill you."

Dave turned and regarded her with a fast vanishing patience. "For about 15 years, lady, I been wipin' my own nose. I still can."

He opened the door, stepped out into the corridor and paused at the head of the stairs. Then a wry smile crossed his face, vanished, and he tramped down the stairs.

Old Bitterman at the desk looked up from his newspaper, saw a man's back as he went toward the lobby door, and settled again to his reading.

Dave hit the boardwalk, swung under the tie-rail, crossed the road, and pulled up in front of the sheriff's office. The door was closed, the shade of the only window pulled down. He regarded the place a moment, letting a pair of punchers walk past him. Then he crossed the boardwalk and tried the door. It was locked. He knocked.

Dave grinned at that. With a posse just come from hunting him, with $7,000 reward on his head, he had to break into the sheriff's office to get himself arrested.

He went out to the edge of the boardwalk and searched the road. He saw a rock in the road, swung under the tie-rail, picked it up and threw it thru the window of the sheriff's office. The glass jangled to the boardwalk, and there was an uproar inside the office.

The door swung open and Ernie See, with Sheriff Beal just behind, stepped out.

"Who did that?" Ernie asked.

Dave stood just beyond the tie-rail, his hands on his hips, legs spread a little. "I did," he said. "I'm Dave Coyle."

Ernie peered thru the half darkness and then said to Beal, "A drunk."

"Listen son," Beal said patiently. "Come back and pay for this tomorrow. Now get along home."

WEDDINGS

Announcement is made of the marriage on April 19 of Miss Abigail Kettelle Prendergast, daughter of Mrs. John Prendergast of Wilmette, to Richard L. Halpin, son of John Halpin of Chicago. The ceremony took place in the presence of the immediate families in St. Joseph's church. Mr. Halpin and his bride are at home in Wilmette.

Instead of waiting for a summer wedding Miss June Nelson and A. Howard Richardson Jr. were married quietly last Saturday afternoon at the Holy Name cathedral. Miss Kathryn Nelson attended her sister. John Detmer was best man. After the ceremony Mr. Richardson and his bride received the congratulations of their friends at a cocktail party his parents, the senior Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, were giving for their son and his fiancée—only she turned out to be his bride, to the surprise of every one there. Mr. Richardson is being sent to an army camp in Tennessee at the end of the week. Meanwhile he and his bride are on a short motor trip. Young Mrs. Richardson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Nelson of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The marriage of Miss Charlotte Eiseman to Jerome Goldsmith took place on Sunday at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Mr. Goldsmith and his bride are departing today for the west coast. After May 10 they will be at home in Beverly Hills, Cal.

Many readers have asked for more calorie lists since the recent article on calories in beverages. So here's the evidence on candies and nuts and some common desserts. It must be remembered that there is room for variability in these figures. For example, one piece of mincemeat pie might be richer than another, depending upon what ingredients were used. These are accurate figures for the particular recipes used, and may be considered a satisfactory guide.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 28.—The technical adviser is one of the most important men in pictures—because if you don't have things right you get yelps, snarls, and guffaws from the fans and it is indeed embarrassing. All studios have staff technical advisers called the research department. Biggest technical adviser trade right now is in aviators, soldiers, and sailors. There's hardly a studio that hasn't got somebody to show it how to run a 1941 model war.

Aside from the war angle, two of the most interesting experts in town are Albert Conti and Donoho Hall—respectively an Austrian officer in the old world war and a newly educated hillbilly.

Conti is interesting because of his Theory of the Imp. He's in the wardrobe department at 20th Century-Fox, charged with seeing to it that people are properly costumed according to time and place. And he says there's an imp around that should be placated. He thinks maybe it should be placated by being given a salary and an office with its name on the door.

"Take the picture we're making now, 'Man Hunt,'" he illustrates. "Walter Pidgeon has a flannel suit. It's a good suit. It cost $125. Pigdeon had four fittings, and it was perfect when it was finished. But when he went before the camera something was wrong with the collar. It didn't fit right, and it took an expensive half hour to fix it. Now, whose fault was it? Not the tailor's. It was the imp's. All wardrobe people know about this imp. He's the fellow who makes buttons fall off during a take, and he costs thousands of dollars a year. He ought to be put on salary so he'd leave us alone."

Until he was 17, Donoho Hall didn't know there was such a place as Hollywood, and he had only vaguely heard there were such things as motion pictures. So it's only natural that, at 33, he's slightly dazed at finding himself in Hollywood helping the Warners make Gary Cooper's "Sergeant York." It came about this way:

Hall's native "hollow" on War Trace creek is 30 miles from Alvin York's home valley. One of a family of 12 children, Donoho never went to school, couldn't read or write, because his father distrusted "furriners" and schooling. When he was 16 the lad ran away from home, went to Indianapolis and here saw his first movie. He was so entranced by it he sat thru all performances and didn't leave until they were ready to lock the house up.

In Indianapolis he heard of a place called California, decided to go there. He'd had some jobs, so he had money enough to buy a chair ticket on the steam cars, and with two valises and a paper bag of buns and hot dogs he started west.

Hall got a job as a ditch digger in the Signal Hill oil field at Long Beach. He fell in love with a girl from Jackson, Tenn. He married her before his eighteenth birthday. She had an education, and he determined to have one, too.

The more education he got, the more he wanted, and he made almost incredible progress. Within a couple of years he gained admission to Long Beach High school by passing a special examination. After graduation he took two years at Long Beach Junior college, then went on to Occidental college, from which he obtained a teacher's credentials.

New Material on Maternity of Great Value

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

It is a good thing for all of us who are Americans to realize, as Child Health day approaches, that among the things to help prevent the loss of life in childbirth, which is still far too prevalent, are knowledge, education, and information on this subject for all the general public.

One of the hits at the New York Worlds' Fair was the exhibit on maternity in the Hall of Man. All last summer people stood in line [and it interested me to see the unself-conscious interest and wonder on their faces] for hours to see the marvelous plaster models of the beginning of life and the growth and birth of a baby which one reporter called "nature's assembly line." They were executed in the most careful detail by three extremely capable persons: Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, obstetrician, gynecologist, and artist, who supervised the project and supplied the necessary anatomical information; Mr. Abram Belskie, who made the models in clay, and Miss Malvina Hoffman, American sculptor.

With the exception of the early embryological model, which was diagrammatic, the models were life size and showed the growing baby from the second week of pregnancy in a series of 11 steps up to the moment before birth. Five models showed how a baby is born.

Bone and muscle texture were depicted in detail, and every model was made in accordance with the most up to date information. The birth sequence was developed from several thousand X-rays taken in Johns Hopkins, Harlem, Sloane, Bronx, and New Haven hospitals.

This series of 20 models, executed in terra cotta plaster, may now be purchased for teaching purposes. Their exquisite beauty makes them useful in teaching mothers' and fathers' classes and the general public, as well as the instruction of medical and nursing students. For information about cost, write to Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, Academy of Medicine, 103d street and Fifth avenue, New York City, N. Y.

April 29, 1941.

Universal day—A little music, some shopping, or a visit with friends will make this a cheerful day.

May—For those in a seven year the month of May offers an opportunity to have the brightest month of the year. Altho the year calls for solitude or as near to it as possible, this particular month can be less somber and give you a chance to express a cheerful personality. This would be a good time to write, phone or talk with friends. It also would be an excellent period in which to buy new clothes and make yourself attractive. Throw off depression if you have been feeling the weight of the world on your shoulders. Communicate with people, but don't let your conversation be trivial for this is the year for you to dig beneath the surface for the truth about yourself and the world around you. Express some of the spiritual understanding which you should be gaining this year.

Work for Draft Army Outlined by Catholics

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday made public an illustrated brochure outlining the widespread activities of the Catholic Charities of Chicago. The presentation was made at a meeting of the executive committee at the Chicago Athletic club.

The brochure, which also contains a report of activities of the charities during 1940, was announced as the first step in an expanded program designed mainly to care for social and religious opportunities for the new draft army. These proposals were presented by the Rev. Dr. William A. O'Connor, supervisor of Catholic Charities.

The new development will be known as the National Catholic Community service, which will embrace the same general program as that of the Knights of Columbus during the first world war, but with added features. It will work under the head of the United Service organizations with the YMCA, YWCA, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare board, and Travelers' Aid society.

Father O'Connor explained that the Catholic agency will work under the direction of each local bishop. He added a chief emphasis will be provision for soldiers' entertainment in private homes and recreational opportunities under proper auspices.

During 1940 the total income to the Catholic Charities from all sources, including Community Fund and Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and other agencies, amounted to $719,872. The largest expenditure among the charities' 45 agencies and institutions was for the Catholic Home bureau. Other major activities include St. Vincent's orphanage, St. Mary's Training school, House of the Good Shepherd, Ketteler Training School for Boys, and the Catholic Charities bureau. Budgets for these were in excess of $100,000 each.

Catholic Charities of Chicago was founded under the direction of Archbishop James Quigley in 1917, and the first archdiocesan director was the present archbishop of Milwaukee, the Most Rev. Moses E. Kiley.

Music Notes

The Chicago Committee for Music Appreciation, which last year distributed a series of popular priced symphonic and operatic recordings, will begin next Saturday the release of a new cycle of concert pieces, overtures, waltzes, rhapsodies, serenades and sonatas. It is plannd that sales, as in the past, will benefit the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Opera company, the Ravinia festival, and the Woman's Symphony orchestra. The records which will be available Saturday at the committee's headquarters, 65 East Lake street, consist of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" overture; Strauss' "On the Beautiful Blue Danube" waltzes; Beethoven's "Moonlight" sonata; Herbert's "Kiss Me Again;" Schumann's "Träumerei;" Schubert's "Ave Maria;" the hymn, "Adeste Fideles;" the intermezzo from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," and Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The Men's Glee club and the concert and dance orchestras of the University of Illinois colleges of medicine and dentistry and school of pharmacy will be heard in concert in the large theater of the Museum of Science and Industry tomorrow evening.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: You've heard many harrowing bridge tales in your career, but few, I'll wager, to equal this.

"I murdered a man last night. O, I don't mind confessing the so-called crime [if any] because I liquified [not merely liquidated] him and poured him down the drainpipe. Hence, no corpus delicti; hence no case for the district attorney. As a matter of fact, I expect a rousing cheer from you and all other right thinking bridge players.

"Last night four of us were having a nice, quiet little rubber game at one-quarter cent a point. At 11 o'clock I was ahead 3,000 points, so when friend wife sauntered into the room, I, in a spirit of imbecilic expansiveness, tossed her a five dollar bill, saying: 'Here, buy yourself a new fur coat; these saps are paying for it.' Need I say that she snapped up the money like a wolf?

"No sooner were the words out of my mouth, and the fiver out of my pocket, than this hand was dealt:

"I was East. North opened with three clubs. I know I was a bit light for a double, but with such excellent support for anything partner might bid, and with the determination not to let North-South rob us of a possible game, I doubled anyway. South, a not-too-bright bank president, bid four no trump in an offensive sneering tone. West passed and North bid five diamonds [showing one ace; they were playing Blackwood]. I doubled that [loud] and South, who worries a lot about 2 per cent interest but never about getting into his partner's hand, bellowed six no trump. After West's pass, North decided he wasn't going to be bullied, and bid seven clubs. I doubled again, mostly because it had become a habit. South put on his mortgage-foreclosing expression and screamed seven no trump. When I whacked that, in my turn, South redoubled so loud that my wife came running back into the room.

"Well, I've come to the agonizing finish.

"My dear departed partner fumbled for nine minutes and opened—you've guessed it—a club. Score: 3,080 points for the madman who had bid seven no trump without a card in his partner's suit! Any other lead would have given us the bagatelle of 4,000 points. Swing: 7,080 points!

"So, do you blame me for killing a certain guy, or for dislocating my wife's arm in a [vain] attempt to recover the five bucks?—Frenziedly yours, S. M., New York."

I can't even comment. I'm so choked up.

City Is Only Unit to Cut Obligations in Year.

Total debts of Cook county's six major governments rose more than 5 million dollars in the year ended March 31, a compilation of the quarterly financial statements showed yesterday. The increase was in contrast to a reduction of 10 million dollars in these governments' debts for the year ended March 31, 1940, and a cut of 30 millions in the previous year. The six governments are the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve district.

On March 31 the governments owed a combined total of $505,918,368, compared with $500,608,939 a year earlier. The boost in debts was caused by increase of 21 million dollars in the amount of tax anticipation warrants outstanding. This more than offset a slash of nearly 16 millions in the governments' outstanding bonds, which are retired automatically as funds are available from tax collections.

Shortage of Cash Reflected.

The rise in tax warrants reflected a shortage of available cash in the hands of the government because of lagging collections on delinquent taxes. To raise cash to meet pay rolls and some of their current bills, the governments sold large blocks of 1941 tax warrants during the first quarter.

Tax warrants outstanding on March 31 totaled $135,123,040, compared with $113,863,939 a year earlier.

In spite of this substantial boost in borrowing thru the sale of warrants the six governments' unpaid bills and other current debts were reduced by only $240,000 for the year. Current, or floating, debts on March 31 totaled $26,196,586. This was a cut of 2½ millions from the total on Dec. 31, 1940, when current debts reached their highest level in four years.

City Reports Reduction.

The city of Chicago was the only government to report a reduction in its total debt for the latest 12 month period. All three kinds of debts—bonds, tax warrants, and floating debt—were cut by the city.

The following table compares the total debt of each of the six governments in the county on March 31, 1941, with their debt a year earlier:

List Includes Ex-Sheriff and Ex-Prosecutor.

Detroit, Mich., April 28 [Special].—Former Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, former Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox, and 21 other defendants were convicted today by a Circuit court jury of conspiracy to obstruct justice. One defendant was acquitted, and one who elected to be tried by Circuit Judge Earl C. Pugsley was convicted.

Duncan C. McCrea [top] and Thomas C. Wilcox.

The trial has been in progress three months. Specifically, the defendants were charged with paying or accepting protection money for the operation of gambling and bawdy houses during the tenures of Wilcox and McCrea. Sentences will be imposed May 14, Judge Pugsley announced. The maximum would be prison sentences of five years and fines of $2,000.

Deliberates for 9 Hours.

The case was given to the jury late Saturday afternoon, and the verdict was handed down at 2:45 p. m. today after the jury, excused from deliberations from midnight Saturday until this morning, had debated less than nine hours.

Except for one two year term, Wilcox was sheriff of Wayne county from Jan. 1, 1933, to August, 1940, when he was ousted by former Gov. Luren D. Dickinson on charges substantially the same as on which he was convicted today. McCrea was elected prosecutor in November, 1932, and was ousted by Dickinson last summer.

McCrea said he would appeal the verdict, and Wilcox protested his innocence.

Indicted a Year Ago.

The charges on which the 24 were convicted were outlined in an indictment returned a year ago by a one man grand jury conducted by Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson.

Highlight of the trial came early in April when Harry Colburn, chief investigator for McCrea and one of the original defendants, changed his plea to guilty and became a witness for the state. He said that he had paid more than $100,000 to McCrea from funds which he and others had collected from gambling house operators and brothel keepers. He kept 10 per cent for himself, he said.

Other witnesses testified of sums ranging to $200,000 more, divided between McCrea, Wilcox, and others. Colburn is yet to be sentenced.

The convictions were an indirect result of a jilted woman's thirst for revenge. When Mrs. Janet McDonald, 33 year old divorcée, took her own life and that of her 9 year old daughter on Aug. 8, 1939, she wrote suicide notes to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, local law enforcement agencies, and Detroit newspapers telling them that her erstwhile sweetheart, William McBride, was a payoff man to Detroit police for gambling houses. The notes stirred an investigation which McCrea sought in vain to quash. McBride died after fleeing to Florida.

ADMIRERS LOOK FOR COMEBACK BY WHIRLAWAY

Blue Pair Appears Chief Rival.

Derby Trial Field

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—Seven horses were named today to go to the post in tomorrow's $2,500 Derby Trial stakes of a mile over the Churchill Downs course. The field in order of post position follows:

	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Shaun G.	110	S. Williams	15-1
Quintillian	110	R. L. Vedder	25-1
Blue Pair	115	J. Richard	7-5
Sporting	110	S. Brooks	50-1
Burman	110	No boy	20-1
Cadmium	110	B. Thompson	10-1
Whirlaway	118	W. Eads	1-1

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 28.—Followers of Calumet Farm's Whirlaway, one time Kentucky Derby future book favorite, have had a wistful theme song ever since their candidate finished six lengths behind Our Boots in the recent Blue Grass stakes. This song is a touching old tune called "Say It Isn't So." Whirlaway will undertake to answer them in his own way when he goes to the post tomorrow in the $2,500 Derby Trial stakes at Churchill Downs.

In attempting to prove that his previous race was too disheartening to be true, he will be running against a field of six other Derby eligibles. Blue Pair, the colt purchased recently by Mrs. Vera S. Bragg, is the only one besides Whirlaway which is considered a definite Derby starter, tho there is a bare possibility that Theodore Mueller's Cadmium may get the post Saturday in place of his stablemate, Agricole, if he shows an unusually good effort in tomorrow's trial.

Other Four in Field.

The other four in the field are Shaun G, Quintillian, Burman, and that mystery thorobred from Sportsman's Park, Sporting.

Since Whirlaway's defeat in the Blue Grass stakes there has been a tremendous volume of discussion over why and how it happened. The experts seem to have thought of every reason except that maybe he just didn't run fast enough. Tomorrow, however, is another day and so is next Saturday. There is always the prospect that he may run fast enough on both of those occasions.

Whirlaway is considered to be a horse with one exceptional burst of speed when he decides to turn it on. Sometimes he fails because he turns it on too soon and sometimes because he doesn't turn it on at all. But every one agrees that if he is about four lengths behind the leaders at the head of the stretch on Derby day, there may be some great running in that last quarter mile.

Blue Pair Has Hard Luck.

Blue Pair, which always has been a popular horse among the Kentuckians, has had plenty of genuine hard luck in his last race at Keeneland against older and more seasoned campaigners. Despite the fact that he was knocked against the rail on the first turn, pinched between horses on the last turn, and partially blocked when ready to move at the head of the stretch, he finished in the money. His showing tomorrow is expected to give a good indication of his Derby prospects.

Cleaveland Putnam's Swain arrived today from Havre de Grace. His owner, who lives in Chicago's north shore suburban area, decided to start him after he had delivered a good effort in winning an overnight event several days ago. His handlers believe that if the track should be deep in mud and if Swain should get a few breaks of racing luck there would always be the possibility that Swain might win the Derby just as he did the rich Arlington Futurity last summer.

Little Beans Has Fast Drill.

The Derby colony will be completed tomorrow when Market Wise, Robert Morris, and Dispose are scheduled to arrive from the east.

Mrs. Louise Palladino's Little Beans worked a mile and a quarter this morning in the highly creditable time of 2:06 2/5. Valdina Paul went the mile and a furlong in 1:53 2/5. Whirlaway and Blue Pair were out for short blowouts in preparation for their race tomorrow.

MOON MULLINS—BE SWITCHED

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

IF Paul Waner, former Pirate star now with the Dodgers, can hold out long enough as a major leaguer to add 162 hits to the total he enjoyed at the start of the season, he will be enrolled in the 3,000 hit club, which already includes Honus Wagner, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, and Eddie Collins. . . . The gloves used in the memorable fight between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson in Goldfield, Nev., in 1905 will be on exhibition at a dance sponsored by the Veteran Boxers Association of Illinois in Chicago Saturday night. . . . The unpleasant odor you occasionally get at the Chicago Stadium these days isn't from the circus animals now inhabiting the building. . . . It's a hangover from the Conn-Barlund bout. . . . While the Cubs were in Phoenix early in April a fruit grower invited Larry French to organize a party of Cubs to come to his ranch and pick oranges and grapefruit for transport to Chicago in their Pullman berths. . . . The players picked a station wagonful and the man said he'd have the load at the train well before departure time. . . . The train pulled out and there was no man, no grapefruit, no oranges. . . . Now Larry figures he and his chums, five of whom earn $60,000 a year, were fruit pickers at nothing per bushel, which is even less than Okies receive. . . . Football fans in the Southeastern conference are wondering what will happen to Tennessee's setup, now that Maj. Bob Neyland has been called to the colors. . . . It crumpled when the major left once before for service in Panama. . . .

Jack Hayes, who won a monogram at quarter back with Notre Dame's second team last fall, probably will be the youngest head coach in college football next fall. . . . At 22 he will have charge of the squad at Rockhurst college, Kansas City. . . . Harry Scranton, newly appointed member of the Illinois Athletic commission, played 11 years of professional football before the organization of the National Football league. . . . He was the full back of the Peoria Socials. . . . Maj. Biff Jones, football coach at Nebraska, is convinced the T formation will be adopted at many high schools and colleges next year, but in a majority of cases he doubts if the dividends that accrued to the Chicago Bears and Stanford will appear. . . . First of all, he says, you must have personnel suited to this type of offense and secondly, weather conditions play an important part in its success due to the intricate ball handling demands. . . . Hollywood park, which will open in June, is to be the testing ground for the James P. Kent timer. . . . It clocks horses individually, all of them at every pole.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers squeezed out their seventh straight victory and took the National league lead today in a dramatic struggle with the world champion Cincinnati Reds before 17,240. The score was 3 to 2.

Whitlow Wyatt, 31 year old right hander, outpitched Paul Derringer and won his own game with a single in the ninth inning with two runners on base and two out.

It was a great personal triumph for Wyatt, who was beaten five times by the Reds last year. He fanned 10 of his foes and spaced six hits, the same number yielded by Derringer. Score:

INDIANS SWEEP SERIES

Cleveland, O., April 28 (AP).—A 7 to 2 victory today over the champion Detroit Tigers—their third straight—gave the Cleveland Indians a tighter grip on first place and their fourth successive triumph. Al Milnar scattered six hits and struck out five as he turned in his second verdict in three games.

The Indians also were held to six hits—four of them off the loser, Hal Newhouser, who struck out nine batters before wildness overtook him in the seventh. Dizzy Trout and Hal White finished. Score:

Off for Eastern Adventures

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Jim Wilson (left), manager of the Cubs, sizes up Outfielder Hank Leiber just before the Chicagoans left yesterday for Boston, where they open their first eastern invasion against the Bees today. Leiber signed just in time to make the trip, but must lose a few pounds before playing.

Augie Galan, the Cubs' hard luck boy, can smile again. He has replaced Lou Novikoff in left field.

Even tho he's failed so far to live up to advance notices, Novikoff still can turn on his personality grin.

NEYLAND, COACH AT TENNESSEE, CALLED BY ARMY

Knoxville, Tenn., April 28 (AP).—Maj. Robert Reece Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director and football coach and a member of The Chicago Tribune's All-Star coaching staff in 1939, will report for duty with the United States army engineers in May.

As soon as the news of the retired major's new orders reached the campus today the athletic council announced his successor would be named May 10.

Speculation arose immediately as to whether one of Neyland's assistants would be given the head coaching assignment. Dean Nathan W. Dougherty, chairman of the council, said several applicants were being considered.

In Three Bowls.

The man who sent Tennessee to three bowl games in three years of undefeated and untied Southeastern conference competition was en route to Knoxville from Tampa, Fla., where he and his wife have been vacationing.

Neyland's chief assistants are Maj. Bill Britton, end coach who resigned his army commission several years ago, and John Barnhill, an alumnus who has been directing line play. Britton was head coach in 1935 when Neyland was on an army assignment in Panama.

He Wins Regularly.

In 1938, 1939, and 1940 Tennessee was undefeated in regular season play, winning bids to the Orange, Rose, and Sugar bowls on successive New Year's days. It defeated Oklahoma at Miami, but lost to Southern California in the Rose bowl and to Boston college at New Orleans.

Soldier Nine Eyes Recruit —Greenberg

Camp Livingston, La., April 28 (AP).—The 32d division baseball team, a bit shy on power at the plate, expects to improve its offensive strength soon by signing a rookie from Michigan who is reported to be a real hitting prospect. He's a big, husky fellow named Hank Greenberg.

Greenberg has been playing with the Detroit Tigers, in the American league, but is leaving the Detroit club May 7 to become a member of the United States army.

He Should Be Ours, Says Personnel Officer.

He will be inducted into the army thru the selective service board in Detroit and the 32d division draws its personnel from Michigan and Wisconsin.

"It's logical he should be sent to us," declared Lieut.-Col. C. S. Beurmann, division dental surgeon and baseball coach.

"I've written to the assistant selective service director of Michigan, who is a close friend of mine.

"And we sure could use him!"

The Secret Is Out—They Need a Pinch Hitter.

When a junior officer suggested maybe Greenberg would not wish to play in this league, Col. Beurmann, a professional ballplayer himself a few years back, declared:

"I don't see why he shouldn't want to. Anyhow, I guess we could use him at least as a pinch hitter. And boy, would we draw crowds!"

The 32d division has been playing so-so ball, breaking about even in games with clubs in the Evangeline league, the Coast Guard, Barksdale Field, Camp Shelby, Miss., and anybody else who might want to play.

LEIBER ACCEPTS CUB TERMS; GOES EAST WITH TEAM

Passeau Will Face Bees in Opener Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Buffalo, N. Y., April 28.—Hank Leiber, the Cubs' hard hitting outfielder, came to terms shortly after noon today after his marathon holdout stand and accompanied the team to Boston where the first eastern invasion of the season will start tomorrow against the Bees.

Leiber appeared to be about 15 pounds overweight, but is in fair physical condition as a result of activities on his ranch near Tucson, Ariz. Just when he'll be able to play is problematical, but he'll start working out tomorrow.

No terms were announced, but it is said that a compromise was effected with General Manager Jim Gallagher. Leiber had been conducting negotiations with Gallagher since Saturday. Hank was the last of the 1941 major league holdouts. The big outfielder, whose normal weight is 200 pounds, hit .302 last season.

Novikoff to Sit and Watch.

In view of his team's wretched hitting, Manager Jimmy Wilson would have liked to take the players direct from the depot in Boston at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow for early batting practice. Under baseball procedure, however, the home team has first use of the grounds and the Bees are almost as helpless with their bats as the Cubs have been in most of their games so far this season.

Lou Novikoff, now in the process of being deëmphasized, will not be in the lineup when the Cubs step out against the Bees, or for several games thereafter, according to the plan announced by Manager Wilson when he benched the Russian strong boy in the sixth inning of yesterday's contest between the Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals. Skipper Jim said Augie Galan would carry on in left field during Novikoff's layoff.

Wilson Wants Lou to Relax.

Wilson says he still has not given up on Novikoff, despite his .154 batting average in 10 games and his unbelievably awkward fielding. The manager thinks Lou is suffering from the after effects of over-ballyhooing and that after a term of splinter-gathering on the bench, will be more relaxed. It is pointed out that there is no disciplinary aspect to the benching of the idol of the Los Angeles baseball fans. He's simply been trying to live up to southern California superlatives, a hard job for any one even of much greater talent than that credited to Novikoff by the far western gurglers.

Bill Herman and Clyde McCullough, injured last Saturday, are with the team and McCullough expects to catch tomorrow afternoon. Claude Passeau will pitch if his sore side is not aggravated by the long ride to Boston. Frank Lamanna, a 21 year old right hander, will start for the Bees.

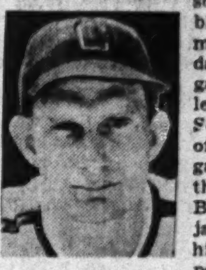
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 28.—Jack Hallett, the husky rookie, fashioned something resembling a pitching masterpiece today and while engaged in the task led the White Sox to a sweep of the three game series with the last place Browns. Altho jarred by eleven hits, the Shreveport graduate in his second 1941 start survived one flurry after another to carry his associates to a 2 to 1 triumph.



Jack Hallett.

Hallett cooked up trouble for himself in eight of the nine innings, but was deadly with men on. Vernon Kennedy, an alumnus of James Dykes' baseball school who opposed Hallett, was excused for a pinch batter after serving for eight innings, and during that stretch was disturbed by only seven hits. Of the seven, only three figured in the scoring. An error preceding a single helped the Sox to their first run. The other resulted from a pass just ahead of two singles.

Hallett Likes Excitement.

Hallett's inclination toward excitement was evident as early as the first inning when three Brownies reached base, one scoring. Three more survived in the second, but his third inning was perfect. In the fourth there were two on with none out. In the fifth two more got on, but with two gone, and a double play cleaned up the sixth after two had reached base with one out. The seventh was quiet, only one single being injected into the activity. But in the eighth two more reached base, one dying in an attempted steal of home. In the ninth it was nothing worse than a double, but it could have been harmful if Walter Judnich hadn't lofted to Mike Kreevich for the final out.

Owing to a finger injury, Julius Solters' success, couldn't perform, and the left field assignment was turned over to Freshman Dave Short, the only spare fly chaser. The young man was far from an asset on attack. He was at the plate five times, getting nothing better than one grounder. And his fielding helped to precipitate the eighth inning jam. He did a tumbling act getting in front of a legitimate single, thus turning it into a double with nobody out.

Browns Take Lead.

Hallett had one out in the first inning before the Browns set around scoring. Radcliff singled to right and Rosenthal let the ball hop past him, Radcliff scooting to third. Laabs walked. When Judnich popped to Knickerbocker, the situation cleared a bit, but it was quickly clouded again by McQuinn's single to center, Radcliff scoring and Laabs taking third. That concluded the excitement for a few moments. Hallett seemed to be in for it again in the second, when two hits and a pass filled the bases with one out, but Laabs' liner to Knickerbocker brought quick relief.

After scoring the tying run in the third, the Sox autographed a card of thanks to Clift. He aided them by throwing wild to first on Hallett's grounder with one out. Knickerbocker, who singled in the first inning, was ... only to be picked off base.

HIGH QUEST'S SON SCORES TRIUMPH AT SPORTSMAN'S

James Quest's 1st Victory Returns $83.60.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

James Quest, a 2 year old colt from the stable of Owens and Hedde, threw an oat and hay party last night in his stable along the back stretch of Sportsman's park.

Before Jim stood treat for the rest of the boys, he wired his dad, High Quest, that he had won the first race of his life in the four and a half furlong third race for maiden 2 year olds. The old man must have felt pretty fine about the whole business, for it's seven years ago next month that High Quest himself ran off with one of the turf's big league races, the Preakness.

If James Quest was seen to sneer a trifle triumphantly when he came back to the winner's circle, he could well be pardoned. For there were only a few in the crowd of 8,000 who thought enough of Jim's running ability to wager on him, with the result that he returned $83.60 for each $2 win ticket, the highest price of the two days of the meeting.

James Quest Takes His Time.

Two starts at Oaklawn park were James Quest's only public appearances prior to yesterday's romp of 990 yards. He minded his manners at the start, but under the urging of LeRoy Pierson, who in two days of riding at Sportsman's has identified himself as one of the ablest jockeys at the little half mile track, stayed within reach of the pace. That was set by the 7 to 5 favorite, Miss Cedar, and Brown Blizzard, to such an extent that it looked like a two horse race until the top of the stretch. Entering the final furlong, it looked like Miss Cedar would take the measure of Brown Blizzard.

This was before Pierson tapped James Quest with his whip, causing that youngster to get going from an outside position and finish half a length in front of the two early leaders. These latter went under the wire so closely that they divided the place and show money on a dead heat basis. Miss Cedar was at $2.60 to place and $3 to show, against Brown Blizzard's $3.60 and $4.40. Since the distance was a new one, James Quest's time of :58 1-5 will stand as a track record.

Sir Reynard Destroyed.

The first serious mishap of the meeting occurred at the first turn in the second race, where Sir Reynard, the 6 to 5 favorite, spilled while going wide and suffered a broken left shoulder. The 4 year old son of Gallant Fox was later destroyed. His rider, Clare Critchfield, was somewhat shaken up, but arose under his own power and will resume work this afternoon.

Paul Keiper, the jockey who led all riders at Sportsman's 1940 autumnal meeting, announced his arrival from Havre de Grace by winning the fourth race with a five length decision for Flag Post, which paid $11.20.

Pari King, a 3 year old from the King Farm stable, ran off with the Garfield Park, featured race of the program. With D. Scurlock rating him neatly on the first trip around the track, the colt came up to win by three lengths over the favorite, Must Go, a 2 to 1 chance which made its move a trifle late.

Proprietors to Entertain Prep Bowlers

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, sponsor of the Chicago High School Bowling club, will be host to some 3,000 high school bowlers Sunday, May 11, at the club's fourth annual banquet in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Trophies and other awards will be presented to the prize winning teams and individuals among students of Chicago.

Judge Stephen Adamowski, president of the Chicago Bowling association, will be master of ceremonies. Milton Raymer, Tilden High teacher and nationally recognized as the foremost figure in high school bowling, will speak.

The Pepsi-Colas all but clinched the North End Traveling league title by winning two games from the runner-up Chapin & Gores at Milford last night. They need only one of the remaining six games, but may run into trouble tonight when they meet the Birk Trophy Beers in a postponed series. Reason: Birks piled up a 3,359 total, highest in the league this season, in their match with De Luxe recreation last night.

Albert Tabor, who started bowling when he was past 50 and is now 77 years old, won the final sweepstakes of the Adams-Wabash league at Bensinger's. His scores of 237, 178, and 198 plus handicap gave him 706. . . . A. J. Dluzak's Managers team won the roll-off to break a three way tie for the title in the 16 team Calumet Shops league of the Pullman company. The Tin and Joiners teams were the others in the tie. . . . Rheingold Beers, high ranking team in the ABC tourney, have clinched the South End Traveling league title. Chicago recreation is almost certain to finish second. The league winds up Saturday. . . . Entries close Thursday for Our Lady of Grace handicap tournament, opening Sunday at Fullerton-Crawford. Eddie Tadevich is manager. . . . Lincolnshire Country club holds the banquet for its three leagues—in Chicago, Chicago Heights, and Steger—at the club Saturday.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28 (AP).—The week-end assault in which leaders were given a general shakeup in the American Bowling Congress tourney was followed by a drought in high scores today, yet Freddie Wolf, of the Stroh Bohemians of Detroit who hit 2,959 in the team event Sunday, gave the matinée fans a thrill when he posted 290 in his final game in the singles. Opening with a spare in the first frame, after leaving the No. 10 pin standing on a pocket hit, Wolf made 11 consecutive strikes to tie for third high game of the meet.

Opens with Low Score.

Wolf opened with only 152 and hit 205 in the second game. His 290 gave him a 657 tally.

High solo series of the day was chalked up by Louis Errico, Syracuse, N. Y., who collected 691 on games of 212, 234 and 245.

CHICAGO CRAFT WILL GET MORE MOORING SPACE

Overcrowded Conditions in Harbors Cited.

Two hundred more moorings and slips will be provided in Chicago park and federal yacht harbors this summer, it was revealed last night at a harbor conference of yachting, governmental, and marine officials called by the Central Marine Chamber of Commerce. Frank Combiths was chairman of the meeting, held in the St. Clair hotel.

A total of 1,200 craft will be able to use the seven harbors of the Chicago park district, according to Capt. C. Burwell, new yacht harbormaster. This is 150 more than last year, he said, due entirely to new moorings in Burnham park harbor.

Appropriations Used Up.

A few more motor yachts and runabouts could be taken care of if slips could be built in Diversey and Burnham park harbors, it was stated by Harry O'Hare, director of buildings and facilities for the park district. However, the parks' appropriations for improvements are used up to the limit, O'Hare added, leaving no more funds to finance the construction of slips without changes in the tax rates. The other park harbors are filled to their maximum with present areas, he said.

A total of 417 yachts will be accommodated in anchorage areas D and E, Grant park harbor, it was stated by Chief Boatswain's Mate Gordon Disbury, assistant to the captain of the port of the Chicago coast guard. The 417 include 50 new moorings to be made available for the first time.

Many Small Craft Sunk.

Nearly 60 small craft were sunk or wrecked in Grant park harbor last summer, Boatswain Disbury said on the subject of safety. This was not the fault of the coast guard, he asserted, but was due to their lack of authority to recommend officially any standards of anchor weights, etc.

Between 40 and 50 yachts will be able to use anchorage C, north of Navy pier, this summer, Boatswain Disbury said. This area has the most possibilities, but must be adequately protected before extensively filled with moorings and slips.

Financing Discussed.

Proposals for financing improvements on the lake front were laid before the conference by Commodore Victor C. Milliken of the Chicago Yacht club, George W. Schaeffer of the Southern Shore Yacht club, Christen J. Peterson of the Lake Michigan Yachting association, Dr. O. E. Nadeau, commodore of the Columbia Yacht club, and David C. Zimmerman, former commodore of the Lake Michigan Yachting association.

Representatives of the Jackson Park, Chicago Corinthian, and Diversey Yacht clubs, the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the National Outboard association were also present.

HARVARD CREW CAPTURES ROWE MEMORIAL RACE

Cambridge, Mass., April 28 (AP).—Harvard's varsity crew defeated Massachusetts Institute of Technology by two lengths and Boston university's eight by eight and a half lengths this evening in the feature event of the postponed Rowe Memorial regatta on the Charles river. Crimson oarsmen also triumphed in three other races.

The junior varsity race resulted in a two and a half length victory for Harvard over M. I. T. and 14 lengths over Boston university. The Crimson 150 pound varsity pulled ahead during the last 20 strokes and beat the M. I. T. lightweights by about three feet. In the junior varsity 150 pound event, another dual race, Harvard whipped M. I. T. by nine lengths.

The races were over the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths.

CALIFORNIA RACE BODY THREATENS TO SEIZE TRACKS

San Francisco, Cal., April 28 (AP).—Jerry Giesler, chairman of the state racing commission, said today the state might take over and operate all horse racing tracks in California.

Discussing racing bills now before the state legislature, Giesler said there was so much greed being shown by certain groups in the racing business, and so much squabbling, that the public might become disgusted.

If the state should take over the tracks it would get 12 per cent of the take, instead of the 4 per cent it now receives, thereby boosting its gross income from $3,500,000 a year to $10,500,000. He did not know how the state would acquire control.

Justice Prevails; Blind Umpires Are Ruled Out

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 28 (AP).—O. K. Blauvelt, president of the National Association of Baseball Umpires, affiliated with the National Semipro Baseball congress, wants no blind umpires in his organization. Beginning next year, Blauvelt said he would require all of his umpires to obtain a physician's certificate approving their vision.

Sox Triumph, 2-1, to Sweep Brown Series

singled again. Appling, who walked in the opening inning, walked again, filling the bases. Kuhel ripped loose a long drive to right center, but it was heading straight into the wind and came down just in front of the wall where Judnich was waiting. Hallett scored after the catch, then Short ended the inning with a lengthy fly to Judnich in left center.

Sox Go Ahead.

Hallett had quite a job on his hands in the fourth, but he handled it successfully. Heffner led off with a single and Grube singled to right on a hit-run play, Heffner taking third. Kennedy grounded to Kuhel, who, instead of throwing the ball, hustled across the diamond to trap Heffner. Heffner then broke for the plate, so Kuhel tossed to Tresh for the putout. Tresh then whipped a throw to Lodigiani and Grube was doubled going into third. Appling threw out Clift for the third out.

Short and Lodigiani expired on infield taps in the sixth before arrangements were made for the Sox to assume a 2 to 1 lead. Rosenthal walked and was promoted to second base by Kreevich's single. Tresh whacked a hit past Heffner and Rosenthal scored, Kreevich going to third and Tresh to second on the throw-in. Hallett coaxed a pass from Kennedy, loading the bases, but Knickerbocker tapped into a force play.

Stop Thief Technique.

The eighth was another session fraught with peril for Hallett. Berardino lined to left for a starter and because of Short's fancy swan dive, it rolled to the fence for a double. Heffner bunted Berardino to third and Roy Cullenbine, who batted for Grube, drew free passage. Joe Grace batted for Kennedy and fanned. While Clift was at the plate, Berardino decided to take matters into his own hands. He tried to steal home, but was killed off with ease. Hallett was not annoyed in the ninth except for a double by Laabs after two were out.

Sox and Lee Face Senators at Home Today

Solters' ailment was a jammed right index finger resulting from an attempted shoe string catch yesterday. He practiced today, but soon discovered he couldn't grip a bat. He expects to be O. Court Orders Turf License for J. D. Mikel

It may not enable him to race his horses, but J. D. Mikel, Carlock, Ill., racehorse trainer, who has been barred from Illinois race tracks since 1935, secured another mandamus order from Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday compelling the Illinois Racing commission to grant him a 1941 trainer's license.

Judge Fisher issued a similar mandamus for the 1939 season, but the commission appealed his ruling, and by the time the Appellate court rendered its decision, the season was over. The Appellate court held that since the license would do Mikel no good, its issuance was a moot question. They ordered Judge Fisher to quash the mandamus.

Whether the commission will appeal Judge Fisher's order of yesterday, its attorney, Stephen M. Fleming, said he does not know.

The commission disqualified Mikel in 1935, charging he raced a 3 year old horse in a 2 year old race. Judge Fisher has found the charges to be unproved.

YES, FOLKS, WE'VE BREWED BEER THE SAME WAY FOR 50 YEARS

by Richard Seibold
MEISTER BRÄU Brewmaster

This old picture was made about the time we started making Meister Bräu.

We always made an all-grain brew
No Added Sugars or Syrups and bottled with Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created in the brew itself

● Our brewing methods are as old-fashioned as this picture, and here's the reason. We've experimented with a lot of short cuts in hopes of finding a way to make a little better beer. But I'll defy anybody to beat the old way.

Adding sugars or syrups to the brew is one of the short cuts. We could do it as easily as anybody, but we'll keep on making an all-grain beer, as always.

And we won't change our old way of bottling with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created right in the brew. That's to keep the natural life and sparkle in the brew—true all-grain flavor unchanged in bottling.

Get the truth about beer flavor for yourself with the old-time test brewing experts use—the "50 Degrees" Test. Taste and compare flavors, undisguised by too much cold—at 50 degrees, where true flavor, good or bad, shows up.

Order some Meister Bräu and compare with any other, regardless of price. Phone now for free delivery.

SPECTATOR DIES, 4 IN CAR HURT IN MYSTERY CRASH

Auto Is Found Abandoned After Collision.

Four persons were injured yesterday in a mysterious automobile collision at 71st and Halsted streets which indirectly caused the death of a spectator. The four, who were in one car, are Burton Holt, 27 years old, 6832 Halsted street, the driver; Miss Laverne Rosenthal, 29, of 809 Hyde Park boulevard; Edward Conerty, 29, of 7905 Throop street, and his wife, Marcella, 28.

Police found the other car abandoned and traced its license to Fred H. Saul, 704 West 61st place. Saul's wife, Bessie, 30, said she had quarreled with her husband in a tavern and had taken the car keys and gone home, but denied she had driven the car. She was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

The spectator who was killed was Chester Pacholek, 28, of 4930 South Kolin avenue, who stepped into the street after the collision and was struck by a car driven by Arthur E. Larson, 8739 South Hermitage avenue.

Peter Urbanowice, 50, a stockyards riveter living at 5633 Wells street, died after being struck by a hit-run driver at Garfield boulevard and Wentworth avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 270 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 206 died in Chicago, where 6,296 were injured in traffic in the same period.

CHILD LOSES TWO YEAR FIGHT WITH CANCER OF BONE

New York, April 28 (AP).—Golden curled Dorothy Lewis, to whom the medical world had given one chance in ten to live, lost that chance today. She died in a Bronx nursing home, victim at 11 of bone cancer which had necessitated amputation of a leg two years ago.

Dorothy Lewis.

Around Christmas time, 1938, Dorothy first felt pain in her left leg. Doctors urged immediate amputation, or they said, Dorothy would not live long. Her father refused to sign releases for such surgery. Dorothy lay gravely ill.

The story spread around the world. Medical men communicated with Lewis, urging him to allow the operation. Finally Lewis agreed and last year it seemed she would live. She even returned to school.

A month ago when she celebrated her birthday, she seemed completely well, hobbling about on her artificial leg, playing with children in the street.

Her mother died when Dorothy was a baby. Her father is a park laborer.

CAMP FORREST'S TROOPS GET THEIR FIRST FRESH MILK

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 28 (AP).—Soldiers were given fresh milk today for the first time since they arrived in camp several weeks ago. Lieut. Col. Rufus Boylan, camp quartermaster, announced that the problem of finding enough milk in Tennessee to meet the army's specifications has been solved.

"We are buying milk on the open market," Boylan said, indicating the army had turned down proffered contracts for milk in favor of buying on a day to day basis from the lowest bidder, providing the milk offered met army standards.

Each soldier will get half a pint of milk a day and only one dairy in Tennessee has said it was prepared to supply the entire amount needed daily when all 30,000 troops are here. One dairyman said an inspection requirement has kept many dairies from meeting army standards, as there are only five inspectors in the state.

SAFETY COUNCIL MEMBER IS FINED AS DRUNK DRIVER

Charles S. Traer.

Charles S. Traer, 50 years old, president of the Acme Steel company and member of the advisory board of the Greater Chicago Safety council, was fined $100 and costs in Safety court yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Sergt. Maurice Begner and Policeman Helge Peterson of the park police said they arrested Traer after following his car from the Outer drive bridge to 16th street as the steel company executive and his wife were on their way home to 6901 Oglesby avenue.

Traer said that he had drunk three highballs, but denied he was intoxicated. He said that his car had a tendency to zigzag.

"This is embarrassing to me," Judge Jay A. Schiller said when he imposed the fine. "But I have no alternative. I am sure that you, as a member of the safety council, will approve of finding a violator guilty."

BUSINESS NEED IS TO AVOID WAR, KEMPER WARNS

Chamber Told Cost May Be Freedom.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Solemn assurances that American business men do not want participation in the war abroad were given today as the Chamber of Commerce of the United States opened its 29th annual meeting.

James S. Kemper.

War and problems created by the armament program were uppermost in the minds of the 1,000 business leaders here for the four day session.

In his keynote address, James S. Kemper, president of the chamber and president of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company, Chicago, pledged whole hearted support to the armament program and acceptance of the sacrifices entailed. But he coupled this pledge with a warning against losing democracy at home in the name of saving it abroad.

Know Horrors of War.

In the same vein, John W. O'Leary, chairman of the chamber's executive committee and chairman of Arthur J. O'Leary and Son company, Chicago, told the convention:

"Business men do not want war. They know too well the horrors of it, because as human beings they have no wish for the heart-rending consequences. As economic realists, they recognize the assurance of destruction of profit and progress. Because of that knowledge, they will give every ounce of energy and ability to the prevention of it, if possible, and the determined prosecution of it, if necessary."

Kemper earlier had told the delegates, representing a cross section of American business and industry, that already in the United States there has been a loss of rights approaching those witnessed in continental Europe.

Hits Law by Decree.

"There has been in the United States a process toward making the state supreme—in short, the very sort of life and philosophy some would have us send our sons abroad to suppress," said Kemper.

"Long, even before the rearmament program was undertaken, we were witnessing laws by decree and not by the normal processes of representative democracy. The label of attempted justification has been 'emergency' whereas it might more properly be called 'political expediency'."

Our previous foreign policy of aloofness from the quarrels of the rest of the world has been cast aside, Kemper asserted. He added that there is some doubt whether the implications of the lend-lease legislation are fully realized but said that he would not analyze the extent to which support of this legislation is inconsistent with the greater opposition to American participation in the war.

Must Accept Substitutes.

Kemper said that priorities and imposition of substitutes must be accepted as part of the armament program, but warned against disrupting production for civilian consumption. Even the British are not doing this, he said.

He expressed opposition to legislation outlawing strikes, indorsed increased taxes rather than borrowing to finance the armament program, and called for reduction of nonmilitary government expenditures.

"In November, 1940," said Kemper, "the President stated that nonmilitary expenditures would be 'cut to the bone,' yet the total of these items in the new budget was less than 1 per cent below the budget of the previous year [$6,674,000,000, a reduction of but $64,000,000]. The secretary of the treasury on Feb. 12 of this year urged congress to examine nonmilitary expenditures with a magnifying glass in an effort to achieve economies, but so far either congress or the magnifying glass has failed to work."

He proposed immediate initiation of a postwar planning program "to escape from a lot of crackpot schemes" in the future. As in recent years, President Roosevelt again ignored the chamber which he addressed in earlier years of his administration.

Congress Asked to Build Another Dam Near Boulder

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The department of the interior announced today it had recommended to the President and congress construction of the $41,200,000 Bull's Head dam on the Colorado river 67 miles downstream from Boulder dam. It described the development as "another great multi-purpose power and irrigation dam." The plant, it said, would have an estimated capacity of 225,000 kilowatts, approximately a third that of Boulder's installed capacity of 704,800 kilowatts.

Boeing Deliveries More than Double in Quarter

New York, April 28 (AP).—Boeing Airplane company today reported its deliveries in the first quarter of this year were $9,038,519, compared with $4,621,184 in the corresponding 1940 period. The figures cover the Stearman Aircraft division at Wichita, Kas., and Boeing Aircraft company in Seattle, Wash. The company booked $3,182,508 of new orders during the quarter, and finished the period with $190,666,435 of unfilled orders.

Vast Supplies of Food Move East to Britain

Large quantities of pork, lard, cheese, eggs, and dry beans, all products of the Chicago area, began moving toward the eastern seaboard over the week-end, presumably for shipment to England. These supplies, purchased with government funds under the lend-lease bill, were acquired at a cost of millions of dollars, sellers said yesterday.

In addition to vast reserves accumulated after passage of the lend-lease measure, the department of agriculture disclosed during the day that it had swelled its larder with the following purchases last week:

Pork products, 40,418,884 pounds; lard, 21,718,400 pounds; eggs, 4,041,090 dozens; cheese, 3,018,600 pounds; dry beans, 9,990,000 pounds; oranges, 10,626 boxes; grapefruit, 739 tons; white potatoes, 74,400 bushels, and fresh apples, 210,493 bushels.

Some Destined for Britain.

The department said the commodities were purchased for transfer to England, for domestic distribution to needy families, and for Red Cross shipment to war refugee areas.

Packing company officials said that large quantities of the pork products were purchased on "rush" orders. Contracts called for delivery on May 2 at points to be designated by the department of agriculture. The packing officials said they believed the pork would be shipped to Britain. Other contracts awarded during the week called for delivery over the next two months.

Much of the 21 million pounds of lard has been ordered transferred to storage warehouses in northern New York, close to eastern and Canadian ports, packers said. Based on prevailing market prices, it was estimated that the government paid nearly 2 million dollars for the lard.

Dairy products dealers said the government is moving its cheese holdings out of Wisconsin and other midwestern dairy states to the east as rapidly as sales are completed.

8 Million Pounds Owned.

They said the Surplus Marketing administration, buying agency, owns 8,608,000 pounds. Based on Wisconsin prices, last week's purchases cost the SMA more than half a million dollars.

Trainloads of eggs have been rolling to New York from Chicago and the middlewest since last Thursday, dealers said. The eggs were consigned to the British ministry. They said most of last week's purchases, made at a cost of nearly 1 million dollars, had been ordered shipped to New York.

Production of dry beans centers in Michigan. This commodity is one of the farm crops which the department of agriculture has asked farmers to expand considerably.

BUSINESS LOANS DECLINE AFTER 29 WEEKS' RISE

A decline in bank loans to industry and to brokers and dealers in securities was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board for the system's member banks in the week ended Wednesday.

GENERAL MOTORS AND CIO SEEK TO REDUCE ISSUES

Detroit, Mich., April 28 (AP).—Relieved temporarily at least of strike-threat tension negotiators in the contract dispute between General Motors corporation and the United Automobile Workers [CIO] attempted today to reduce the issues which have prevented a settlement.

James F. Dewel, federal labor conciliator authorized by the national defense mediation board to continue negotiations in its behalf, said he expected the conferees would "get down to brass tacks" this week.

Yesterday the union's international executive board by unanimous action affirmed the decision of the UAW-CIO negotiating committee to defer strike action for a "reasonable period."

Report Germans Use Wood to Make Live Stock Feeds

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Germany, Sweden, Norway and Finland were said by the department of agriculture today to be converting wood into live stock feed on a fairly extensive scale. The blockade has cut off overseas supplies of feed to maintain their large live stock industries.

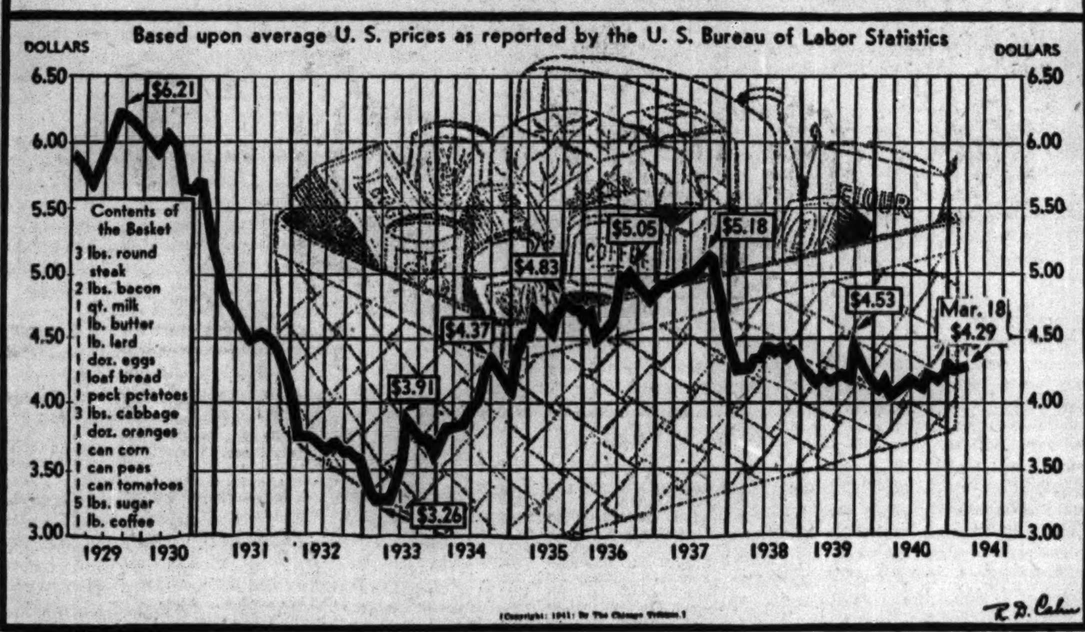
The Cost of the Market Basket



North Western Raises Budget by 2 Millions

Plans for expenditure of vast sums by railroads and industrial companies were announced yesterday in additional moves to prepare for the demands of the armament program.

In Chicago the North Western road disclosed it will boost its 1941 spending budget to $36,894,000 for maintenance and improvement of roadways and existing equipment. Last year such expenditures totaled $34,105,000.

R. L. Williams, North Western's chief executive officer, said the program includes improvements to roadway and track in Wisconsin and Michigan in preparation for additional high speed passenger service with new streamlined equipment. Most of this work will be done between Chicago and Green Bay, between Green Bay and Ishpeming, and between Milwaukee and Madison, Williams said.

To Hire Local Labor.

"The program is underway, and we expect to have it completed by Sept. 1," Williams said. "At least 50 per cent of the labor will be done by extra employés hired where available from the neighborhood in which the work is to be done."

The budget is in addition to large outlays for new equipment.

Two other railroads announced freight car purchases which will involve expenditure of a total of 5 million dollars. The larger of the orders was for 1,960 cars and was let by the Louisville and Nashville road to the Bessemer, Ala., plant of Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company. The Atlantic Coast Line railroad ordered 800 box cars from Pullman-Standard.

The New York, New Haven, and Hartford asked the New Haven, Conn., federal court for permission to spend $2,275,000 for new equipment, including five Diesel-electric locomotives for passenger or freight service.

In addition, several roads have made inquiries for more than 3,000 freight cars, according to Railway Age.

Finance Zinc Plant.

American Smelting and Refining company reported it completed arrangements to establish a $5,200,000 electrolytic zinc refining plant at Corpus Christi, Tex. The plant, financed by the company, will start production in about 18 months and will sell the first 50,000 tons of refined zinc to the government. Production capacity will be 2,000 tons a month.

Radio Corporation of America borrowed an additional 10 million dollars from banks to finance an expansion of production facilities to meet demands of the armament program and expanding orders from its regular customers. The program was begun last October, when the company borrowed 5 millions.

The Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation of San Pedro, Cal., borrowed $1,250,000 from a bank and $1,250,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to help handle the company's naval orders.

ILLINOIS CRUDE OIL MARKED UP FOR THIRD TIME

Mount Vernon, Ill., April 28 (AP).—A 5 cents a barrel increase in the price of Illinois and Indiana crude oil was posted today, effective immediately, by two petroleum purchasing corporations.

J. H. Wilson, vice president of the Sohio corporation, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Ohio, announced here that the new price for Indiana and Illinois petroleum was $1.27 per barrel except in the old fields of southeastern Illinois where the 5 cent increase advanced the price to $1.12 per barrel.

At Robinson the Ohio Oil company announced a 5 cent increase in its purchase prices in the two states.

The increase was the third this month and crude prices now are 12 cents per barrel higher than in March.

CRANE, GEN. ELECTRIC ANNOUNCE BOOSTS IN WAGES OF WORKERS

Several large companies announced wage increases yesterday. Ten per cent raises were granted 9,000 to 10,000 hourly and piece work employés of the Crane company in the Chicago plant, Charles B. Nolte, president, said, and the General Electric company announced a 10 per cent raise for between 75,000 and 80,000 factory workers in its major plants.

Some of the other plants of the Crane company, mostly subsidiaries, have made similar adjustments in the last three or four weeks, Nolte said.

An agreement providing wage increases of $18 a month for salaried union employés of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company was announced.

More than 10,000 of the 20,000 "white collar" employés of the United States Steel corporation have received pay increase, that company disclosed. Employés earning up to $4,000 yearly were affected.

Pay increases for 570 employés of the MacWhyte company, Kenosha, Wis., were announced by Jessel S. Whyte, president. The company has government contracts for aircraft wires and submarine cables.

Employés of the Fairchild Aviation corporation accepted a new two year agreement reached Sunday, including a blanket wage raise of 7 cents an hour and two weeks' vacation.

RAISE SAVAGE ARMS COMMON DIVIDEND TO $1.50

Directors of the Savage Arms corporation, New York City, holder of large war department contracts, yesterday voted a dividend of $1.50 on the common stock. The company last paid 75 cents on March 13, 1941. The disbursement in May last year amounted to 25 cents.

U. S. Rubber Co. Dividend Is Blocked by Court Order

New York, April 28 [Special].—Because of a temporary restraining order issued by the federal court at Newark, N. J., the United States Rubber company today notified its common stock holders that the dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, declared on March 5, will not be paid on April 30, the payable date. Soon after the declaration of this dividend a preferred stock holder filed suit to enjoin its payment.

Coal Shortage Slows Output of Steel Ingots

Reflecting the effects of the coal stoppage, steel ingot production this week will drop 1.7 points to 94.3 per cent of capacity, the American Iron & Steel institute estimated yesterday. This is the third successive week in which the nation's steel output has declined.

A month ago the production rate was at 99.2 per cent of capacity, and a year ago at 61.8 per cent. The current drop to 94.3 per cent means that there has been a reduction of 88,684 net tons per week in output from the peak five weeks ago, steel men estimated.

Annual Capacity, 84 Million Tons.

At the 94.3 per cent rate, production of ingots this week would be 1,521,900 net tons, or at a rate of 79,351,866 net tons a year. For the week beginning March 24, when the rate was 99.8 per cent, output was 1,610,583 net tons, or at the annual rate of 83,975,850 net tons. The institute bases its weekly figures on a capacity of 84,152,292 net tons a year.

Steel authorities explained that even after coal production resumes its normal rate, some time must elapse before the steel industry's needed coke supply is sufficient to permit resumption of near capacity operations. More than 20 blast furnaces are shut down.

Make Needed Repairs.

Steel companies now, however, are able to make needed repairs of many of their facilities, with the expectation of being able to expand operations when they again can obtain fuel.

Contracts for fabricated structural steel closed during March amounted to 187,143 tons against 165,371 in February and 128,321 in March, 1940, the American Institute of Steel Construction estimated. March shipments totaled 163,053 tons compared with 158,745 in February and 95,915 in March last year.

NEW PRIORITIES BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Sweeping legislation under which the government could direct industry to give precedence to all United States arms materials and supplies for nations battling the axis, was approved by the house naval committee today. Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], sponsor of the measure to expand the existing priorities system, said he would seek speedy consideration on the house floor.

The bill would permit the Office of Production Management to apply the "urgently needed" designation to all arms materials, including those being produced by subcontractors.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., director of priorities, told the committee the OPM was drafting a new system to control possible "leakage" of arms materials into normal production, a program Vinson called an effort to stop any "bootlegging" of preparedness goods.

PROVIDING INVESTMENT CAPITAL
To The West North Central States

NOT long since, the stamping ground of the Indian and buffalo, the West North Central States now occupy a preeminent position as the granary of the Nation, and have become increasingly important in its industrial development.

Settled by virile peoples from the Old World—with limited resources but possessing great courage—farms were wrested from the prairies, towns and cities were built. Funds for required public improvements, and for much of the industrial progress of these States came, of necessity, from older sections. In this transfer of funds, the facilities of investment organizations such as our own have been an important factor.

WOOD REVEALS BOOST IN SEARS SALES, EARNINGS

Growing Taxes Halt Firm's Expansion.

Increased sales were reported at annual stockholders' meetings yesterday by the heads of several companies, including Sears, Roebuck & Co., Allied Chemical and Dye corporation, and Otis Elevator company.

Sears, the world's largest mail order and retail store enterprise, had gains of 29 per cent in sales and 80 per cent in profits before taxes during the first quarter of its current fiscal year, Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman, told stockholders in New York City.

Because of the prospect of new and higher taxes, however, Wood said that he could not estimate the earnings per share. Even with the most stringent taxes, earnings for the quarter should be as large as a year ago and "possibly somewhat better," he said. Net income for the three months ended April 30, 1940, was $7,641,000, equal to $1.35 a share.

Taxes Halt Expansion.

The company will halt its expansion program this year because of international uncertainties and the outlook for taxes, Wood said.

Stockholders approved a resolution fixing the number of directors at not less than 10 nor more than 18. They also approved the indemnification of directors and officers against legal expenses incurred as a result of their connection with the company.

A shareholder's resolution that all directors should own stock in the company also was passed.

H. F. Atherton, president of Allied Chemical & Dye, said at the meeting in New York City that sales in the March quarter were about 25 per cent larger than a year earlier, and that April business was continuing the improvement. Atherton asserted that it is impossible to measure the effect of taxes and other current factors on earnings.

Otis Plants near Capacity.

Otis Elevator company plants are operating close to capacity for the first time since 1929 or 1930, Jesse H. Van Alstyne, president, told the stockholders in New York City, with prospects that plants will continue at that rate for the rest of the year.

Armament orders amount to about 12 million dollars, of which 8 millions is accounted for by an order for crankcase housings for Wright Aeronautical company.

In addition the company is doing a substantial business in the manufacture of machine tools, turning out 10 lathes and 20 profilers each week, Van Alstyne said.

In the first quarter of 1941, domestic elevator sales of Otis were 47 per cent larger than a year earlier, he reported. The company sold more escalators in the quarter than in all 1940, he added.

Lower earnings in the March quarter compared with the 1940 period were due in part to the reduced dividends received from foreign countries and to the need for machine tool repairs to handle the more exacting armament work, Van Alstyne said.

The new slate will join present governors on May 19. Stott succeeds Charles B. Harding in the unpaid job of chairman.

Fuller Assails Official Stand About Strikes

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28 (AP).—Disputing statements by government officials concerning armament industry strikes, Walter D. Fuller, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, asserted tonight that "propagandizing ourselves into believing that strikes in armament industries don't amount to much is to invite national tragedy."

Walter D. Fuller.

"America needs to be shocked," Fuller, who is president of the Curtis Publishing company, told a regional N. A. M. conference. "America needs to be brought up short against the stark realism of what is going on about us. Playing ostrich with the facts is gambling with our destiny."

Hits Belittling Attitude.

He declared that "the activities of the administration have been pretty much limited to efforts to belittle the effects of strikes."

The soft coal strike "is classified by government spokesmen as a nondefense stoppage," he declared and added "during the first three months of this year strikes in armament industries alone lost 1,577816 man-days.

"Is that much or isn't it? Perhaps the mothers and fathers of draftees will answer that question when they learn that the time lost has been enough to equip 1,402,480 American boys with the latest Garand rifles."

Strikes Worst Bottleneck.

Altho strikes are "admittedly the major bottleneck," Fuller asserted, "we find a disposition to overlook all faults except those which can be laid to industry and management."

The fact is, he said, "that American industry in 10 months has performed a modern miracle. In that time, thru the voluntary coöperation of free men, we have made more progress than Hitler did in two and a half years with his much-vaunted dictated economy."

Yet, he said, "manufacturers are still under attack from many sides."

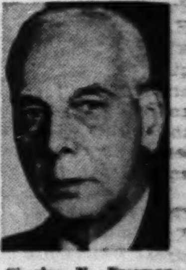
Illinois State Banks Hold Deposits of 1.3 Billions

State banks in Illinois had deposits totaling $1,300,534,022 on April 4, State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder reported yesterday. Demand deposits of the 503 state chartered banks amounted to $899,389,847 and savings and time deposits totaled $401,144,175. Deposits in the 23 state banks in Chicago were $869,353,334.

EDISON INCOME UP IN QUARTER AND 12 MONTHS

Steep Boosts Shown in Tax Bills.

Gains in net income of the Commonwealth Edison company for the first quarter of this year and the 12 months ended March 31 were reported yesterday by Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the company.



Charles Y. Freeman.

With sales of electricity and gas increasing, consolidated net income in the March quarter amounted to $9,320,760, equal to 73 cents a share. Net income in the comparable 1940 period was $9,146,256, equal to 75 cents a share on a smaller number of shares outstanding at that time.

The 12 month report listed net income of $29,345,260, equal to $2.31 a share, compared with $27,793,407, or $2.29 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

Sales Up 8.2 Per Cent.

Sales of electricity in kilowatt hours for the March quarter reached 1,964,753,445, against 1,815,120,869 in the 1940 period, an increase of 8.2 per cent. Total electric revenues were up 5.2 per cent.

Gas sales in therms totaled 68,097,637, a gain of 10.7 per cent over the volume of 61,518,932 therms in the first three months of last year. Gas revenues increased 4.6 per cent.

Freeman noted that the $3,123,762 federal income tax provision for the March quarter was based on the present 24 per cent rate, while the $2,143,270 provision for the 1940 period was figured at the 18 per cent rate then in effect. Because of the change in the tax law, the 1940 quarter provision was boosted by $714,000, with this increase included in the 12 months report.

Socony Earnings Rise.

The Socony-Vacuum Oil company realized net income of $36,409,055, equal to $1.17 a share, in 1940, compared with $34,452,710, or $1.10 a share, in 1939, John A. Brown, president, announced in his annual report

LAST HOUR RALLY LEAVES STOCKS SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Volume Drops; List Shaky Most of Session.

New York, April 28 (AP).—The stock market shook off pessimistic news items today and many favorites posted recoveries of fractions to more than a point.

The list was a bit shaky until the final hour when buying of steels, aircrafts, and specialties turned the tide to an irregularly higher close.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 of a point at 39.5. Volume dropped sharply on the revival, however, transfers of 310,810 shares being the smallest for a full session since March 5. They compared with 424,900 Friday.

Steel Dip Below Expectations.

Steels edged forward at the last after this week's mill operations had officially been placed at a decline of 1.7 points from the week before. The recession was much less than most had expected.

Prominent stocks on the upside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Curtiss-Wright A, Bendix, Air Reduction, Union Carbide, General Steel Castings preferred, Loft, Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Montgomery Ward, and Consolidated Edison.

Chrysler was unchanged and General Motors down ⅛. Others closing lower were Standard Oil of New Jersey, Goodyear, Woolworth, New York Central, Allied Chemical, Kennecott, and Johns-Manville.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Stocks edged higher in transfer of only 13,000 shares yesterday as the Chicago Stock exchange began its shortened trading session with the close at 2:30 instead of 3 o'clock.

Turnover during the last half hour totaled 630 shares. Only once was volume lower in the 2 to 3 o'clock extra hour, which was added to the session Sept. 30 in an effort to stimulate sales. The March 17 total was 600 shares. The period was shortened to determine whether equivalent results could be obtained in the half hour.

Commonwealth Edison was the trading favorite yesterday on sales of 600 shares, closing at 26¾, down ⅛. Serrick B, also a volume leader, set a new 1941 high at 3⅞, up ¾. Butler Brothers was the only dually listed issue recording a change from the New York close after 2 o'clock, finishing at 4⅝, up ½.

HOPES FOR RISE IN LOANS CARRY GRAINS UPWARD

Reports indicating that congress might take action on the much discussed bills to place a higher loan rate on the 1941 wheat crop stimulated buying of futures yesterday.

Wheat advanced 1½ to 2 cents from the early low with May selling within about 1 cent of the seasonal high. While profit taking and hedging shaded peak prices the close was at gains of ½ to ⅞ cent.

Corn and other grains moved upward with wheat. Corn closed ⅛ to ½ cent higher, with May selling at 68⅝ cents at one time, or only ⅛ cent under the seasonal high. Oats gained ⅛ to ¾ cent and rye was ½ to 1⅛ cents higher.

Soy beans jumped more than 2 cents at the height of buying and closed ¾ to 1⅜ cents higher. The May delivery sold at $1.24½ to equal the highest price so far this season. Lard futures closed 5 to 10 cents per 100 pounds lower.

Weather conditions in the wheat belt were generally favorable over the week-end and the crop was said to be making rapid progress.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

COTTON

Reports of a possibility that congress will take action on farm legislation this week had little effect on the cotton futures market yesterday. Prices held within narrow limits, with scattered liquidation and hedging pressure offset by mill and commission house buying. Closing sales were unchanged to .07 cent a pound higher.

Cash cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent higher, with New York, 11.34 cents; New Orleans, 11.00 cents; Galveston, 10.87 cents, and Houston at 10.85 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

BOARD OF TRADE GRAIN FUTURES

STAPLE MARKETS LITTLE CHANGED IN DULL TRADING

Rubber, Hides Advance; Many Others Lag.

Commodities for future delivery yesterday showed little indication of following thru with last week's rally. Trading dawdled and price changes were small. Certain contracts in rubber and hides showed modest advances, while wool tops and Santos coffee were mixed and copper, domestic sugar, cottonseed oil, silk and cocoa backed down.

Rubber futures, which have been picking up from severe losses the last few days, closed unchanged to 0.15 cent higher at 23.05 cents a pound in May contracts. Cash prices were stronger. Hides were unchanged to 0.07 cent a pound higher at 13.93 cents for June futures and the Chicago cash market was slow and unchanged.

Wool Tops Little Changed.

With transfers between delivery months dominating a quiet trade, wool top futures finished 0.2 cent higher to 0.1 cent lower at $1.25 8/10 bid for the May delivery. Cash prices were nominal and unchanged.

Santos coffee ended 0.02 cent a pound lower to 0.01 cent higher at 9.08 cents for May futures. Turnover was limited at 5,000 bags.

Cash metal markets continued steady, but futures were slow. Copper declined 0.05 to 0.09 cent to 11.37 cents a pound for the May delivery. There were no sales in lead and tin.

NAVY REASSIGNS SHIP CONTRACTS FOR 80 MILLIONS

California and Florida Builders Get Orders.

The navy department at Washington, D. C., yesterday reassigned two ship construction contracts totaling $80,007,000. Three seaplane tenders will be built by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock corporation at San Pedro, Cal., on a cost plus fixed fee basis estimated to reach $39,750,000, or $13,250,000 for each tender.

Three destroyer tenders will be constructed by Tampa Shipbuilding company, Tampa, Fla., on a similar basis, with the total cost estimated at $40,257,000, or $13,419,000 for each tender. Both contracts were held formerly by the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, Chester, Pa., but were canceled so that the Sun company could undertake work for the maritime commission.

Merchant Fleet Grows.

The United States merchant marine will be increased about 20 per cent during the coming year, according to expected delivery schedules of ships under construction, shipbuilding interests estimated.

Completions during the next twelve months should total more than 1,400,000 tons, it was estimated, compared with total ocean going tonnage of about 7 million tons now available.

The army announced these contract awards:

Philadelphia Depot factory, $582,574 for sleeve insignias and clothing; American Monorail company, Cleveland, O., metal cranes and hoists, $318,182; Weyerhouser Sales company, Seattle, Wash., lumber ,$101,633; San Ore Construction company, McPherson, Kas., construction of air navigation facilities, Santa Fe, N. M., airport, $259,901, and E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Pompton Lakes, N. J., lead azide, $270,000.

RAIL AND UTILITY LIENS LEAD RISE IN BOND MARKET

New York, April 28 (AP).—Rails moved higher again today, carrying most of the bond market upward by fractions.

Transactions totaled $8,215,450, face value, compared with $8,059,400 Friday.

United States government obligations gained 1-32d to 3-32d in the over-the-counter market. Trading was brisk during the morning but slowed later in the day.

A decision of the Supreme court of the United States preventing a boost to 10 cents of the present eight-cent fare of the Hudson and Manhattan railroad was reflected by a 1 point drop in the adjustment 5s.

Chief advancers among the foreign issues were those of Australia, Brazil, Canada, Colombia, and Japan. German and Italion loans declined.

THOMAS M'EWAN GIVEN CHICAGO ARMS ORDER JOB

Thomas S. McEwan, consulting management engineer, has been appointed manager of the defense contract service for the Chicago district, it was announced yesterday. The Chicago district of this service, for which the main offices are in the Federal Reserve Bank building, covers all of the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district, with the exception of several counties near Detroit, Mich.

According to McEwan, the service has these two principal purposes: [1] Helping to spread armament production among subcontractors in order to use all available productive facilities, and [2] clarify problems regarding priorities and specifications in armament contracts.

War Risk Underwriters Increase Rates to Burma

New York, April 28 [Special].—Marine war risk insurance underwriters announced today that they were advancing rates on exports to Burma. Shipments on American flag vessels were increased from 1 to 2 per cent and on other vessels from 2 to 3 per cent. The underwriters also announced that they were abandoning scheduled rates on cargoes to and from Greece, Turkey, Syria, and Palestine. Rates will be quoted only on application.

People and Events

Gael Sullivan, 37 years old, former assistant to Mayor Edward J. Kelly, yesterday was sworn in at the United States courthouse as the nation's youngest state director of the Federal Housing administration. Sullivan, who will have charge of the Chicago and five downstate offices, was an assistant Illinois director of the housing agency before going to the city hall in 1939.

Gael Sullivan.

Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, head of the motor transport division of the quartermaster general's office, will be honored at a banquet May 17 in the Palmer house. The banquet is sponsored by a transport group, of which John L. Keeshin is chairman.

Housing rearmament workers and distributing defense savings bonds will be discussed by the 85 executives of savings, building and loan associations from 23 states who will meet in Chicago today for the first of a series of management conferences. They will convene at headquarters of the United States Savings and Loan league.

Wholesale liquor dealers thruout the country will meet today in the Hotel Sherman for the first convention of the American Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association, a newly formed organization. The convention, which will last for two days, is expected to draw a total attendance of 30,000. Joseph Triner, former head of the Illinois boxing commission, is chairman of the association.

HOG PRICES FALL 10C TO 20C UNDER INCREASED RUNS

Market Lowest Since Early in Month.

The heaviest Monday hog receipts in 10 weeks broke the market yesterday. Prices dipped 10 to 20 cents, with the new crop of fall pigs showing the most loss. Top loads sold off 15 cents to $8.60, the lowest price since April 4. Prices for the session averaged 10 cents lower at $8.30.

Heavier receipts offset the influence of a strong to 50 cents higher wholesale trade for fresh pork.

Altho the effects of government pork buying have been temporarily discounted by buyers and sellers of hogs until more definite information as to volume and delivery date is obtained, much confusion still exists regarding technicalities in contracts already awarded.

Contracts Misinterpreted.

Packers who are working under the impression that they can use none of the pork they placed in cure at low cost early in the winter in filling government orders do not interpret their contracts correctly, a spokesman for the American Meat institute said yesterday.

Dry salt meat and fat backs put into cure up to 180 days prior to the delivery date can be used when the government calls for delivery, he explained. Some of the hams which will have a special cure will probably come out of future production because packers do not know when the government will ask for them, he said.

Lambs Up 25 to 40 Cents.

Sharp Increases Shown in Corporate Taxes.

Brown reported that the company's 1940 sales of crude oil and petroleum products in this country totaled 112,370,940 barrels, an increase of 7.3 per cent over 1939. The company's crude oil production in the United States rose 3.3 per cent to 55,363,059 barrels, with 9,357 oil wells in production at the close of the year.

"How large are the taxes on the petroleum industry and its products is indicated by the fact that for 1940 they are estimated to amount to over $1,500,000,000," Brown stated. "This is a new high figure and is more than twice the tax bill of 1930.

"Taxes paid by Socony-Vacuum in the United States, including those collected for the federal, state and, municipal governments, amounted to $128,801,003 in 1940. This is 3½ times the net earnings of the world operations of the company and 1.59 times the domestic pay roll."

Link-Belt Earns More.

In the preceding 12 months, the company reported net income of $1,957,855, or $2.56 a share.

March quarter operations of American Airlines, Inc., resulted in net income of $71,060, compared with $304,053 in the corresponding quarter a year earlier, C. R. Smith, president, announced.

American Airlines' planes, Smith reported, flew 6,513,581 revenue miles in the first three months of this year, against 5,268,581 in the 1940 period. DEAF MUTE ASKS AID IN BUILDING PARTS FOR ARMS

Urges Use of Others in National Drive.

Leo H. Kuehn can neither hear nor talk, but he can build tools and machinery. In what used to be a livery stable he and 16 other deaf mutes employed by his Oakland Machine works are producing 5,000 automobile motor water pump pulleys a day.

Yesterday, observing that industry is in need of skilled mechanics, Kuehn passed along the suggestion that big industries swamped with government orders help establish small shops where deaf mutes could produce airplane motor parts to speed the armament program. A little assistance toward getting machinery, plus small subcontracts for parts would be sufficent to start the movement, Kuehn said.

Operates Michigan Factory.

Kuehn's factory is in Royal Oak, Mich., a Detroit suburb. The only employé in the plant who can hear or speak is Harvey Werner, a youth who takes care of the telephone calls and the office work. Werner's parents are deaf mutes.

All communications within the plant is by sign language or writing. There has not been an accident in the shop in the eight years since its founding.

The pay roll is abut $500 a week. The workers, some of whom were farm hands with no mechanical skill when Kuehn hired them, earn an average of $8 a day.

Training workers, currently one of industry's big problems, is no trouble to Kuehn.

"I train each worker," he said. "I can get a new man started on a job in one day without any difficulty."

Former Employer Aids.

The founder formerly was a tool and die expert for one of the principal automobile manufacturers. One day in 1933 he informed his foreman he would like to establish a shop and train other deaf mutes. The foreman told the manufacturer, who, to encourage the project, agreed to take all the pulleys the shop could make, and to help Kuehn get some old production machinery.

Since then Kuehn and his workers have built or remade 27 machines.

"Now that the armament program needs production from small machine shops, it seems to me that deaf mutes could be very useful," Kuehn wrote yesterday. "A deaf mute has asked me to help start a small shop on the west coast for manufacture of parts for the aircraft industry. If big industries would offer other deaf mutes the help my former employer gave me, many shops like ours could be established all over the country.

SUGAR QUOTAS.

I would appreciate a description of the sugar quota system which controls the domestic supplies of sugar. —K. E.

Answer: Government control over the sugar market was imposed in 1934 under the Jones-Costigan act in an effort to stabilize prices paid American beet and sugar cane producers. The price of raw sugar had slumped to an all-time low of 0.61 cent a pound in 1932 under the pressure of excessive world supplies.

The measure placed sugar beets and sugar cane as basic farm commodities under the Agricultural Adjustment act. The secretary of agriculture was empowered to allot marketing quotas among domestic producers and American insular and foreign producing areas, levy a processing tax on sugar, and promote acreage control. Early in 1936 the Supreme court invalidated the AAA processing tax.

The quota system was continued under the sugar act of 1937, which has been extended to the end of 1941. Under the law the secretary of agriculture has the power to allot quotas limiting the volume of sugar that may be supplied the United States market from various producing areas.

The act also authorized benefit payments to beet and cane growers in the United States and its possesssions for compliance with specific requirements covering child labor, fair wages, marketing quotas, and soil conservation. These payments are financed by a 0.535 cent excise tax on each pound of refined sugar processed or imported into the United States.

The quotas for the various producing areas are determined in December by the secretary of agriculture by estimating the amount of sugar needed in the United States in the next calendar year. The estimate is based on the quantity of refined sugar distributed in the 12 months ended the preceding Oct. 31, with adjustments for the volume of stocks on hand and the trend of consumption. The quotas may be revised at any time or suspended.

After the total quota for the calendar year has been fixed the allotments for the different producing areas are computed, according to a table of percentages established by the sugar act. This formula follows: domestic sources: 55.59 per cent of the total quota but not less than 3,715,000 short tons; other countries, 44.41 per cent.

Domestic allotments are divided among producers as follows: domestic beet, 41.72 per cent; domestic cane, 11.31 per cent; Hawaii, 25.25 per cent; Puerto Rico, 21.48 per cent, and Virgin Island, 0.24 per cent.

Foreign sources are allotted as follows: Philippines, 34.7 per cent but not less than 850,000 short tons; Cuba, 64.41, and other, 0.89 per cent.

SUPREME COURT TO RECONSIDER 4 TO 4 DECISIONS

Schedules Rehearings for Next Fall.

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The Supreme court agreed today to reconsider five of its recent 4 to 4 decisions and granted rehearings next fall. The evenly divided rulings were made possible by the retirement last Feb. 1 of Justice James C. McReynolds. No successor has been nominated by President Roosevelt.

Arguments were set on the cases for Oct. 13, when the vacancy may have been filled.

The 4 to 4 decisions, affirming rulings by lower courts, held that:

1. A company which obtained coal from mines it leased, but which were operated by others under contract, is exempt from price fixing provisions of the federal bituminous coal act. The ruling specifically involved the Seaboard Air Line railway.

Includes Rail Interest.

2. The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company is responsible for interest on bonds which had been guaranteed by a constituent company, the Lake Erie and Western railroad, when the two merged in 1923.

3. An injured employé of a railroad may bring suit in the most remote federal District court in whose jurisdiction the carrier operates.

4. The federal Circuit court at New York was correct in dismissing a suit by the Commercial Molasses corporation of Weehawken for damages against the New York Tank Barge corporation growing out of the sinking of a barge at Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 24, 1937.

5. The 8th federal Circuit court was correct in enjoining Samuel R. Toucey of Kansas City, Mo., from continuing litigation seeking to recover from the New York Life Insurance company on a $50,000 insurance policy.

Tax Law Is Upheld.

The Supreme court held constitutional today application of the Indiana gross income tax to an out of state company which received its income in another state and part of whose business was transacted in Indiana.

Salesmen.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise and finance your account.

Apply Tuesday at 11 a. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Leonard, 2d floor, Standard National Bank Building, 7919 S. Ashland-av.

JUST A REAL GOOD JOB

This is not one of those propositions where you are promised $300 per week—"IF" but it is a job that will pay you commission from $8.00 to $12.00 per day every day you work.

Middle aged men with cars and some sales experience who are honest and not afraid to get out and work can make a permanent connection selling the Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer, an old established concern operating in Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and upper peninsula of Michigan. We prefer men living in these localities and generally are able to arrange territory within a radius of a hundred miles from their homes.

No investment of any sort required and you are trained at our expense. We ask only enthusiasm and sincerity of purpose.

OPENINGS FOR 4 MEN

Dignified, of mature judgment, real estate or investment experience helpful, but not absolutely nec. This is a position—not just another job. Must have qualifications to secure same. Car essential. The men who qualify will be given drawing account and full co-operation. Liberal comm. scale should enable you to make far more than average income. Interviews between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. only.
ASK FOR MR. CORRIGAN.
